ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH FINAL

(Closing New York Stock Prices)

Vol. 77, No. 267.

(77th Year)

ST. LOUIS, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1955 — 80 PAGES

BOND ISSUE CUT TO $39,211,839, GOES TO COUNTY COUNCIL TODAY

Board Expected to Approve and Set Election for Nov. 22—Committee Lops Off $16,000,000.

A proposed St. Louis county public improvement bond issue of $39,211,839—almost $16,000,000 less than that originally recommended by the Citizens Bond Issue Screening Committee—will be presented today to the County Council, with all indications pointing to its approval by the Council. About 87 per cent of the total would be spent on road, street and related projects.

The final figure was reached last night by the Bond Issue Executive Campaign Committee at a meeting at which all members of the Council except Chairman Frank L. Martini were present.

Martini, who was prevented from attending by a prior business engagement, told the Post-Dispatch he would be for the proposals, notwithstanding the fact that one of them includes the county's share of right-of-way costs for the Daniel Boone Expressway through Richmond Heights. This right-of-way has been bitterly opposed by Martini, but he said today it was time for the people to decide.

Asked whether he would actively oppose the bond issue, he said he would not, although he was not pleased with the expressway proposal.

Nov. 22 Date Proposed.

The final report of the Executive Campaign Committee recommended the election be held Nov. 22, instead of the Nov. 29 date previously proposed. The earlier date was selected because it would save the county the estimated $20,000 cost of an additional canvass of registered voters, as pointed out previously by the Board of Election Commissioners.

These are the proposals contained in the final $39,211,839 recommended total:

Expressway rights-of-way — $8,500,000.

Supplementary roads and grade crossings — $9,336,839.

Neighborhood playgrounds and parks — $2,000,000.

Voting machines — $675,000.

Inner belt highway right-of-way and partial construction — $16,100,000.

Hospital and health centers — $1,500,000.

Children's welfare center and detention home — $900,000.

Civil defense — $100,000.

The county's rapid population growth, which has far outstripped the growth of its highways and other facilities, was cited in the committee's report as the reason the bond issue is needed.

It also noted that previous bond issues have failed to muster the required two-thirds majority. In order to hold down tax rises, it was decided that only the most immediate needs of the present and the unsatisfied needs of the past must be met now, with future needs left to later bond issues, the committee report said.

Tax Financing.

A computation of the cost of financing such a bond issue will be obtained from Carl Trauer-nicht, a lawyer who specializes in municipal bond financing. On the basis of an earlier figure of

The TRUMAN MEMOIRS

John W. Snyder of St. Louis Calls—Mr. Truman Talks With Harry Hopkins—He Attends Roosevelt Funeral Services.

JOHN W. SNYDER SWORN, JUSTICE WILLIAM O. DOUGLAS ADMINISTERING THE OATH AS PRESIDENT TRUMAN LOOKS ON: When Mr. Truman told Snyder he was considering him for Federal Loan Administrator, Snyder said, "I don't think you ought to appoint me to that job. I'm not sure I am the right man." Mr. Truman replied: "I am sending your name to the Senate."

By HARRY S. TRUMAN

Thirty-third President of the United States
FOURTH ARTICLE

ON Saturday morning, April 14th, I arose at dawn. I have always been an early riser, but this was earlier than usual. The body of Franklin Roosevelt was to arrive that morning from Warm Springs, Georgia, and I was going to the Union Station to meet the funeral train.

I got to the White House at 8:30 A.M. and was met by Steve Early and Bill Simmons. When I reached my desk I found many telegrams and communications already there, and I read as many as I could before nine o'clock when my first appointment was scheduled.

My first visitor that morning was John W. Snyder of St. Louis. He was one of my closest personal friends, and I already knew that I wanted him in my administration in a trusted capacity. There was an important post vacant—that of Federal Loan Administrator, from which, not long before, Fred Vinson had resigned to become Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion—and Snyder was ideally fitted for it. He was an experienced banker who had been Executive Assistant to Jesse Jones, and the Director of the Defense Plants Corporation.

"I don't think you ought to appoint me to that job," he told me when I had explained what I had in mind. "I'm not sure I am the right man."

"I think you are the right man for the place," I replied. "I'm sending your name to the Senate."

Later, I telephoned Jesse Jones and said "the President" has appointed Snyder as Federal Loan Administrator.

"Did he make that appointment before he died?" asked Jones.

"No," I answered. "He made it just now."

Everyone, including myself, still continued to think of Roosevelt as "the President."

Washington in Mourning for Roosevelt.

The train bearing the body of Franklin Roosevelt arrived at the Union Station at ten o'clock. I went aboard at once, accompanied by Wallace and Byrnes, and we paid our respects to Mrs. Roosevelt, who had accompanied the body from Warm Springs.

The body of the late President was to lie in state during the day in the East Room of the White House, and as the funeral procession was formed, I took the place that had been assigned to me. Slowly we moved through the streets that were massed with mourners all the way to the White House.

I shall never forget the sight of so many grief-stricken people. Some wept without restraint. Some shed their tears in silence. Others were grim and stoic, but all were genuine in their mourning. It was impossible now to tell who had been for him and who had not. Throughout that enormous throng all of them were expressing their sense of loss and sadness at the passing of a remarkable man.

I saw an old Negro woman with her apron to her eyes as she sat on the curb. She was crying as if she had lost her son, and when the cortege passed along Constitution Avenue, most of those who lined the street were in tears.

The procession reached the White House at eleven o'clock, and the flag-draped casket was borne into the East Room. Again I paid my respects to Mrs. Roosevelt, and then returned to the executive offices of the White House.

Long Talk With Harry Hopkins.

I had received word that Harry Hopkins had left a sick bed in the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minnesota, in order to attend the funeral of his chief and friend. He had already arrived in Washington, and I had sent word that I wanted very much to see him.

Hopkins had been close to Roosevelt throughout his administration. He had performed many confidential tasks and, as the President's personal representative, had carried out a number of secret missions. He was a man whom Roosevelt trusted implicitly and leaned upon heavily. He was a dedicated man who never sought credit or the limelight yet willingly bore the brunt of criticism, just or unjust. He was a rare figure in Washington officialdom and was one of my old friends. I hoped that he would continue with me in the same role he had played with my predecessor.

Before I went to the Senate, and while I was still President, I had worked with him in the WPA set-up in Missouri. When I was Junior Senator, I had his car in getting action from the White House on matters that concerned the state I represented. He proved helpful to me again in 1944 shortly after I was nominated for the Vice Presidency. At that time I wanted to know from him the more intimate side of the President's approach to public matters, and his estimate of certain people, and so the two of us had a long personal conversation just before my luncheon with the President at the White House lawn late in July, 1944. In great detail he described to me President Roosevelt's attitude on do-

WILSON DECIDES AGAINST FURTHER CUTS IN DEFENSE COSTS THIS YEAR

He Promises, However, to Continue Hunt for Ways to Save—Hope for Balanced Budget Dimmed.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson was reported today to have concluded after a new survey that it would be militarily unwise for the armed services to cut their spending any further this year.

Informants said Wilson had assured Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Rowland Hughes that the Defense Department would continue every effort "to look under every log" for more economy, as Humphrey has asked all Government departments to do.

But they said the Pentagon chief also informed the Administration's fiscal leaders that the only way savings approaching a billion dollars could be brought about in the military establishment would be by: 1. Cutting down the numerical armed forces strength, called the "force level."

2. Reducing contracts for planes, ships and other weapons and equipment, or 3. Through a combination of both.

Wilson took the stand against a further cutback in spending after reviews of the situation with each of the service secretaries, top military commanders and his own fiscal experts.

Hoped to Balance Budget.

The Treasury and budget chiefs hope through economies to wipe out a prospective $1,750,000,000 deficit by the end of this fiscal year next June 30, bringing the budget into balance. The most likely target for the bulk of that savings was the defense department, biggest spending agency of Government.

What the two fiscal officials hoped was that the Pentagon could find ways to reduce spending by about another billion dollars, bringing the total defense spending for the year down to about $33 billion dollars. Wilson has now said that such a saving is impossible, adding that the monthly rate which has existed recently continues through the balance of the year.

$35,750,000,000 Estimate.

When President Eisenhower submitted preliminary estimates in his national budget last January, the military spending figure was set at $35,750,000,000.

On the basis of economies made in various places—which the Pentagon insists have not reduced combat effectiveness—the Defense Department estimated early this month that spending for the year would be about $34 billion.

Wilson's decision against more spending cuts is believed to have been made effective when the Defense Department estimated early this month that spending for the year would be about $34 billion.

The Defense secretary was scheduled to fly to Denver on Sunday, presumably to advise Mr. Eisenhower personally of his decision. However, the President's illness canceled that plan.

2 A.W.O.L.S UPSET U.S. BASE IN MOROCCO; THEY'RE CAMELS

RABAT, French Morocco, Sept. 28 (AP)—Everybody in Morocco worried about possible nationalist violence when the big United States Nouasseur air base today had an extra headache—a pair of missing camels.

The beasts, named Grace and George, apparently straggled off the base a good while ago. They had been found despite an intensive search by S. Sgt. Clarence H. Hall of Grants Pass, Ore., in charge of animals at the base.

Grace and George performed no real work; their job was strictly scenic. Officers explained they belonged to "Operation Glad Hand," the term for the welcome given junketing V.I.s. They supplied the local color for amateur photographers among the visitors.

STOCKS CONTINUE RECOVERY, KEY ISSUES UP $1 TO $5

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—A strengthening stock market today regained more of the ground lost in Monday's frantic retreat. Gains in key stocks ran from $1 to $5, closing a bit below their best for the day which ran to $6.

The ticker tape, which normally records the movement of the market in seconds, fell behind for more than an hour and at one point was 3 minutes late. The quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange regained an estimated 2 1/2 billion dollars today. This, added to yesterday's recovery of 3 1/2 billion dollars, made the two days' advances a total of 5 1/2 billion of the nearly 13 billion lost estimated for Monday.

EISENHOWER'S CONDITION 'CONTINUES SATISFACTORY WITHOUT COMPLICATIONS'

ADMINISTRATION LEADERS AGAINST SHIFTING POWER OF PRESIDENT

Nixon, Other Officials Agree at Luncheon That Government Can Be Run Under Present Setup.

By WALTER KERR

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and other leading members of the Eisenhower Administration are opposed to any new and formal delegation of the President's powers in his present illness.

They believe the business of government can be carried out in an orderly and uninterrupted fashion within the framework of established procedure.

They see no reason for what Nixon has referred to as "a new piece of paper."

Their recommendation to the White House at Denver is that the Administration continue to function as it has in the past when Mr. Eisenhower was absent from Washington.

Agreed On at Luncheon.

This was agreed to yesterday at a luncheon at the Treasury building attended by Nixon, Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., Sherman Adams, the President's principal assistant, and William P. Rogers, deputy Attorney General.

Earlier the Vice President had conferred in person or by telephone with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and Harold E. Stassen, special assistant to the President.

In the beginning some thought was given to the wisdom of an executive order that would cover delegation of the President's authority except in those fields where delegation is specifically prohibited by law.

This idea was dropped in view of favorable reports from Denver on the President's condition.

Cabinet members and other Administration aides finally agreed:

1—That established procedure was sufficient.

2—That the President's principal advisers could function within the scope of policies already defined.

3—That there was no reason to believe a problem might arise in the near future requiring a departure from established policy.

4—That any need for a further delegation of presidential authority was receding every day with continued improvement in the President's condition.

No 'Acting President.'

This collective judgment ruled out any talk of an "acting President" during Mr. Eisenhower's convalescence.

The whole question of delegating power arose Sunday evening, 24 hours after the President was stricken, when James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced in Denver he had requested a legal opinion from Attorney General Brownell.

Brownell, then in Spain on a tour, returned to Washington and gave his opinion.

1000-BLOCK AREA IS EVACUATED IN 34 MINUTES

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 28 (AP)—A 1000-block area, including Portland's downtown business district, was evacuated in 34 minutes in yesterday's civil defense test.

The city's air raid warning system "shrilled its previously announced signal at 3:10 p.m. and immediately afterward orderly streams of vehicles and pedestrians began moving along the many evacuation routes.

The speed of the evacuation exercise, named "Operation Green Light," was credited by civil defense officials to the fact that the area was not nearly as crowded as usual and to a traffic control system that turned all traffic lights green along the exit routes and eliminated cross traffic.

Portlanders had been told that the test might come yesterday, today or tomorrow. Apparently many of them expected it yesterday and left for home early or did not go to town.

After 'Routine' Breakfast

ZHUKOV, 3 OTHERS WISH EISENHOWER SPEEDY RECOVERY

DENVER, Sept. 28 (UP)—Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov has joined three other high-ranking Russians in wishing a speedy recovery for President Eisenhower.

The temporary White House said last night that Zhukov, the Soviet general with whom Mr. Eisenhower began a warm acquaintanceship during World War II in Europe, sent the President the following message:

"Having been on vacation far from Moscow, I just now learned of your illness and received this news with deepest feelings of sorrow. With all our hearts, my family and I wish you a speedy recovery and long life.

"With deepest respect,
G. ZHUKOV."

Earlier, messages were received from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev and Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov.

President Eisenhower's condition remains stable, despite his steady progress toward recovery, that his aids have not shown him the various messages which the world's prominent personages have sent.

WOMAN REDUCING TO AVOID DIVORCE GETS MORE TIME

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Lillian Korzen, 44 years old, who has been trying to lose 63 pounds in five months, got an extra three weeks at deadline time yesterday and a word of encouragement from a judge.

On motion of her attorney, who said her job prevented her appearance in court, Circuit Judge Charles S. Dougherty continued the diet divorce case to Oct. 20.

Two days ago, her attorney, Edwin C. Powell, disclosed she had lost 45 pounds since early May but still had 18 to go. She was trying to reduce from 180 to 127, her wedding day weight.

Judge Dougherty told attorneys that regardless of what Mrs. Korzen weighs Oct. 20 the case will be decided on the scales of justice.

"That's all right with us," remarked Sol R. Friedman, her husband's lawyer. "The scales were her idea in the first place."

Her husband, Michael, sued for divorce in May charging cruelty. He charged she had let her weight run away from her.

Envoy's 2 Wives Provide U.S. With Delicate Test in Diplomacy

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (UP)—Uncle Sam's protocol experts struggled today with a new kind of problem—the eternal triangle.

The triangle involved Mohammed Ali, Ambassador from Pakistan to the United States. It became a Government protocol problem when Ali's wife No. 1, the Begum Hamida, arrived here yesterday on the liner Queen Elizabeth. Ali and wife No. 2 were already in New York.

Moslem law permits Ali to have as many as four wives, but polygamy violates United States laws.

Experts said diplomatic immunity would protect Ali in the United States, but they were undecided whether to recognize wife No. 1, wife No. 2, or both, when it becomes necessary to invite Ali to social functions.

They recalled that the Begum was popular in diplomatic and social circles when she was in the United States before the only wife of Ali.

He married a wife No. 2, his 30-year-old former social secretary, after his last visit here. A spokesman for the Pakistan embassy said this time wife No. 1, who is 36, would remain in New York when he and wife No. 2 were in Washington.

Wife No. 1 slipped ashore in New York using her diplomatic passport. With her were her sons, Mohammed, 17, and Hamida, 15.

OXYGEN TENT IS TAKEN FROM ROOM BUT WILL BE USED AT NIGHT

Doctors' Bulletin Says President Slept and Rested Without It This Morning for the First Time.

DENVER, Sept. 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower's condition "continues to be satisfactory without complications," his physicians reported today. They announced that his recovery from Saturday's heart attack had reached the point where the oxygen tent could be removed from his hospital room during daylight hours.

The President rested and slept this morning outside the oxygen tent.

The medical bulletin issued at 11:30 a.m. (12:30 p.m. St. Louis time) said:

"The President's condition continues to be satisfactory without complications. The oxygen tent has been removed from the room for the day although it will be used routinely during sleeping hours tonight."

Cardiogram Taken.

"The President had his morning cardiogram which continued to show the expected evolution. He had a light breakfast and visited briefly with Mrs. Eisenhower and Maj. John Eisenhower prior to the major's departure for Washington."

"The President then had a period of rest and sleep—a first outside of the oxygen tent."

The President had a second night's comfortable sleep. The early morning bulletin from Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician, and Col. Byron E. Pollock, chief of heart services at Fitzsimons Army Hospital, reported:

"For the second consecutive night the President slept comfortably throughout the night. He went to sleep last night at 8:30 o'clock and awoke refreshed at 6:30 o'clock this morning."

"His progress continues to be satisfactory without complications."

Anti-Clot Medicine.

Occasionally, as necessary, Hagerty said, the President is receiving medicine to prevent blood clots, a condition known as thrombosis, or clot in an artery of the heart, which sent Mr. Eisenhower to the hospital.

With the President outside the oxygen tent, Hagerty said, the first elevator outside his eighth-floor suite no longer are stopping on that floor, so that the noise of slamming doors will not disturb him.

"The oxygen tent," Hagerty said, "had a certain amount of noise resistance."

After the doctors saw him this morning, Hagerty said, Mr. Eisenhower breakfasted on prunes, oatmeal, a soft-boiled egg, toast and milk. Afterward, he said, the President listened briefly to some tape-recorded music on the light side. One tape, he said, was "Music for Listening."

Mr. Eisenhower requested yesterday that he be allowed some music in his room. However, there is no television set in the room and there will not be for the time being, Hagerty said.

Up to now, he said, no official business of any kind has been discussed with the Chief Executive. Neither, he said, has Mr. Eisenhower done any reading.

Hagerty said that he saw the President personally this morning, but just to say "hello."

With the oxygen tent gone, Hagerty reported, Mr. Eisenhower dropped off to sleep at 9:40 a.m. and still was slumbering nearly an hour and a half later.

Specialist's Comment.

Last night's medical communiqué, reporting that the President had had "another satisfactory day" devoid of complication, brought comment from heart specialist Paul Dudley White in Boston that while Mr. Eisenhower was "coming along nicely" he still was "not out of the woods yet."

The first two weeks are the critical time in heart attacks

WESTERN BIG 3 IN ACCORD ON GIVING PRIORITY TO GERMAN UNITY

Foreign Ministers End
Pre-Geneva Talks—
Do Not Recognize Any East German Regime, They Say.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—The western Big Three foreign ministers said today they were in "complete accord on the priority of the reunification of Germany within the framework of a plan for European security."

The announcement came in form of a communique issued at the conclusion of their final meeting here—a meeting held to map strategy for a Big Four foreign ministers' conference with Russia starting Oct. 27 in Geneva.

The communique noted that West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano participated in this morning's discussion with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay.

It continued that final details of plans to be presented at the Geneva conference would be discussed with NATO partners in Paris.

East Regime Not Recognized. Earlier in the day the ministers said in a statement they do not recognize any East German regime—a move apparently intended to keep Berlin accessible to the west.

They said the Soviet Union remains responsible for carrying out obligations previously made with the three powers on the subject of Germany and Berlin. The statement, issued in conjunction with the Big Three foreign ministers' meeting here, was aimed at agreements reached Sept. 20 by the Soviet Union and East Germany.

The foreign ministers reaffirmed the view of their governments that "final determination of German frontiers must await a peace settlement for the whole of Germany."

Recognize Only Bonn. They reaffirmed also their stand that "the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany) is the only German government freely and legitimately constituted and therefore entitled to speak for Germany as the representative of the German people in international affairs."

Berlin is in the Soviet zone of Germany. The road to freedom from West Germany once was cut off by the Russians, precipitating the famous airlift to keep the Allied western sectors of Berlin supplied with food and fuel.

The Russians eventually reopened the road, but it remained a source of friction.

Two Meetings Yesterday. Dulles, Macmillan and Pinay held two meetings yesterday, dealing with programs drafted in Washington last week by lower level counselors of their countries and West Germany.

Last night Dulles entertained Macmillan, Pinay and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at dinner. The four were reported to have agreed on all procedural matters for the Geneva meeting at a one-hour-and-20-minute conference following the dinner.

A State Department spokesman said the four foreign ministers agreed that the Geneva meeting probably will last three weeks and that, if it is limited to that time, they might turn over to a group of experts from each of their countries the overall problem of easing East-West tensions.

The idea was that the experts would meet on East-West exchanges to ease tensions, which is one the Foreign Ministers' agenda, while the ministers discussed the other two items on the agenda—German unification and European security.

Molotov raised the question of whether any problem not contained in the directive from the heads of state who attended the July summit meeting in Geneva could be brought up at the forthcoming ministers' conference. Molotov, without giving any clue as to what he had in mind, intimated that the Soviet Union might want to raise such a problem after the agenda matters had been disposed of.

Text of Statement. Following is the text of today's Big Three statement: "The Foreign Ministers of the United States, the United Kingdom and France wish to make known their view on certain points in connection with the agreements of Sept. 20, 1955, as reported in the press, between the Soviet Union and the regime in the Soviet zone of Germany.

"They wish in the first place to emphasize that these agreements cannot affect the obligations or responsibilities of the Soviet Union under agreements and arrangements between the three powers and the Soviet Union on the subject of Germany and Berlin. The Soviet Union remains responsible for the carrying out of these obligations.

"Secondly, the three foreign ministers reaffirm that the Federal Republic of Germany is the only German government freely and legitimately constituted and therefore entitled to speak for Germany as the representative of the German people in international affairs. Their three governments do not

"Storehouse of Information"

ADM. LEAHY, THE PRESIDENT, HARRY HOPKINS: "Hopkins had been close to Roosevelt throughout his administration. . . . He was a rare figure in Washington officialdom and was one of my old friends. I hoped that he would continue with me the same role he had played with my predecessor."

The TRUMAN MEMOIRS

mestic questions and his opinions of leading legislative and executive personalities. He also gave me the President's judgment on certain international problems and his appraisal of the leading personalities and heads of foreign states. Many times since then the information he gave me had proved invaluable.

Hopkins's First-Hand Impressions of Stalin. What I now wanted from Hopkins was more first-hand information about the heads of state with whom I would have to deal, particularly Stalin. But I also wanted to go over the whole situation with Hopkins in regard to Russia and Poland and the United Nations.

Harry Hopkins had always looked pale and cadaverous, but when he entered my office this time, he looked worse than ever before. He was ill, of course, and the death of Roosevelt had affected him profoundly. If I had not known his great patriotism and his spirit of self-sacrifice, I would have hesitated to tax his strength.

"How do you feel, Harry?" I asked as we shook hands. "Terrible," he replied, and I knew what he meant. We talked for over two hours. We did not even take time out for luncheon. Instead, I ordered a tray for each of us from the White House kitchen, and with our minds on other things we ate a bite or two there at my desk.

Hopkins was a storehouse of information and was rarely at a loss for a word or a fact. Furthermore, he was usually able to describe and characterize the many important figures he had met. Certainly he understood the leaders of the Soviet Union.

"Stalin," he told me, "is a forthright, rough, tough Russian. He is a Russian partisan through and through, thinking always first of Russia. But he can be talked to frankly."

Ed Flynn, the New York Democratic leader, was my next caller. He had been a close political associate of President Roosevelt and had come to pay his respects to me. Nevertheless, he hesitatingly brought up some of the political consequences that might result from Mr. Roosevelt's death. These were matters that I felt to be inappropriate at the moment, and when I suggested as much, he understood.

Services at the Executive Mansion.

Shortly before four o'clock, I was joined by Mrs. Truman and Margaret, who were to go with me to the Executive Mansion for the service that was to be conducted by the Right Reverend Angus Dun, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington, before the flag-draped coffin in the East Room.

At Mrs. Roosevelt's request, there were no eulogies. The late President's favorite hymns were sung by all of us, the first being "Eternal Father, Strong to Save." Mrs. Roosevelt asked Bishop Dun to repeat, as part of the service, the expression of faith which President Roosevelt used in his first inaugural address in 1933—"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

At the conclusion of the service, Mrs. Truman, Margaret and I returned to our apartment, where I rested for a time before resuming the reading of documents and reports.

The body of President Roosevelt was removed from the White House shortly after 9:30 p.m., accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and her family, was borne to the Union Station and placed again aboard the funeral train.

Mrs. Truman, Margaret and I boarded the train a little later for the night trip to Hyde Park. We arrived at Hyde Park about 9:30 on Sunday morning and soon thereafter went to the Roosevelt garden where the final ceremony took place. There Franklin Delano Roosevelt was buried.

Work on First Message to Congress.

We left for Washington at noon. With us were Mrs. Roosevelt and Anna, James, Elliott and other members of the Roosevelt family. Mrs. Roosevelt, wonderfully in command of herself, broke the tension by talking about some of the household problems of the White House which we would have to face. Elliott and James complained about having been starved by the menus of Mrs. Nesbitt, the White House housekeeper. To which Mrs. Roosevelt replied that Mrs. Nesbitt had been properly trying to keep within the food budget.

The schedule that lay ahead for me was so pressing that I spent a good part of the return journey working on the speech I was to make at the joint session of Congress on the following day. I went over some of the points in the speech with the legislative leaders who were on the train. I discussed others with members of the Roosevelt administration.

Almost every Presidential message is a complicated business. Many individuals and departments of the government are called on to take some part in it in order to maintain full coordination of policy. Experts and researchers are assigned to check and compile data because no President can or should rely entirely on his own memory. Careful consideration must be given to every element of a Presidential speech because of the impact it may have on the nation or the world.

How Message Is Put Together.

A speech by the President is one of the principal means of informing the public what the policy of the administration is. Because of this, Presidential messages have to be written and re-written many times.

All Presidential messages must begin with the President himself. He must decide what he wants to say, and how he wants to say it. Many drafts are usually drawn up, and this fact leads to the assumption that Presidential speeches are "ghosted." The final version, however, is the final word of the President himself, expressing his own convictions and his policy. These he cannot delegate to any man if he would be President in his own right.

Back in Washington that evening I felt that an epoch had come to an end. A great President, whose deeds and words had profoundly affected our times, was gone. Chance had chosen me to carry on his work, and in these two days I had already experienced some of the weight of his unbelievable burdens. As I went to bed that night, I prayed I would be equal to the task.

TOMORROW: Mr. Truman for first time addresses a joint session of Congress. He promises to carry out the policies of Franklin Roosevelt. Later he holds his first press conference as President.

recognize the East German regime nor the existence of a state in the Soviet zone. "Finally, as regards a statement which has recently appeared in the Soviet press on the frontiers of Germany, the three foreign ministers reaffirm the repeatedly expressed position of their governments that the final determination of the frontiers of Germany must await a peace settlement for the whole of Germany."

WHY DOCTOR DELAYED USE OF CARDIOGRAPH

Hagerty Says Physician Found Eisenhower in Pain, Gave Him Morphine.

DENVER, Sept. 28 (UP)—Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty has undertaken to explain two points that were raised in regard to Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder's treatment of President Eisenhower in the first hours after his heart attack. Snyder is the President's physician.

The points raised were: 1. If Snyder suspected that the President had suffered a coronary thrombosis in the early hours of last Saturday, why did not he at once take an electro-cardiogram and make sure instead of waiting until noon?

2. After the examination showed the President had suffered a heart attack, why was not he taken to a waiting car on a stretcher or in a chair, instead of being helped to the car in a standing position?

Hagerty said at a press conference yesterday that Mrs. Eisenhower telephoned Snyder early Saturday and told him her husband was sick. Snyder dressed quickly and sped to the Lafayette street home of Mrs. John S. Doud, the President's mother-in-law.

Finds President in Pain. The President was in pain when Snyder reached him at the Doud home. Immediately, Hagerty said, Snyder gave him morphine and Mr. Eisenhower fell into a sound sleep about 2:45 a.m.

Snyder felt that sleep—absolute quiet and rest—was "very essential during that period," Hagerty said. As soon as the President awoke, about 11 a.m., Hagerty continued, Snyder called for doctors and electro-cardiograph equipment from Fitzsimons Army hospital.

Col. Byron E. Pollock, head of the hospital's heart section, and Maj. Gen. Martin E. Griffin, the commanding general at Fitzsimons, rushed the equipment to the Doud home and made an electro-cardiogram, beginning about noon.

Hagerty said the doctors studied the test and agreed that Mr. Eisenhower certainly had suffered a thrombosis and should be hospitalized.

A White House limousine was backed into the driveway. Snyder, Pollock and Griffin all helped the President from the second-floor bedroom to the car.

Mr. Eisenhower was, as Hagerty put it, "assisted and supported on his feet from the house to the car and from the automobile into the hospital because it involved less strain."

Involved Less Exertion. "The doctors agreed it was a lot easier and involved less physical exertion (than putting Mr. Eisenhower on a stretcher or in a portable chair for the transfer)."

"It was their decision to make and there was no physical exertion on the part of the President," Hagerty said.

The President had not actually "walked," as the White House originally announced. Hagerty said he was supported in the standing position at all times and did not exert himself.

RUSSIANS WALK OUT AS CHIANG'S ENVOY SPEAKS

Menon Also Quits U.N.
Session—Nationalist
Praises Security
Steps by West.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and other top Communist delegates stalked from the United Nations Assembly chamber today when Nationalist China's Foreign Minister, George Yeh, took the floor for a policy speech.

Indian Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon also left the room as Yeh began his declaration in which he told the Assembly that any improvement in East-West relations is not due to Soviet good will. It is due, he said, "to the policy of strength adopted by the free world."

It was recalled that last year when Assembly delegates paid tribute to late Soviet delegate, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the Nationalist Chinese were absent. Only the heads of the Soviet, Polish and Czechoslovak delegations—and Menon—left the room. Other members of each Soviet bloc delegation remained in their seats.

Hails Security Measures. Yeh told the Assembly that collective security measures in Europe and Asia have served as the main block to the advance of world Communism.

Speaking in Chinese during the Assembly's annual policy debate, Yeh urged the free world to weigh carefully the Communists' latest peace offensive.

"Let us be sure that the Soviet motive is not a calculated effort to capitalize on the world's longing for peace and its abhorrence of war as a means of further extending Communist rule over the world," he cautioned.

He hailed President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace program as the harbinger of a new era after "10 years of frustrating negotiations with the Soviet Union on the international control of atomic energy."

But in their quest for peace, he continued, the non-Communist nations should not be deluded by every conciliatory move the Russians make.

"The peace tactic chimes in with the desperate hopes of a war-weary world so perfectly," he said, "that the smallest concessions, such as the release of illegally held prisoners of war or the exchange of a few civil words between Soviet leaders and foreign diplomats are being eagerly seized upon as evidence of Soviet sincerity and a change of policy."

Neutrals Aiding Reds. In a reference apparently to India, Yeh said some Asian nations were playing into Communist hands by following a policy of "neutrality."

"Although they regard neutrals as potential enemies," he declared, "the Communists have no hesitation, as a tactical move, in utilizing them to sharpen conflicts between enemies."

Turning to Red China, Yeh said the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa has moral and legal obligation to help liberate the 500,000,000 now under Communist rule on the mainland.

"My government has never once appealed to the United Nations for assistance in achieving such ends," he asserted.

"But," he added, "if as it is

Truman's View: President Can't Delegate Functions to Others

'Inability' Reference in Constitution Does Not Mean Physical Disability, He Says on Visit Here.

Only the President of the United States can exercise the powers and duties of that office, and he can not delegate the official functions of the Presidency to others, former President Harry S. Truman declared today.

He made the statement when asked how the functions of the Presidency should be conducted during the period President Eisenhower is incapacitated as a result of a heart attack.

"The man holding the office of President is the only one who can act officially in that capacity," he asserted. "No President can delegate his powers to others, and he would not want to."

Cites Constitution. He pointed out that Article II of the United States Constitution provides that "the executive powers shall be vested in the President of the United States." He added that Article II also provides that the only way that the powers of the President pass to the Vice President is through the impeachment, resignation or death of the President, or the President's "inability to discharge the powers and duties" of his office.

Truman contended the latter provision refers only to "a mental incapacity and not to a physical disability." In the present instance, Truman declared, President Eisenhower is able to exercise the powers of the Presidency.

Truman, long a student of American history, told the Post-Dispatch that the only precedent for meeting the present situation, as far as he knows, occurred during the second term of President Woodrow Wilson.

He recalled that during President Wilson's illness, Secretary of State Robert Lansing called several Cabinet meetings in the President's absence. "President Wilson fired Lansing, and he should have," Truman asserted.

He added that "President Wilson refused to abdicate his powers, and he was right in refusing to do so because, while he was physically ill, he could still make decisions and exercise the powers of his office."

Normal Affairs to Go On. The former President said the present situation would not affect the normal day-to-day operations of the Government. The various departments are created by law, and they can continue their normal operations under the department heads in accordance with law, he said.

Truman said he thought Vice President Nixon could "represent" the President in any matters that Mr. Eisenhower requested, as long as they did not involve the exercise of the official functions of the Presidency.

The former President, who was in St. Louis to attend a meeting of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Missouri, told the Post-Dispatch he did not like to discuss such matters while the President is ill, declaring: "All I want is for him to get well."

Attorney General Herbert Brownell has under study the legal question of how the Presidential functions should be conducted while Mr. Eisenhower is recovering from his illness.

at present constituted, the United Nations cannot give a helping hand to the millions of captive peoples behind the iron and bamboo curtains. It can and should . . . refrain from giving material aid or moral comfort to their enslavers."

Decision on Algeria Delayed. The Assembly went through three hours of heated debate last night without reaching a vote on whether to discuss the explosive Algerian question this year. It finally adjourned discussion until Thursday afternoon.

Fourteen Asian and African states led by Egypt began a determined effort to upset the steering committee recommendation to omit the dispute from the Assembly's agenda.

The United States is supporting France's argument that Algeria is a domestic issue outside the competence of the Assembly.

The eastern states have taken sharp issue with French claims that Algeria is a part of the French Republic and not a protectorate like Morocco or Tunisia. They contend that if this is so, France has failed to give Algeria equality with the areas on the European continent.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (UP)—The body of Michael Destefano, 48 years old, Chicago hoodlum, was found in the trunk of his automobile yesterday.

An anonymous telephone call led police to Destefano's car parked on the South Side. They found he had been shot five times.

CELLER DENIES NIXON HAS RIGHT TO TAKE OVER

Says 'Palace Guard' Lacks Authority Also — Puts Issue Up to Congress.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—Representative Emanuel Celler (Dem., N.Y.), asserted yesterday that neither Vice President Richard Nixon nor "the palace guard under Sherman Adams" has the right to assume any presidential powers.

Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, returned from Europe. Representative Daniel Flood (Rep., Pennsylvania), also was a passenger on the liner America.

Both Congressmen agreed that the constitutional question of who might act in place of the President must be resolved by Congress.

"Vice President Nixon has no right to assume any of the President's powers," Celler said. "He has no such constitutional right and I am assured no Congress would confer those powers on him."

"Nor has the palace guard under Sherman Adams (the President's assistant) any constitutional right to function for the President."

"It would be unthinkable to permit such powers to be grasped by any political mountebanks. Congress must address itself to the task forthwith."

Flood, a member of the Appropriations Committee, said the question created by the President's illness stems "unquestionably" from a constitutional defect.

He said he had no personal opinion about the appointment of an "acting president" but the problem may as well be met head-on now.

"There can be no shortcuts or off-the-cuff decisions," he said.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland said, after a breakfast meeting with Vice President Nixon today:

"I see no emergency that would require a meeting of legislative leaders." The Senator added he also foresaw no possibility of a special session of Congress.

POLISH CARDINAL TO BE FREED SOON, AUTHORITIES SAY

WARSAW, Sept. 28 (AP)—Cardinal Stefan Wyszynski, of the monastery in a secluded monastery, will be released "very soon"—perhaps in several weeks—Polish authorities said today.

The cardinal, foe of the Communist regime since church and state differences boiled over in 1953, has been held in a monastery in Bialystok, Warsaw officials disclosed. His whereabouts had been concealed from the Vatican since he was arrested by state security agents on Sept. 26, 1953.

The 54-year-old Cardinal was reported to be in good health.

EISENHOWER'S

such as the one the President suffered last Saturday.

Dr. White, who flew here Sunday and left next day, said Mr. Eisenhower's progress was in the expected pattern—neither faster nor slower than normal.

Nevertheless, tension over the Chief Executive's illness continued to ease here. Hopes brightened somewhat for the President's recovery before any crisis arises requiring delegation of his powers to other officials.

In Washington, the Eisenhower administrative "team" was said to be hoping the President would be able to resume some of his duties within 30 days. In the interval, Mr. Eisenhower's top aids were reported to be ready to carry on business as usual on the basis of policy decisions made before Saturday's attack.

Doctors Avoid Predictions.

However, the medical experts attending the President at Flushing Meadows still cautiously avoided predictions that recovery is certain and that no complications now need be expected.

(A United Press dispatch from Denver said presidential aids were somewhat baffled by the report from Washington that the President would be back on the job in about a month. It quoted them as saying this obviously was impossible since Mr. Eisenhower would spend about a month in the hospital here and another month convalescing, probably at his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.)

As favorable medical bulletins continued, the political impact of the President's illness came in for more attention here.

The general feeling has been that the heart attack would cause him to decide against running for re-election, but personal friends of the President have a growing conviction that he will be able to complete his term expiring in January 1957, and then retire to the role of "elder statesman." They are convinced he will not be pressured into running for a second term.

On the basis of doctors' most optimistic forecasts, "these friends" hope Mr. Eisenhower will be able to start reading and signing documents after next week, hold conferences in three to four weeks, and resume close to full-scale duties in about two months.

Resignation Not Likely.

Barring complications, the view is that he will have no thought of resigning. Friends feel the President will consider it his duty to fill out the term—if he possibly can—to which he was elected in 1952.

Both Attorney General Herbert Brownell in Washington and Secretary Hagerty here now say it may not be necessary to delegate any of the President's powers.

The White House had felt at first that Mr. Eisenhower's illness might require such action, and so asked the Justice Department for a legal opinion on to what extent they could be delegated.

Matters like the budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1, and the 1956 legislative and economic programs will not require the President's personal attention before December, Hagerty said. He added that as usual at this time of year, the preparatory work is being handled by the various government agencies.

As for Mr. Eisenhower's foreign program, Hagerty said in effect that Secretary of State Dulles is so familiar with the President's view in that field that there is no cause for worry.

One indication that uneasiness was letting up to some extent was the departure of the President's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, for Washington and resumption of his Army duties at Fort Belvoir, Va.

John and his mother spent 10 minutes at the President's bedside this morning and then the major took a Military Air Transport Service plane for Washington shortly after 9 a.m.

Reporters at Lowry Air Force Base asking how he felt about his father, Maj. Eisenhower replied:

"Well, I don't know anything about the technical aspects. However, the fact I'm going back this morning is evidence that everything is satisfactory to those who know their business. I have responsibilities back home, of course."

On the same Washington-bound plane with the major was Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, heart expert at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. Mattingly had rushed to Denver after the President's attack on such short notice he had no time to bring along some of his personal effects. Mattingly told reporters he would be back here tomorrow.

Mr. Eisenhower spent about nine and a half hours outside the oxygen tent yesterday, compared with only an hour and a half the day before.

For dinner last night he had breast of chicken, apple sauce, spinach, toast and milk. At noon he had a small slice of steak, a baked potato, string beans, fruit cocktail and a glass of milk.

Mrs. Eisenhower had lunch with him and son John visited with his mother and father while they ate.

SHIFTING POWER

vacation, flew back to the United States, arriving yesterday just a few hours before the luncheon at the Treasury building.

Even before his return, however, the issue had been pretty much settled by Mr. Nixon and others who felt there was no need for legislation or formal action of a striking nature.

They recalled what has become standard operating procedure when Mr. Eisenhower is out of town, specifically the instructions he left last July when he left the country to attend the four-power conference at Geneva.

Before his departure the President let it be known that while he was away, Nixon, in cooperation with Adams, could and should call Cabinet and National Security Council meetings as needed.

He put this in writing to the Vice President.

Nixon calls meetings.

Nixon has called a meeting of the Security Council for tomorrow and a Cabinet meeting for Friday. Preparing for these, he conferred yesterday with Rowland R. Hughes, director of the budget, and Secretary Wilson, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other defense officials.

State Department officials indicated yesterday their belief that unless some emergency arises the temporary absence of President Eisenhower from the White House will not hamper the prosecution of American foreign policy.

These officials, close to the day-to-day administration of foreign affairs, were asked to give a personal opinion on how the President's enforced inaction would affect policy in their area.

The consensus was that if the President remains inactive in public affairs for but two or three months that the momentum of his policies in the foreign field will carry through more or less under their own power. The officials were unanimous that if the President's illness is protracted there is danger ahead, primarily because, in their opinion, the President has been the conciliator, the leveling force, between adherents of "hard" and "soft" attitudes toward the Soviet Union and Communist China.

And, in the words of one diplomatic expert, if in the next month or two "there are prospects for serious negotiation on the reunification of Germany and substantive decisions must be taken, the illness of Ike could have vital significance."

NIXON OPERATION
'GOING SMOOTHLY'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Vice President Nixon said today operations of the government "are going smoothly" and we see no serious legal problems involving "in President Eisenhower's illness."

The comment on the smooth functioning of the Government was made to reporters as he left his home early for breakfast at the Capitol with a fellow Californian, Senator Knowland, the Senate minority leader.

Nixon was asked about reports that it had been decided yesterday in conferences of top Administration government officials here, that no delegation of presidential powers was needed.

Declines Specific Comment.

Nixon said he would not deny the report, but would not comment specifically on the various meetings he is having with Cabinet officers and other officials. He also said he would not comment on whether he had signed any papers that normally are signed by the President.

(The United Press said Nixon later signed, "in behalf of the President," a message of greetings which will be sent on Oct. 4 to a meeting in London of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants. The White House said it was the first time since the President's illness that Nixon's signature has been substituted for Mr. Eisenhower's on an official document. Since the document had no legal function, no formal delegation of Presidential authority to Nixon was necessary.)

The Vice President arrived at the Capitol escorted by four Secret Service guards. He described his breakfast with Knowland as "routine," commenting that he and Knowland often get together.

But the two men are regarded as strong potential rivals for the 1956 Republican presidential nomination, should Mr. Eisenhower decide to step aside.

(After the Knowland-Nixon meeting, the Vice President met for one and one-half hours with three representatives of the National Security Council to discuss problems that will come up at tomorrow's meeting, the United Press reported.)

(Dillon Anderson, special assistant to the President for national security affairs, said only that they had discussed with Nixon "National Security Council matters." He was accompanied by James S. Lay, the council's executive secretary, and S. Everett Gleason, Lay's deputy.)

Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas later briefed Nixon on the "guilt-by-kinship" case of Eugene W. Landy, Merchant Marine Academy graduate who was denied a commission because his mother allegedly was once a Communist.)

The President's administrative "team" was described as hopeful that within 30 days the President himself will be able to resume some of his duties.

The opinion was based on medical reports on Mr. Eisenhower's progress in recovering from a heart attack.

One presidential aid said that if a matter of transcendental importance should arise immediately, it could be taken to the President even now.

Meanwhile, however, Mr. Eisenhower's top aids were reported to be settling down to a 30-day "holding operation."

This "as you were" thinking is reported to have been put forward by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and concurred in by Sherman Adams, top presidential assistant.

$43,000,000 considered by the committee, Trauernicht estimated it would take a tax rate of an additional 27 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation. Edwin J. Spiegel, chairman of the Executive Campaign Committee, expressed the belief a tax rate of about 20 cents would be required to finance the lower total.

Among the 11 items totaling $55,170,710 previously recommended by the Citizens Bond Issue Screening Committee, the report of the Executive Campaign Committee omitted three, reduced two in amount and increased two.

The largest increase made by the executive committee over the proposals of the screening committee was in the supplementary roads and grade crossings item. This was raised from $7,870,710 to $9,336,839, when four new projects were added to the screening committee's list, and greater widths were proposed for some streets.

Among the new projects was a Middleway route between Florissant and Berkeley at a cost of $653,625. It would use St. Ferdinand avenue, Graham road, Hanley road, an old streetcar right-of-way, Middleway avenue and Carson road, widened to 40 feet throughout and connected where necessary, to provide a continuous north-south route of 5.7 miles. The project was added because the population growth in the area is one of the fastest in the county, the committee said.

Another project would be the acquisition of right-of-way for the proposed Forsyth boulevard traffic relief artery using the abandoned Rock Island right-of-way. The cost of $100,000 would be primarily for purchasing more land at the intersections with Hanley road and Brentwood boulevard for more adequate connections with these two highways.

The new project would be right-of-way acquisition for eventual extension of State Route 140 east a distance of 2.75 miles to connect U. S. Highway 66 with Strodtman road which in turn connects with Columbia Bottoms road. It would cost about $14,760 and was recommended by the St. Louis County Planning Commission because of a potential population increase in this area and because of proposals for industrial development of Columbia Bottoms.

Omitted from the previous list recommended by the screening committee were a civil and criminal courts building, $7,847,000; a law enforcement building and jail, $2,753,000; and a secondary airport, $1,300,000.

Reduced, Then Eliminated.

In a preliminary decision, the executive group had included the Civil and Criminal Courts Building, but had reduced its cost to $3,950,000. However, Alfred H. Kerth, president of the St. Louis County Chamber of Commerce, told the group that if the State Legislature would pass legislation of the type in force in many other states, the building could be financed through revenue bonds. It was then decided to omit this item, which was intended to replace the old portion of the present Courthouse at Clayton.

It was decided to omit the Law Enforcement Building and Jail after County Police Superintendent Albert E. DuBois and Commissioner Frank Aschmeyer told the committee there were serious questions about the wisdom of a central headquarters for the department.

Both men said it might be better to have a number of smaller district stations and both agreed it was too early in the life of the department to estimate accurately its building needs.

Secondary Airport.

While a secondary airport to serve the 685 business and personal aircraft in the area is admittedly needed and its purchase now would save land costs, the committee pointed out it would serve only a small fraction of the county's population. It was felt the county should not undertake this expense until it has met other needs that vitally affect the life of virtually every resident of St. Louis county.

In line with its decision to approve only the most pressing and immediate needs, the committee reduced the parks and playgrounds allotment of $6,800,000 to $2,200,000. It was believed the county had sufficient large parks, including state and municipal facilities, but that a most urgent need was for neighborhood playgrounds and small parks.

The item would provide and equip about 100 playgrounds and athletic fields of three to five acres each and would allow $200,000 for highway turnouts to be converted into small park-picnic areas.

Cost Estimates Revised.

A cut of $1,000,000 in the right-of-way costs for an inner belt highway resulted from revised estimates of the costs. This highway would extend from Riverview Gardens in the northern part of the county to a connection with the River des Peres parkway near Lansdowne avenue in South St. Louis.

Right-of-way costs were put at $8,000,000 and the cost of building a 4.64-mile section from Page boulevard to Eager and Hanley roads was estimated at $8,100,000, the same figure recommended by the screening group.

Voting Machine Increase.

The screening committee's proposal for $600,000 for additional voting machines was increased by $75,000 to buy 400 of these devices at their current prices. This would give the county 800 machines, since it already has 400. It is estimated 757 machines will be needed in the general election of 1956 and more will be required after that date as the number of registered voters in the county increases.

Chairman John J. Cole of the County Board of Election Commissioners said voting machines would not be used in either the state referendum election of Oct. 4 or the bond issue election Nov. 22. He explained there are not enough machines now in place at polling places, and that paper ballots would be cheaper in elections of this type where a few "Yes" or "No" propositions are involved.

Survey Cost Rejected.

The committee rejected a proposal that the bond issue include an item of $350,000 to pay the county's share of the cost of a joint city-county survey of mass transportation needs. The committee took the position that such an expenditure was not properly a bond issue function.

A resolution approving Clayton's participation in a proposed study of traffic problems in an area also including St. Louis, University City and Ladue was adopted by the Clayton Board of Aldermen last night.

Establishment of a committee to discuss mutual traffic problems involving the four cities was proposed last week by the University City council. The study would deal chiefly with the use of Rock Island right-of-way as a traffic artery.

$43,000,000 considered by the committee, Trauernicht estimated it would take a tax rate of an additional 27 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation. Edwin J. Spiegel, chairman of the Executive Campaign Committee, expressed the belief a tax rate of about 20 cents would be required to finance the lower total.

Among the 11 items totaling $55,170,710 previously recommended by the Citizens Bond Issue Screening Committee, the report of the Executive Campaign Committee omitted three, reduced two in amount and increased two.

The largest increase made by the executive committee over the proposals of the screening committee was in the supplementary roads and grade crossings item. This was raised from $7,870,710 to $9,336,839, when four new projects were added to the screening committee's list, and greater widths were proposed for some streets.

Among the new projects was a Middleway route between Florissant and Berkeley at a cost of $653,625. It would use St. Ferdinand avenue, Graham road, Hanley road, an old streetcar right-of-way, Middleway avenue and Carson road, widened to 40 feet throughout and connected where necessary, to provide a continuous north-south route of 5.7 miles. The project was added because the population growth in the area is one of the fastest in the county, the committee said.

Another project would be the acquisition of right-of-way for the proposed Forsyth boulevard traffic relief artery using the abandoned Rock Island right-of-way. The cost of $100,000 would be primarily for purchasing more land at the intersections with Hanley road and Brentwood boulevard for more adequate connections with these two highways.

The new project would be right-of-way acquisition for eventual extension of State Route 140 east a distance of 2.75 miles to connect U. S. Highway 66 with Strodtman road which in turn connects with Columbia Bottoms road. It would cost about $14,760 and was recommended by the St. Louis County Planning Commission because of a potential population increase in this area and because of proposals for industrial development of Columbia Bottoms.

Omitted from the previous list recommended by the screening committee were a civil and criminal courts building, $7,847,000; a law enforcement building and jail, $2,753,000; and a secondary airport, $1,300,000.

Reduced, Then Eliminated.

In a preliminary decision, the executive group had included the Civil and Criminal Courts Building, but had reduced its cost to $3,950,000. However, Alfred H. Kerth, president of the St. Louis County Chamber of Commerce, told the group that if the State Legislature would pass legislation of the type in force in many other states, the building could be financed through revenue bonds. It was then decided to omit this item, which was intended to replace the old portion of the present Courthouse at Clayton.

It was decided to omit the Law Enforcement Building and Jail after County Police Superintendent Albert E. DuBois and Commissioner Frank Aschmeyer told the committee there were serious questions about the wisdom of a central headquarters for the department.

Both men said it might be better to have a number of smaller district stations and both agreed it was too early in the life of the department to estimate accurately its building needs.

Secondary Airport.

While a secondary airport to serve the 685 business and personal aircraft in the area is admittedly needed and its purchase now would save land costs, the committee pointed out it would serve only a small fraction of the county's population. DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Internal Revenue agents had a time convincing one irate taxpayer they didn't owe him $2000. He earned only $2000, but his exemptions amounted to $3000.

KILLS WOMAN IN QUARREL OVER ANOTHER MAN

Friend of Victim Says He 'Lost His Head,' Had 'Been Drinking a Bit.'

Mrs. Jean L. Hayes, a divorcee, was shot and killed last night by Kenneth D. Riley in a quarrel over a long-distance telephone call she received from a man she met on a vacation trip, Riley admitted to police.

Riley, 38 years old, a foreman at Procter & Gamble Manufacturing Co., told a Post-Dispatch reporter, "I lost my head and shot her. I had been drinking a bit." Riley, father of a 13-year-old son, said his wife divorced him two years ago because of his association with Mrs. Hayes, who also worked at Procter & Gamble.

An account of the shooting was given police by Mrs. Hayes's 21-year-old daughter, Miss Jean Hayes, who lived with her mother in an apartment at 5887 Cabanne avenue. The daughter said she and Riley drove to Lambert-St. Louis Field yesterday to meet a plane on which her mother, who was 40 years old, returned from a vacation in New Orleans. They drove to the Hayes apartment, where Mrs. Hayes told of "good times" on her vacation and of having met several men.

"I left the apartment for a few minutes and when I returned Riley suggested that my mother tell me about a telephone call she had just received from a man in Dallas, Tex., one of the men she had met on her trip," Miss Hayes told officers.

"Riley left and returned in a few minutes. My mother, who had locked the apartment door, let him in," the daughter related. "He said, 'I'm going to Dallas and you are going with me.'"

"My mother replied, 'I'm not going, the only way you will get me to go is to shoot me.' I started to step between them when Riley, who had drawn a revolver, fired a shot. The bullet struck my mother near the heart, and she fell to the floor of the kitchen."

"I went to my mother, but Riley remarked, 'She's dead.' He went to the telephone and called police."

At Page boulevard station, Riley dictated a statement which generally agreed with Miss Hayes's account. He said that when he became angry following the telephone call from Texas, Mrs. Hayes observed, "If you are jealous you might just as well get out."

Riley said he walked to his apartment at 5803 Bartmer avenue and obtained a .38-caliber revolver. The shooting then followed. Riley was booked suspected of homicide, and will appear at the inquest.

parts of fluoride to a million parts of water. Dr. Smith has recommended that only enough fluoride be added to bring the ratio up to .8 parts fluoride to a million parts of water.

The delay in adding fluorides to the water supply has resulted from the inability of the city to obtain equipment and the necessary chemicals. At present there is a shortage of rubber-lined tank cars, because so many cities are adding the chemical to their water. The Midland, Mich., firm which supplied the hydrofluosilicic acid has asked the city to return the tank car as soon as possible.

The rubber-lined storage tanks at Chain of Rocks and Howard Bend for the storing of the acid are of 16,000-gallon capacity. The tank car contained 8000 gallons. When filled the pumping station tanks will contain enough fluoride for two or three months operation depending on water consumption in the city.

AMERICA, BRITAIN 10 MILES CLOSER BY PHONE CABLE

LONDON, Sept. 28 (UP)—Workmen hooking up the first trans-Atlantic telephone cable found America and Britain are 10 miles closer than they expected.

The undersea cable was

The final splice was made aboard the British cableship Monarch and linked Newfoundland and Britain by submarine telephone cable. However, not until the second cable is laid by the end of 1956 will both-way conversation be possible.

WOMAN GIVES UP KIDNAPED INFANT IN CALIFORNIA

'I Just Wanted a Baby,' She Says — 11-Day-Old Robert Marcus in Good Health.

STOCKTON, Calif., Sept. 28 (UP)—A widespread search for 11-day-old Robert Marcus ended early today when a distraught 27-year-old married woman who "just wanted a baby of my own" surrendered the infant to a Catholic priest.

The baby was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus, identified him.

"We are 99 per cent certain that it is our baby," said Dr. Marcus.

The confessed kidnaper was Mrs. Betty Jean Benedicto, wife of Mark B. Benedicto, editor of a Filipino newspaper in Stockton.

"I just wanted a baby," she sobbed as authorities tried to find out why she stole the child. "I took this particular baby because his name was Marcus—the same name as my husband's."

Baby in Good Health.
At St. Joseph's Hospital, attendants said the boy, kidnapped when only two days old, was in good health and had gained weight and grown. His abductor said she had fed him a formula widely broadcast and printed as suitable for the child.

Police said Mrs. Benedicto was married in October 1954. She told them her husband very much wanted a baby, but that she could not have one. Then she began to put on weight. She told friends that she was pregnant.

The Associated Press said her husband, 52, did not know she was not pregnant and did not become suspicious until last night. Then he went to police... almost at the moment his wife was telephoning Dr. Marcus.

Parents Overjoyed.
Dr. Marcus and his wife were overjoyed that the long search for the baby at last was over.

When the parents announced they were satisfied that the infant was their missing son, a kidnap warrant was sworn out in San Francisco, and police started for Stockton with it. The officers also took with them a set of footprints of the Marcus baby to make the identification official.

The baby was stolen from the nursery at San Francisco's Mount Zion Hospital. Attendants and other witnesses told police they had seen a heavy-set woman with stringy blonde hair hanging about the nursery at the time.

Mrs. Benedicto turned the child over to Father Allan McCoy, a Franciscan priest at St. Mary's Church, after an off-duty deputy sheriff became suspicious of her late last night.

The deputy, Orvaldo J. Vannucci, noticed Mrs. Benedicto at wrestling matches. She was holding an infant in her arms. With her was her husband.

Vannucci questioned them both intensively, then left for sheriff's headquarters to tell his story there.

Called Dr. Marcus.
Meanwhile, Mrs. Benedicto telephoned Dr. Marcus at his home in Daly City, a suburb of San Francisco, to tell him she had his baby.

"I'm going to take him to a Catholic priest," she said. Dr. Marcus promised her he would take no action against her.

Then she told Father McCoy that she was going to bring him the Marcus child. She arrived at the parish house soon after with the infant in her arms.

"She was quite upset," Father McCoy said. "I did nothing except wait for Dr. Marcus to arrive."

However, Vannucci had returned with other officers to Mrs. Benedicto's hotel room. Finding her gone, they set about went immediately to St. Joseph's where they identified the baby.

NO RANCOR, FELT, DR. MARCUS SAYS

By DR. SANFORD MARCUS
(As told to United Press)

STOCKTON, Calif., Sept. 28 —Thank God it's all over. Our prayers have been answered.

The baby's fine and my wife is fine—so now we're going home and live happily ever after.

We are now going to the happiest family in the world. I will be able to go home to my other children and bring home the child I had promised them.

You can't imagine what the return of our baby has meant to my wife. It seems to have had a miraculous effect on her. I feel as though I'm living on a cloud.

We feel no rancor toward the woman. We feel only great pity. We think she is psychologically disturbed and in need of medical attention.

I feel very sorry for the woman. She must know what it is to be a mother.

We are very grateful she took such good care of our baby. It looks wonderful. The baby will be taken back to the hospital for a checkup before we bring him home. But he looks fine—he really looks fine.

The happiest phone call I ever received came at 12:35 this morning.

A woman's voice said, "Doctor, I want to beg your forgiveness. I thought it might have something to do with the baby."

She said: "Doctor, I'm terribly sorry. I hope you can forgive me. I saw you on television. I saw your children on television and your wife. I wanted to return the child. I read about it in the newspapers. The story in the newspapers made me realize the enormity of what I had done."

"Doctor, I'm terribly sorry, but I gave the baby good care. I fed it good. Doctor, I don't want you to tell the police. Meet me in Stockton near the parish house of St. Mary's Church. Come alone. I don't want the police. I want to make my peace with you first."

I told her I'd come immediately.

CUSTOMER SHOT WHEN BAR IN EAST ST. LOUIS IS ROBBED

Charles Ferguson of Fulton, Mo., was shot in the thigh yesterday by one of two armed robbers who stole $70 from the English Inn, First street and St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, police reported. He was treated at St. Mary's Hospital there. Mrs. Mattie Manning, barmaid, said the two men announced a holdup after one had asked for change. They ordered several customers away from the bar. Then one robber fired three shots, one striking Ferguson. The second robber took the money from the cash register, Mrs. Manning said. All are Negroes.

2 TESTIFY MAJOR HELPED COMPOSE RED CHINA MANUAL

FT. MEADE, Md., Sept. 28 (AP)—Two former prisoners of war have accused Maj. Ronald E. Alley of helping to write an artillery manual for the Chinese while he was being held in a P.O.W. camp in Korea.

Air Force Capt. William N. Preson, now stationed in England, testified Alley told him he was working on a manual with Chinese agents named "Chang" and the "Dragon Lady."

Lt. Col. George R. Hansen of Madison, Wis., now stationed on Formosa, said Alley told him he was writing the manual. Hansen quoted the 34-year-old artillery officer from Bar Harbor, Me., that "he didn't care since he was getting out of the damned Army anyway."

Both officers testified here yesterday at Alley's court-martial on charges of misconduct while a prisoner. The military trial continued today. Several times during yesterday's proceedings, the courtroom was cleared while the defense introduced security matters into the record.

SAYS MANY FIRED AS RISKS WERE NOT 'SUITABLE'

Official Asserts They Would Have Lost Jobs Even Without Loyalty Check.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)

—A second government official testified today that most of the employees fired by his agency as "security risks" would have been discharged even if there had been no security program. Frederick W. Baumann Jr., acting security officer at the Government Printing Office, expressed that opinion under questioning at a hearing by the Senate Civil Service subcommittee.

Paul E. Hadlick, subcommittee counsel, noted that the Civil Service Commission had reported that the services of 51 printing office employees had been terminated because of security questions under President Eisenhower's executive order of May 1953.

He asked Baumann how many of the 51 might have been subject to dismissal on grounds of unsuitability, instead of actual security cases.

Baumann replied that the great majority of them came under "unsuitability"—a category embracing such personal habits as excessive drinking or talking—but he noted that this was caused by the President's executive order establishing the security program.

Hadlick said he understood that, but asked if most of the 51 printing office employees would not have been fired anyway under civil service regulations.

"Yes, sir," Baumann replied. Baumann agreed to supply later a breakdown of the reasons for the dismissals.

Veterans Administrator H. V. Higley told the subcommittee yesterday that the "great majority" of 449 VA employees listed as fired under the security program were "in the non-security category." He said they would have been fired anyway for other reasons.

Senator Olin D. Johnston (Dem.), South Carolina, subcommittee chairman, told reporters he felt that Higley's testimony supported Democratic charges that the "numbers racket" was being played with the security program.

"You can call it padding or whatever you want," Johnston said.

He said he intended to press all Government departments and agencies for a breakdown of the reasons for all listed dismissals under the security program in order to bring out the complete picture.

Johnston said he was convinced that "practically all" federal employees who have been tagged as security risks could have been discharged under regular civil service procedures "without besmirching anyone's name."

Higley said he didn't have anything to do with compiling the lists of the security firings. Subcommittee counsel Paul Hadlick asked Higley if any of the dismissed VA employees were Communists. "Not to my knowledge, sir," Higley replied.

Most Not Fired as Risks. Higley told investigating Senators most of these people "were not fired under 10450"—the executive order under which President Eisenhower set up the Administration's security program.

His testimony prompted Hadlick to comment: "But someone for political purposes makes them out to be almost espionage agents."

Philip Young, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, told the Senators Monday that between May 28, 1953 and last June 30, a total of 3614 government employees had been dismissed as security risks. Young reported that another 6696 had resigned at a time when their files contained "unfavorable" security information.

William F. Tompkins, assistant attorney general in charge of internal security, was asked if, since the start of the security program, there had been any indictments under the law barring Communists from Government jobs.

Tompkins said there have been no prosecutions of that nature, adding it is very difficult to prove Communist membership.

Tompkins said, however, that "roughly about a dozen" criminal prosecutions have grown out of the security program and about 50 other cases are under "active consideration." He said these involve criminal or perjury or false statements.

One of the witnesses called for today's hearing was John K. Slear, a member of the subcommittee staff. He said in his prepared testimony that a study of security regulations and procedures showed wide confusing variations among federal agencies.

He called for co-ordination of the program on a Government-wide basis, urging establishment of "a single security program and a security standard of universal applicability."

However, Tompkins took the position yesterday that each agency head should continue to establish regulations for his own department, arguing that "you have different situations in different agencies."

Ladejinsky Declines Comment On Benson Admission. SAIGON, South Viet Nam,

Sept. 28 (AP)—Wolf Ladejinsky, United States agrarian reform expert, declined comment today on Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's admission before a Senate Civil Service subcommittee that a mistake was made in denying him security clearance.

Ladejinsky, who has been in Viet Nam with the United States operations mission in Saigon since last February to help with its land and rent reduction reforms, said that his statement two months ago, regarding the Benson action about covered the situation. At that time, he declared that clearing him as a security risk was "a belated but happy indication of the principles of justice and fair play on which American democracy rests."

NEW NATIONAL BUYING DIVISION SET UP BY U.S.

GSA Says It Will Purchase, Distribute Supplies for Executive Branch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Government's General Services Administration announced last night it is establishing a new national buying division.

Administrator Edmund F. Mansure said the division would buy and distribute nationally needed supplies and equipment for the executive branch of the Government by commercial methods. He said the idea is to achieve greater economy and efficiency in Government procurement.

The division's purchasing programs will total about $336,000,000 a year. They will cover such items as household and quarters furniture; office machines, supplies and equipment; administrative supplies, and a wide diversity of materials ranging from lumber to motor vehicles.

48,000 items. In all, GSA said, about 48,000 supply items are involved.

Lloyd Dunkle, now deputy director of the GSA federal supply services' purchase division, was named acting director of the new national buying unit. A GSA spokesman said the change in purchasing policy primarily would mean that there will be more annual and semi-annual contracts and that the contracts will cover larger volumes of needed items. Many of the contracts now are on a quarterly basis or for even shorter periods.

The spokesman also said it is anticipated that the change will result in some decrease in personnel needed for purchasing activities.

"The national buying division is a part of our unfolding plan to make procurement operations more efficient and economical," Mansure said. "Studies leading to the reorganization of our supply activity and the creation of this division have been under way for more than a year by supply experts from industry."

He said the new policy was recommended by Carl Kresl, formerly of Sears-Roebuck, and Hesa Kline, former vice president of Roden Fair, Inc., in a study of GSA procurement operations.

No Supply Change. Clifton E. Mack, commissioner of the federal supply service, said the new plan does not change the way in which suppliers should continue their efforts to sell to GSA.

Mack said the new buying division will have offices at the GSA regional headquarters here and in New York and potential suppliers should get in touch with it at either place.

"They will continue to do business with the same buyers at those points," Mack said.

Mack also said the change will in no way affect GSA's stated policy of helping small business concerns get a fair share of orders.

U.S. APPROVES FREE VACCINE FOR MISSOURI, 21 STATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (UP)—The Public Health Service said yesterday it has approved plans of 22 states and territories, including Missouri, for distributing free Salk polio vaccine.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele said plans from 16 other states and territories, including Illinois, are under review. No plans have been received yet from the other 18 states and territories, he said.

Distribution plans must be approved before a state can receive its share of the $30,000,000 Congress appropriated last summer for purchase and administration of the free vaccine. The program is aimed at insuring that no child shall lack vaccine because of inability to pay for it. Federal funds for free vaccine will be available until Feb. 15.

JURY AWARDS $25,000; ONLY $7500 WAS SOUGHT

A too-sympathetic jury awarded Mrs. Zella Ford $25,000 yesterday in her damage suit against the Illinois Terminal Railroad Co.

The jury did not know that the amount sought in the petition was only $7500. Circuit Judge O. P. Owen indicated that a new trial would be granted. The plaintiff could ask for more damages in another proceeding.

Mrs. Ford, a 19-year-old store clerk living in East St. Louis, testified that she suffered a spinal injury when the automobile in which she was a passenger was struck by an interurban streetcar in Granite City on Nov. 29, 1952. The suit alleged that the railroad was negligent in failing to have a gate, morninglight, or watchman at a dangerous crossing.

TOWN BARS BARBER POLE; 'WOULD SPOIL THE SQUARE'

SOLIHULL, England, Sept. 28 (UP)—Barber Norman Young said today he would appeal to the courts against a town council decision refusing him permission to erect a red-and-white barber pole that revolves and lights up at night.

The council said the sign would spoil Solihull's parish church square.

RELEASE OF REST OF AMERICANS IN CHINA DISCUSSED

U.S. and Red Envoys
Hold 18th Session at Geneva — Other Issues Considered.

GENEVA, Sept. 28 (AP) — Ambassadors of the United States and Red China, holding their eighteenth session here today, discussed means for getting the remaining American civilians in China back home.

A communique said information was exchanged on repatriating the Americans and also any Chinese nationals still in the United States who want to go home.

The communique added that United States Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Communist Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan also "exchanged views" on the second item of their agenda—"other practical matters at issue between the two sides."

It was understood Johnson discussed with Wang what items could be taken up under this heading. Red China is believed eager to squeeze in a variety of questions, possibly ranging from the Formosa problem to a conference between United States Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

Johnson, it is believed, told Wang in this discussion that he would urge upon the Peiping regime a declaration renouncing use of force in the settlement of international disputes.

Dulles has stated that this is one of the immediate goals of United States policy in the Far East. Johnson also presumably told Wang that he would request under item two information concerning some 500 United States servicemen missing without trace since the Korean war.

It is believed that most of these servicemen are dead, but there is a possibility some may still be alive.

Wang already has attempted to bring up the question of the trade embargo in strategic materials against Communist China and discuss with Johnson a conference between the United States and Red China on a higher level.

Johnson has refused to discuss these questions with Wang until item one of the agenda—the return of civilians of both sides to their respective countries—has been completed. There still are 19 Americans held in Communist prisons in China, whose release and repatriation are uncertain.

BELLEVILLE SCHOOL BUDGET CUT FOLLOWING TAX DEFEAT

The budget for educational purposes in Belleville's elementary schools was cut by $54,691 yesterday following defeat in Saturday's special election of a proposal for increasing the district's school tax 21 cents on each $100 assessed property valuation.

As a result, the School Board trimmed the budget from $949,819 to $895,122. The reduction, it was said, will cause elimination of special classes for retarded and hard-of-hearing pupils, a remedial reading course and audio-visual aids. The allowance for employment of substitute teachers was reduced to $6,000 from $12,000.

Under the proposal defeated by district voters, the tax rate would have been increased to 85½ from 64½ cents.

CONGRESSMAN'S TWO AIDS INDICTED ON TAX CHARGES

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two male secretaries employed by United States Representative Adam Clayton Powell Jr., Harlem Democrat, were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on charges of evading income taxes totaling $29,236.

The defendants are William J. Hampton, charged with evading payments of $699.28 for 1952 and 1953, and Aey Lennon, who allegedly evaded payment of $2137.14 for 1949 through 1952. Assistant United States Attorney Alfred P. O'Hara said that in his returns Lennon had claimed two sons as dependents when actually they were not dependents.

Last December another secretary to Powell, Mrs. Hattie Freeman Dodson, and her husband, Howard T. Dodson II, were indicted in an intricate tax fraud scheme. Trial is pending.

BICYCLE STRUCK BY AUTO, GIRL, 4, SERIOUSLY HURT

Cathy Dmytryshyn, 4 years old, riding on the rear of a bicycle pedaled by her 6-year-old brother, Robert, suffered severe injuries when the bicycle was struck by an automobile yesterday. Robert was not hurt.

Frank A. Waelterman, a salesman, 415 Alma avenue, Webster Groves, told police he was driving in California avenue, south of Russell boulevard, at 6 p.m. when the bicycle with Cathy on the fender, came out of an alley into the path of his automobile. The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dmytryshyn, 2749A Accomac street, is in City Hospital with contusions of the head and knees and internal injuries.

Mrs. Magsaysay Flying to U.S. MANILA, Sept. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Luz Banzon-Magsaysay, wife of President Magsaysay, left by plane today for the United States. She will enter Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore for treatment of a recurring sinus condition.

1935 GOLDEN VOICE GETTING WORN OUT ON LONDON PHONE

LONDON, Sept. 28 (UPI)—"Miss Golden Voice" of 1935, whose records still announce the correct time when one dials T-I-M in London, complained today her recorded voice had begun to sound like that of a drowning woman.

The General Post Office began the service 20 years ago today, using the voice of Mrs. Edmund Bailey, who was chosen the telephone operator with the most soothing voice. The G.P.O. still uses the same records which are made of glass and played back by an electric beam.

"I dialed T-I-M myself," she said today. "I must have got a bad line. I sounded awful. All my dearest friends say I sound like a drowning woman."

M'CARTHY TO BE WITNESS AT TRIAL OF PROFESSOR

APPLETON, Wis., Sept. 28 (UPI)—Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep., Wisconsin), will appear as a witness at the trial of a Harvard University professor on contempt of Congress charges. McCarthy said at his home here yesterday that he had been subpoenaed to appear at the Boston (Mass.) trial of Prof. Leon Kanin next month.

Kanin was charged with contempt after he refused to give the names of Communists he knew while he was a member of the party to a Senate investigating committee then headed by McCarthy.

McCarthy said Kanin appeared before the committee in connection with his civilian work on radar projects and admitted he once was a member of the Communist party. McCarthy said he would arrive in Boston for the trial Oct. 11.

SENATOR HUMPHREY WILLING TO RUN FOR VICE PRESIDENT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (AP)—Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota, says he would consider it a signal honor to be nominated as the vice presidential candidate.

Humphrey also stated during a question-and-answer period following his address yesterday before the Trojan Democratic club at the University of Southern California that Adlai Stevenson was the leading candidate for the party's presidential nomination.

Averell Harriman, Senator Kefauver (Dem.), Tennessee and Michigan Gov. Williams are also contenders for the presidential nomination, Humphrey said.

FBI HEAD SEES
LEVELING OFF IN YOUTH CRIME

Action by Police, Parents, Schools, Churches Still Needed, However, He Says.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (UP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said yesterday, "There are signs of leveling off in juvenile delinquency in many areas."

He said, "Those areas... in which concerted action has proved effective are counterbalanced by too many areas in which too little is being done."

In a copyrighted interview with U. S. News & World Report, Hoover pointed out that "there is a real need for more dynamic programs in which parents, police, schools, churches and community groups combined to promote plans of positive action designed to meet the needs of each area."

The interview came on the heels of an FBI announcement that major crimes in the United States declined slightly the first six months of this year, the first drop since 1948.

The FBI report said, "The year 1955 may show a long overdue break in the upward trend of the past seven years."

Asked if a change in religious activity might account for the crime drop in any way, Hoover said:

"Yes. Crime, like its twin, subversion, is a manifestation of materialism. He may simply take what he wants, heeding no moral restraint."

Another factor, Hoover said, is that "necessary adjustments following World War II are running their course. The spirit of abandon, impermanence and insecurity of the war years can be corrected only by time and adaption to new conditions."

Hoover also praised the police. He said the "growing professionalization of law enforcement at the local level deserves recognition" in combating crime.

"In almost all areas of the nation salutary emphasis is being placed on the intensification of police training," he said. Forward strides in law enforcement, Hoover added, "are factors which must be taken into account" for the crime decrease.

5 TO 13-YEAR-OLD FASTEST RISING
U.S. AGE BRACKET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (UP)—The Census Bureau said yesterday the number of American children in the 5 to 13-year-old bracket has increased 26.5 per cent in the last five years—the fastest growth of any segment of the population.

It is estimated that on July 1 there were 28,096,000 youngsters in this age group. That is a rise of about 6,000,000 over mid-1950.

The 14-through-17 age group showed a 9.5 per cent increase in the same five years, from 8,435,000 to 9,238,000.

The 18-24 age group—reflecting the low birth rate in the depression years of the early 1930s—contained about 1,000,000 fewer persons in 1955 than the same bracket covered five years ago, when the over-all national population was smaller.

Next to school age children, the largest jump was in the over-65 age bracket. The number of persons past the so-called retirement age of 65 increased 15.9 per cent in the five year period, and now totals about 14,128,000.

The total United States population on July 1, was estimated at 165,248,000, an increase of 14,116,000 over mid-1950.

Chinese Study in Russia.

MAKER OF 2 JET ENGINES ADMITS THEY FAILED

'Just Didn't Meet Performance Standards,' Westinghouse President Says.

By DAVID R. WALLIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 — The manufacturer of two types of Navy jet plane engines now the focus of a congressional inquiry into the Navy's procurement program admitted today that "they just didn't meet performance standards."

At Pittsburgh, Pa., Gwilym A. Price, president of Westinghouse Electric Corp., which produced the engines, made that admission and added: "We had an ungodly amount of trouble with those engines—the J-40 and J-46."

The Navy canceled contracts involving "several hundred millions of dollars" on those types, and dealt the company "a real body blow," Price said, but he added that Westinghouse has great hopes for the future in the jet engine field with a new type in which it has invested $20,500,000.

For McDonnell Planes.
The J-40 was for the F3H-1 "Demon," a single-engine fighter produced by McDonnell Aircraft Corp. at St. Louis. Fifty of the planes have been grounded there, after tests showed that the engine was not powerful enough.

Six of that type have crashed. A company spokesman said at Pittsburgh today its information was that engine failure was not the cause. The Post-Dispatch was informed yesterday that investigators have determined that engine failure contributed to at least three of the crashes.

The J-46 was for the "Cutlass," a twin-engine fighter manufactured by Chance Vought Aircraft Corp. of Dallas, Tex. Both it and the "Demon" are carrier-based planes.

Preliminary Inquiry.

and Undersecretary Thomas S. Gates Jr.

The subcommittee is headed by Representative Chet Hollifield (Dem.), California, who was in California today. He sent Secretary Thomas a telegram last night requesting that he "provide the staff with assistance in securing the necessary background data involved in this case."

STAGEHANDS UNION SETS UP HOTEL CHASE PICKET LINE

A picket line was established last night at Hotel Chase by the AFL Stagehands Union in a dispute with management over employment of a spotlight operator in the Chase Club.

Leroy Upton, business agent of Theatrical Brotherhood Local 6, said a member of the union had operated the spotlight until 10 weeks ago, when an operator not a member of Local 6 took over the job. Upton said the union used "every possible means of communication" in an effort to hold a conference with the hotel management. Failing to arrange a negotiating session, the union declared the situation a lockout and pickets were posted, Upton said.

Upton said the extent of the picketing "will depend on the reactions of the management."

MEAT PACKING HEIR KILLS SELF IN HOME

Louis F. Swift Jr., Found Shot—Suffering From Throat Cancer.

CARONA, Calif., Sept. 28 (AP)—Louis F. Swift Jr., grandson of the founder of the Chicago meat packing company, killed himself with a shot through the heart at his ranch home yesterday. He was 60 years old.

The coroner listed the case as a suicide after receiving this report from sheriff's deputies: Swift's wife, Libby, heard a shot and rushed into the bedroom to find her husband wounded in the chest. A revolver lay nearby.

Two servants said they had found Swift with the weapon while his wife was shopping, but had persuaded him to put it away. As they left and Mrs. Swift returned, the shot rang out.

Swift had been suffering from throat cancer for several months. Last January part of his vocal cords was removed. He had been unable to speak since the operation.

Besides his wife, the former Elizabeth (Libby) Chase, of Lake Forest, Ill., Swift leaves a son, Louis F. Swift III.

Swift briefly attended the University of Wisconsin. A spokesman said he had not been very active in company affairs, but had managed plants in Denver and Texas. He had lived here eight years.

His father, L. F. Swift Sr., was a son of the packing house founder, Gustavus Swift.

NOV. 1 DEADLINE SET FOR SECRET U.S. ALERT LISTS

Schedule for Military Emergency Must Be Up to Date, Defense Department Says.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Defense Department has set a Nov. 1 deadline for completion of secret lists of emergency actions to be taken in the event of a national military emergency.

A directive issued to the military services on Sept. 22 and made available today said the results of "Operation Alert" last May showed that "much more attention" must be given to the development of a well defined program covering emergency actions.

During "Operation Alert," President Eisenhower and thousands of key officials and workers left Washington and test-ran the Government from hideouts under simulated war conditions.

The directive said that during the alert exercises "it became apparent that communication problems would make impractical the transmission of lengthy documents on an emergency basis."

The Defense Department also said it was shown that many military actions would have to be based on congressional authority when there is "no guarantee that the Congress would be immediately available" to grant such powers.

The directive noted the existence of "check lists" of emergency actions to be taken at or just before the outbreak of war. The three military services and all defense agencies and units were ordered by Secretary of Defense Wilson to get these lists up to date and to report them fully to the department.

In some cases, the directive said, emergency action documents could be prepared and ready for use upon the signature of a responsible official.

A Pentagon spokesman said the various emergency lists now include "a multitude of actions" which would have to be taken in event of war and that the secret master list will spell out such vital steps as a joint congressional resolution to declare the existence of an emergency. Such a resolution would activate many war powers now on the books.

Other actions on the secret list involve military control over reports on ship positions, weather information, the seizure of enemy vessels in United States ports and the extension of the peacetime draft to full mobilization.

The new master list will arrange proposed actions in various categories such as those requiring legislative approval or presidential action and those that the Pentagon or the military services can take on their own decision.

ARGENTINA URGED TO RETURN PAPERS TO THEIR OWNERS

ZURICH, Sept. 28 (UPI)—The International Press Institute called today for the return to their rightful owners of all independent Argentine newspapers seized by ousted President Juan D. Peron.

The institute's board of directors sent a telegram to the new Argentine government making the request.

It expressed hope that the newspapers, including La Prensa, would "be allowed to resume their rightful place in the free press of the world."

European newspapers already had expressed concern over the new Argentine government's decision not to hand La Prensa back to its previous owners.

"Immediate return of the paper and reinstatement in full rights of the owner would not only have been an act of simple faith but also a proof of the will for re-establishment of at least a certain measure of democracy," the Protestant daily Trouw commented in Amsterdam, Holland.

I.T.R. SEEKS FINAL ORDER TO END PASSENGER SERVICE

Illinois Terminal Railroad Co. filed a motion yesterday with the Illinois Commerce Commission at Springfield for a final order authorizing it to discontinue the operation of all passenger service on its line.

The Commission had ordered the company to continue operating four trains daily between Springfield and St. Louis for a 180-day test period although it had permitted abandonment of passenger service between East Peoria and Springfield and between Springfield and Champaign.

In the motion, the company said losses on the four trains would amount to $108,000 annually in "out of pocket" expenses alone and to more than $277,000 if all losses were included.

TIBETAN BUDDHIST PRIESTS PRAY FOR EISENHOWER

NEW DELHI, Sept. 28 (AP)—Seven Buddhist priests from Communist-occupied Tibet offered prayers for the quick recovery of President Eisenhower when a peace beacon was kindled last night at Katmandu, Nepal.

Reports reaching here said the Buddhist and Hindu Buddhists included the President in opening prayers of the ceremony of the yagna (religious fire). Then they lit the beacon as an offering for world peace.

The reports added that King Mahendra of Nepal is to make a personal offering at the fire tomorrow. Then 360 doves of peace will be released. The fire will burn for two months.

CURLEY IS DEFEATED AGAIN IN RACE FOR BOSTON MAYOR

BOSTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Mayor John B. Hynes and State Senator John E. Powers were nominated for mayor of Boston yesterday in a non-partisan preliminary election in which fewer than 38 per cent of the eligible voters participated. Hynes and Powers defeated the old political warrior James M. Curley and State Supreme Court Clerk Chester A. Dolan. The election will be Nov. 8.

It was one of the most crushing political blows suffered by the 80-year-old Curley, who has served four terms as mayor as well as terms as Governor and Congressman — and also a prison term for mail fraud. Curley did not carry a single ward.

FRENCH PUT OFF ALGERIA REFORM PLAN SESSION

Moslem Assemblymen Threaten 'Revolt' Over Proposals for 'Integration.'

ALGIERS, Sept. 28 (AP)—Faced by a "revolt" of Moslem leaders, France yesterday indefinitely postponed a critical session of the Algerian Assembly on a French reform program for its North African departments (counties).

Jacques Soustelle, Governor General, put off the session less than an hour before it was to receive his proposals looking to a progressive "integration" of Algerians into full French citizenship.

The official decree said in the interest of public order, the session would be held later with the same agenda: an examination of the reform program. The Governor General took this action after a majority of Moslem members of the Assembly had prepared a motion condemning integration as "outmoded," and calling for an "Algerian national idea."

These Assemblymen named a standing "action committee" to co-ordinate and direct strategy on behalf of the national idea. The Algerian Assembly of 120 members is divided into two branches of 60 members each. The first, known popularly as the "French college," represents persons who live under the French national code. The second, or "Moslem college," represents those who have chosen to live under a "personal statute," a legal term for Berber tribal customs or Koranic law.

It was a majority of the second college who framed the anti-integration motion. In Algerian politics, "integration" means the removal of the many differences which still exist between the departments of the country—Alger, Oran, Constantine and Bone—and the departments of metropolitan France. Some Frenchmen in Algeria also oppose integration for other reasons—they now enjoy a favorable taxation system and control their own police forces, free from "interference" from Paris.

Algerian nationalists have been demanding complete independence from France, underscoring their wishes with terrorism. In the Constantine area, a nationalist hotspot for months, French forces reported 25 rebels killed and a big stock of arms captured yesterday.

JAPAN'S PREMIER REJECTS INVITATION FROM MOSCOW

TOKYO, Sept. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Hatoyama told the cabinet yesterday he had received a "very indirect" invitation to visit Moscow but rejected it on grounds of health, the newspaper Asahi said today.

There have been unconfirmed reports that Russia wants to by-pass the deadlocked peace talks on the ambassadorial level at London in favor of top executive negotiations in Moscow. Hatoyama, 72 years old, suffered a stroke in 1951 and is partly paralyzed.

SYRIA HUNTS FOR ILLEGAL STORES OF EXPLOSIVES

DAMASCUS, Sept. 28 (AP)—Syrian Interior Minister Ali Bouzo pushed a countrywide search for illegal stores of explosives following the explosion in Aleppo in which at least eight persons were killed.

Three others are missing and another 12 hospitalized as a result of the gunpowder blast Monday. The explosion demolished a store and damaged neighboring houses. Aleppo police still are investigating the blast.

RUSSIA, AUSTRIA ARRANGE FIVE-YEAR TRADE ACCORD

VIENNA, Sept. 28 (AP)—Austria and the Soviet Union have concluded a $50,000,000, five-year trade agreement.

An announcement today said the pact, which must be ratified by the parliaments of both countries, provides for Austrian export of machinery, steel products, electric appliances and wooden goods in return for Russian grain, coal, ores, heavy machinery, vehicles and foodstuffs.

GIRL, 16, SHOTS SUITOR ON TRIAL FOR KIDNAPING HER

PACHINO, Sicily, Sept. 28 (AP)—A 16-year-old girl attended the trial yesterday of a man accused of kidnaping her, then waited outside the courtroom and shot him.

Police arrested Concettina Gabelli and said her victim, Rosario Moncada, 24, was in serious condition. They reported these details:

Several months ago, Moncada offered his love to Concettina, but was spurned. He then abducted her, keeping her with him for several days. After she was freed, Concettina's father charged Moncada with kidnaping a minor.

Concettina met Moncada and his lawyer as they returned for yesterday afternoon's court session. Pulling a revolver, she shot her one-time suitor in the abdomen.

CHILE COPPER MINERS VOTE 10-DAY TRUCE IN PAY STRIKE

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 28 (UP)—Workers at the American-owned Chuquibambilla copper mine voted to return to work today but threatened to resume their strike in 10 days if the Government fails to work out a satisfactory settlement of their wage demands.

Some 500 workers at the National Tire Co., an affiliate of the General Tire & Rubber Co. of the United States, went on strike yesterday to demand full pay for time the company suspended operations for lack of crude rubber.

3 Farm Workers Electrocuted. LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 28 (AP)—A portable grain elevator brushed against an uninsulated electric wire yesterday, electrocuting three rice farm workers. The victims were Clifton Holland, 35 years old, of Hayes, La.; Joe Humphreys, 67; and Edward Monroe, 18, both of Iowa, La.

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 28 — Three members of a large St. Louis stolen automobile ring pleaded guilty to car theft charges here yesterday in United States District Court.

Willie Potter and four co-defendants pleaded not guilty. The others, facing from one to eight counts, are Lee Andrew Jackson, Daniel Branch Shelton, Henderson Richardson and Jessie Potter. Eddie and Jessie Potter are brothers of Willie Potter, who is named in 14 counts.

The ring was broken up by Tulsa and St. Louis police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Officers traced 208 stolen cars valued at $258,000. The machines were sold to used car dealers.

United States District Judge Royce H. Savage indicated he would defer sentences until after the entire case is heard.

OLIVETTE REJECTS JEWISH SCHOOL PLEA

Trustees Against $150,000 Building Proposed by Hebrew Academy.

Epstein Hebrew Academy's request for a special permit to build a $150,000 school at 901 North Price road, Olivette, was rejected last night by the Olivette Board of Trustees. The vote was 3 to 1.

The academy has operated its seventh and eighth grades in a converted house at the address since 1949. Other grades in the elementary school are conducted in rented quarters in St. Louis. The academy has an enrollment of more than 200.

Carroll J. Donohue, chairman of the five-member Olivette board, told the Post-Dispatch last night's action followed public hearings previously held both by the trustees and the municipality's zoning commission, which had recommended against approval.

At the hearings, residents in the vicinity of the school—on a 15½ acre site in a residential area—opposed the plan for a new building, contending it would depreciate property values and would be inconsistent with a general development of the neighborhood, Donohue said.

Nearby home owners also asserted at the hearings, he said, that the present school building had not been maintained properly. Sam Werber of University City, president of the academy board, said that when the site was purchased, Olivette officials had given assurance that a permit for a new building to house the entire school would be granted whenever the academy was ready to build. This was later confirmed, he said, in a letter from the Olivette city attorney.

Voting against granting the authorization were Trustees Thomas Grady, Victor Jacobs-meyer and Henry J. Deeken. Milton Lief favored the application. Donohue, as chairman, votes only in event of a tie.

Lief, who lives at 1131 Collingswood drive, said: "I honestly can't see how we can deny a permit for use of the land for the purpose for which this group purchased it. I don't think it is quite fair. Under ordinances in our books, I could find no grounds for denial."

It was Lief's motion that the trustees voted down. The proposed measure included restrictions. Lief said, that would have satisfied neighbors' objections, such as screening the area with shrubbery and placing the entrances on Villa avenue, rather than Price road. Meanwhile, Circuit Judge Douglas L. C. Jones at Clayton has agreed to review the action of the Olivette board of adjustment in refusing the Jewish Community Centers Association an occupancy permit for two residences on a 14-acre tract at Delmar boulevard and Price road. The association has announced plans to build a $2,000,000 Y.M.-Y.W.H.A. on the site, which is several blocks south of the school.

67TH GREENLEASE RANSOM BILL FOUND

Money Turns Up in Chicago Federal Reserve Bank—46th in Area.

The sixty-seventh Greenlease ransom bill found so far in the search for the missing money turned up yesterday in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, the St. Louis office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced today.

It was the forty-sixth bill to be discovered in Chicago, considered the center of distribution for the missing ransom.

Other bills have appeared in cities throughout the country, but only in limited numbers.

Originally, the missing ransom totaled $303,720. Finding of the 67 bills, all 20s, reduces the amount sought to $302,380.

$97,000 U.S. TAX CHARGE AGAINST 'FIX' CASE WITNESS

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (UP)—Abe Teitelbaum, attorney who once testified before a Senate committee on an offer to "fix" his income tax, was indicted yesterday on charges that he failed to pay more than $97,000 in income taxes due for the years 1950 and 1951.

Teitelbaum already faced a hearing, scheduled in United States District Judge Joseph Sam Perry's court Oct. 3, on charges that he owed about $75,000 taxes on his income in the years 1944-1947.

In indictments returned yesterday, the Government charged he failed to report all his income in 1950 and paid a tax of $10,550 when he should have paid $15,402.

For 1951, the Government said, he claimed a net loss of $97,000 and paid no tax. The Government claimed he had income of $141,528 and should have paid $82,440.

At hearings before a Senate crime investigating subcommittee here in 1951, he testified that two men offered to "fix" his income tax troubles with the Government for a cash payment.

HOOVER COMMISSION ENDS ITS EXISTENCE

Reorganization Study Group Returns $83,000 to Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Hoover Commission, whose keynote was economy in government, went out of existence today on a consistent note. It returned $83,000 in unspent funds to the Treasury.

During its two-year life, the commission on organization of the executive branch of the government, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, received $2,848,534 from Congress to finance its search for ways to streamline federal operations and cut expenditures.

The commission actually halted its work by law last June 30, but it was given another 90 days for liquidation chores. That time was up today.

In its final formal statement, the commission said it made 314 recommendations, with 145 of these considered administrative and the remainder subject to legislative or presidential action.

"Already 50 administrative recommendations have been carried into effect," the commission said, "and one minor one alone will save the government yearly four or five times the total cost of the commission."

The statement did not say what this specific recommendation involved.

The commission noted that more than 200 bills were introduced in the last congressional session, designed to carry out its recommendations.

PARIS, Ont., Sept. 28 (AP)—A harvest thanksgiving banquet that included turkey and salad was held Monday night at St. James's Anglican church. Yesterday about 150 of the participants were suffering from food poisoning. They included the rector, the Rev. H. K. L. Charlton.

JOHN W. POWELL SILENT ON CHINA WEEKLY QUERIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28 (AP)—Despite a threat of contempt action, John W. Powell declined yesterday to answer most of the questions asked him at a courtmartial about a magazine published in Red China.

The former Shanghai editor was a witness at the courtmartial of Cpl. Thomas Bayes Jr., of Flat Lick, Ky., on charges he collaborated with the enemy as a prisoner of war in North Korea to get better treatment.

Powell was shown a copy of the China Weekly Review published in Shanghai in December 1951. It reported United States

PERON EXPECTED TO BE ALLOWED TO LEAVE TODAY

Time of Departure Is Problem That Concerns Paraguay, Lonardi Says.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28 (AP) — Authoritative sources said Juan D. Peron, still stuck on a Paraguayan gunboat in the Rio de la Plata, probably would receive his long-awaited safe conduct to exile today.

The deposed dictator took refuge on the gunboat Paraguay nine days ago. Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi, who led the revolt that ended Peron's 10-year sway as Argentina's strong man, announced after the revolt that Peron would be accorded the traditional Latin-American right of political asylum.

Lonardi backed this up by telling newspapermen last night Peron was free to begin exile in Paraguay at any time.

But the piece of paper granting him safe conduct up the Parana and Paraguay rivers to Asuncion, the Paraguayan capital, was still not forthcoming immediately. Lonardi, replying to questions sent to him by newspapermen, said only: "the moment of his departure from Gen. Peron is a problem that concerns the Paraguayan government."

One unconfirmed report said a segment of Paraguay's armed forces objected that Peron's presence in their country would cause difficulties between Paraguay and other Western Hemisphere nations. This report said Paraguayan President Al-

'OOM', SELF-STYLED MYSTIC, DIES AT 80

Pierre A. Bernard Charmed Society Notables, Had Brushes With Police.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP) — Pierre A. Bernard, a self-styled mystic of the roaring twenties who as "Oom the Omnipotent" charmed society notables but gave police a pain in the neck, died at 80.

His death occurred yesterday at French hospital, in quiet contrast to the three decades of flamboyant activity which made him the darling of the newspaper feature writers.

Bernard was born plain Peter Coon at Leon, Ia. By dint of much ingenuity and plenty of tugging at his own bootstraps, he rose from the humble pursuit of demon picking to a position of wealth and influence. It was a rough road he traveled at times, though.

His first brush with fame—and the law—came in 1905. He and a San Francisco pal, Martin L. Hargis, formed the "Bachante Club" to nistruct young women in the mysteries of soul

The authorities also have been searching the residences of other prominent Peronistas. The government announced only that it would issue an extensive report of its investigation into the economic and financial situation left by Peron's government.

The new government also continued its drive to woo the working class, backbone of Peron's support, into the camp of the new administration. Lonardi issued a decree extending a rent control law under which landlords can neither boost rents nor eject tenants. The law has been the salvation of many families hit by spiraling inflation.

Lonardi announced a total Amnesty for political prisoners will be decreed soon. Many already have been freed.

Time of Departure Is Problem That Concerns Paraguay, Lonardi Says.

One unconfirmed report said a segment of Paraguay's armed forces objected that Peron's presence in their country would cause difficulties between Paraguay and other Western Hemisphere nations. This report said Paraguayan President Alarming. They apparently had more police callers than students.

In succeeding years, after adopting the "Oom" title, Bernard set up various cults. Some were for love, some for yogi exercises, health and "religious" talks for girls and tired business men.

Bernard professed himself to be, at one time or another and sometimes all at once, a Hindu guru or teacher, a swami and a yoga of the Tantrik order, as well as a philosopher, writer and showman.

Police described him in other ways, and staged frequent raids on his New York "Temple of Mystery," his later "Sanskrit College" and even his plush country club suburban retreat in succeeding years.

Various charges were brought against Oom but none ever stuck.

One was that he abducted two girls and held them captive in his "Sanskrit College." Another was that he soaked relatives of World War I soldiers $50 each to look through a mystery glass and see that their loved ones were faring safely on the battle front.

gained greater respectability—figures who took a fancy to him.

One of New York's foremost society matrons was said to have given him her fullest blessing, along with $200,000.

Defense Cuts Are More Likely With President Ill; Nixon May Yield to Budget-Balancers

Vice President Is Subject to More Pressure Than His Chief—Military Leaders Dismayed at Prospect of Further Reductions.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS

A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

Copyright, 1955, The Pulitzer Publishing Co.

DENVER, Sept. 28.

FORTUNATELY, in view of President Eisenhower's illness, this happens to be a comparatively quiet period when the pressure for decision from the White House is not great. Nevertheless, the consequences of delay and uncertainty can already be foreseen at a point where decision is vital.

Every effort had been made during the President's vacation to hold visitors from Washington to a minimum. When Harold Stassen flew to Denver to present the picture on disarmament in the United Nations to the President he had only 30 minutes with the Chief Executive before Mrs. Eisenhower left his offices for the golf course. Sometimes for several days the President had no appointments at all.

Significant Visitor.

It is all the more significant therefore that the only visitor on the appointment book for the Monday following his attack was Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson. Wilson was coming, it was generally understood, to put up to the President the essential facts on the basis of which the President would have to decide between balancing the budget and further reduction in the armed forces.

The budget-balancers, led by Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, have been saying that it would be necessary to cut one to one and a half billion dollars in defense spending if the budget for the next fiscal year—the campaign year budget—was to be balanced. Inasmuch as budgets for three successive years have gone unbalanced despite Republican promises, this is considered by Humphrey and the other economy advocates an absolute must.

Military Dismayed. But the chiefs of the armed services have been dismayed at the prospect of a further cut. They have warned privately, and with some hints in public, that it would mean reductions in force on such a scale as to make it impossible for the services to live up to the responsibilities defined for them by the National Security Council. The civilian service heads are said to feel almost as strongly about the threat of crippling economies.

This was the problem which Wilson was to have introduced on the President's vacation. Mr. Eisenhower would not have been compelled to reach a decision the following day or even the following week or month. As Press Secretary James C. Hagerty has pointed out, the final budgetary determinations for the government year beginning next July 1 are not reached until late November or early December. The budget is presented to Congress in January. The President could at his leisure have considered all aspects of what is perhaps the gravest and most far-reaching issue before the country.

Conceivably in the second phase of his illness—the convalescence at his Gettysburg farm—the doctors might feel that he was able to tackle such a weighty problem. But this is unlikely and certainly it would come late in the second month which is the convalescent stage. That would be close to the budgetary deadline.

Nixon Is Likely Arbitrator. What seems fairly obvious then is that Vice President Nixon, as acting President and as spokesman for the President on the National Security Council, will have to be the arbiter in arriving at a finding which the

Garfield and Wilson Cases Are Recalled

They Show Difficulties in Delegating President's Powers.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

THE two precedents in American history for a situation in which the President is unable to carry out his constitutional duties illustrate the difficulties President Eisenhower and his advisers will have in deciding what powers he shall retain and what he shall delegate during his convalescence from a heart stroke.

In President Eisenhower's case there is no need for immediate or drastic action to meet pressing domestic and international problems. History shows that when President James A. Garfield was fatally wounded by an assassin on July 2, 1881, and when President Woodrow Wilson suffered a paralytic stroke Sept. 26, 1919, there were no serious national consequences because of presidential inaction on current issues.

Later during his recovery, Mr. Eisenhower, with the assistance of his doctors, his family, his governmental and political advisers, undoubtedly will announce how far he will temporarily curtail his official duties. The decision cannot be made until the two-week emergency period of a coronary thrombosis has elapsed. His condition apparently is not comparable to that of Garfield or Wilson.

One Act in 80 Days. In the Garfield precedent, the President performed only one official act during the 80 days from the time he was shot by the crazed Giteau until his death on Sept. 19. This was the signing of an extradition paper. It is still an unsettled question how far President Wilson was actually incapacitated by his breakdown. He, his wife and his intimate advisers would not allow any action during his White House tenure, which ended in March 1921, that would have deprived him of his presidential authority. He dismissed Secretary of State Robert Lansing in February 1920 in a bitter letter asking: "Is it true, as I have been told, that during my illness you have frequently called the heads of the executive departments into conference?"

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, acting on his own authority, has called a meeting of the Eisenhower Cabinet and the National Security Council this week. Nixon has presided over these meetings in the past with the President's approval. During the Wilson illness, 28 bills became law at a special session of Congress without the presidential signature 10 days after they had reached the White House. Wilson did not attend a Cabinet meeting until April 13, 1920.

Wichita, Kan., on his League of Nations campaign. He had a second stroke at the White House 10 days later. He was kept secluded there and only Mrs. Wilson and Adm. Cary Grayson, his doctor, had access to him. Joseph Tumulty, his secretary, was rarely admitted and then with Mrs. Wilson present to caution about bringing up anything that might excite the President.

Mrs. Wilson reported later she studied incoming papers "and tried to digest and put in tabloid form" the things she thought should go to the President. Although she said she never made a decision on the disposition of public affairs she conceded she decided what was important and what was not and when to present matters to her husband.

Tumulty, in his memoirs, wrote that Lansing had suggested to him in October that in view of the President's "incapacity," Vice President Thomas R. Marshall should be called in to act. Lansing proposed that Tumulty or Dr. Grayson certify the disability. Both refused.

One reason for the refusal, according to the late Mark Sullivan, was that Dr. Hugh Young of Johns Hopkins had asserted he found Wilson "organically sound, able-minded and able-bodied."

Rumors about Wilson's health and incapacity spread throughout the world and the Senate appointed a committee to learn if the President was able to continue.

Eisenhower's Health Long Hush Subject

His Intimates Knew True Condition Just as Roosevelt's Did.

By DREW PEARSON
(Copyright, 1955.)

WASHINGTON. PRESIDENT EISENHOWER'S heart attack, coming simultaneously with publication of Harry Truman's memoirs, points to two vital facts in the lives of our Presidents:

1. Politicians don't want the public to know the truth about any President's health.

2. Medical checks should be given every presidential candidate in advance, and even more specialized medical care should be given a President after he takes office.

It has long been known to intimates of President Eisenhower and to newspaper men covering the White House that he had high blood pressure, just as it was known during the election campaign of 1944 to intimates of Franklin D. Roosevelt that the wear and tear of public office had made terrific inroads on his health.

Mr. Eisenhower himself is the only man who has been frank about it. He has consistently and repeatedly told the G.O.P. politicians who wanted him to run again that they could not depend on one man.

A year ago at a stag dinner attended by Vice President Nixon, Attorney General Brownell, Chairman Len Hall and other close political advisers, President Eisenhower made it clear that they should begin building up new G.O.P. leaders.

On another occasion, the President not only told Senator Bender and other Ohio Republicans about the health erosion of the presidency, but he ordered his press secretary to have his statement to Bender made known to the press.

FACTS WERE KNOWN. The facts about Mr. Eisenhower's health have been known to intimates for some time. John Gunther, in an extremely friendly book, inspired in part to boost Gen. Eisenhower for the nomination, touched briefly on his high blood pressure. Kay Summersby, in her book, "Eisenhower Was My Boss," tells how he

Strong Nationalist, Isolationist Policy for Argentina Indicated By Choice of Foreign Minister Amadeo's Appointment a Shock to Many in Radical Party Who Think He Was Nazi Sympathizer — Foe of 'Exploitation' by United States.

By RICHARD DUDMAN

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28.

APPOINTMENT of Dr. Mario Amadeo as foreign minister is the latest of a series of indications that the new provisional Argentine government intends to follow a policy of strong nationalism and isolationism.

The new administration, which took over last Friday after rebel army and navy units overthrew the dictatorship of President Juan D. Peron, appears indeed to be heading toward a lone-wolf policy much like the "third position" of Peron's earlier years.

Amadeo's appointment came as a shock to many in the Radical party, considering that his actions during World War II marked him as a Nazi sympathizer. He resigned from a high Foreign Office post when Argentina finally, in 1944, broke off relations with the Rome-Berlin Axis. He explained that he felt the action violated Argentina's historic policy of neutrality.

No Radicals in Cabinet. Objections by the Radicals—generally comparable to the Democrats in the United States—carry little weight in the provisional government. Not one Radical has been appointed to the new cabinet, although the Radical party was in power from 1916 to 1930 and remains Argentina's strongest political party next to the Peronista organization.

An associate of Amadeo described him as a close friend of Gen. Francisco Franco, the Spanish dictator. The new Foreign Minister, a prominent international lawyer, has taught at the Army and Navy war colleges, crusading for an "intransigent nationalism" against the United States. Once at an inter-American conference, former United States Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles called him "one of those young fanatics."

In the last year or so, Amadeo has modified his position and took the trouble to publish a pamphlet clarifying his views. He minimized any friendship he had for the Nazis and Fascists and presented himself as simply a pro-Argentine, comparable to isolationists in the United States.

Two Blocs Proposed. He proposed in this statement of views the creation of two Western Hemisphere blocs—an

ITALIAN DEPUTIES VOTE CONTINUED TIES WITH WEST

ROME, Sept. 28 (AP)—Italy's Chamber of Deputies voted 260 to 182 last night to endorse continuance of the Italian government's alliance with the West.

Foreign Minister Gaetano Martino said Italy's policy of "action in the heart of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has not changed."

Martino rejected leftist demands that Italy adopt a more neutral course in the "spirit of Geneva." He emphasized the country "cannot have two policies: one of the right hand the other of the left hand."

Martino said also that Italy is intensifying its campaign to get into the United Nations. Soviet vetoes have blocked it so far.

ROMANIA VOTES TO FREE POLITICAL, WAR PRISONERS

VIENNA, Sept. 28 (AP)—Romania's Communist parliament has decreed that all "foreign political prisoners and Romanian war criminals sentenced to terms below 10 years" will be freed, the Bucharest radio said yesterday.

Prisoners sentenced to terms above 10 years also will be released "if they participated in the war against Hitler or committed crimes under orders from third persons," the broadcast added.

The decree follows the line of moves taken recently by Soviet Russia.

S. AFRICA POLICE IN NATION-WIDE SECURITY RAIDS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Sept. 28 (UPI)—Detectives carried out simultaneous raids across South Africa yesterday in a search for evidence of treason, sedition and Communist activity.

Armed with warrants listing 48 different suspect organizations, the detectives entered private homes, union headquarters, doctors' offices and attorneys' chambers belonging to men of all races. Material seized ranged from checkbook stubs to political banners.

There were no disturbances. The nation-wide raids were believed to be the biggest since the passage of the Communist suppression act five years ago.

One of the offices raided belonged to Episcopal Father Trevor Huddleston at Rosettenville Priory in Johannesburg. Huddleston has championed Negro rights against the "apartheid" pro-white policies of the government.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Before the Election

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
It is unfortunate that President Eisenhower was stricken with a heart attack at this time. My prayers go for his speedy recovery.

Does not this point up the crying need of America to have younger men at the controls of our Government? Both Democrats and Republicans alike should give serious thought to this problem. Another very serious problem that we Americans have overlooked is the man second in line for President, should an act of God take or lay low the head of our wonderful nation.

We have had experiences in the past that should have made us more careful in our choice of candidates, but we seem to have ignored them. It is time to start a thinking campaign before we start an election campaign. There is plenty of time; we have a year.

MRS. OWEN BRADBURY.
Kirkwood.

Some Day

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
The abortion of justice in the Emmett Till trial in Mississippi leaves all decent people a little sick at heart.

Such a travesty of the American court system furnishes proof to the "Reds" of the insincerity of at least part of us.

There is one thing, however, for which all honest men can be thankful. Some day Milan and Bryant will come before the Perfect Judge where there is neither North nor South, nor black nor white.

WAYNE E. ROPER.
Collinsville.

No Mere Heresy

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I sincerely believe the greatest understatement of the year is contained in your reprint of Walter Lippmann's article from The Saturday Review regarding the United States Government's internal security program.

Mr. Lippmann, in his zeal to point up the excesses of our internal security apparatus, puts the threat of Communism in the same class with the threat of any political or religious heresy.

To describe Communism as a "heresy" is to overlook its most dangerous aspect as a threat to our internal security. Unlike the political heresies of, say, Norman Thomas, Huey Long, and Gerald L. Smith which have, generally speaking, been movements financed by domestic capital, sponsored by individuals or groups in this country and guided by American leadership, the "heresy" of Communism has the financial backing of a great foreign power, and is sponsored and led by individuals and groups under orders of that power.

Any student of the problem of internal security must by now be persuaded by Soviet actions that Communist activity in this country is part of a conspiracy to infiltrate, subvert and sabotage to the advantage of the U.S.S.R.

In other words, there is nothing truly domestic or indigenous about Communist activity in this country.

And to treat it as any other political heresy is to invite disaster. Our suspicions of Soviet aims are well founded and not mere "fear bred mythologies of the Cold War."

ELLARD B. HEFFERN.
University City.

What Peron Did

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The revolt against Peron has proved one thing for certain: It's unhealthy for a temporal government to tamper with the Roman Catholic Church. Peron cut off Government subsidies to the Church, discontinued the salaries paid by the Argentine Government to Church dignitaries, legalized divorce (against Catholic laws) and ended in oblivion.

IMPRESSED.

A Danger Faced . . .

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The pressure of union workers for more pay without even the pretense of added service, an illusory prosperity accompanied by excessive growth of debt, expensively subsidized farmers with declining income, inflationary influences rampant, and a standard of living borrowing from the future.

All these suggest an economic structure supported by stilts, and attest the dubiousness of the natural growth diagnosis.

William Vogt in "Roads to Survival" made a fair statement of the case. He said: "If the patient is flushed with tuberculosis, no one will benefit by pretending it is the high color of robust health."

Which brings me to the point of asking: Do you believe it better to encourage people to think that everything is on the up and up and let them ride for a fall? Or do you agree with the philosopher Li who says a danger faced is a danger nipped in the bud? WALTER SONNEBERG.
Philadelphia.

As to Constitution Day

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

On behalf of the Missouri Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, as well as the National Society, I wish to express our thanks and appreciation for the Church dignitaries, Constitution Day, "An Improving Climate," which appeared on Sept. 16, 1955. The words must have been read by a great number of Americans in the St. Louis area and so were very influential in securing an awareness of our Constitution.

WILLIAM PAGENSTECHE,
Past President, Missouri Society.

A Good Beginning

Vice President Nixon, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Attorney General Brownell and the other high-ranking Eisenhower Administration officials have made a good start in handling the extraordinary situation created by the President's heart attack. They have made this good beginning by not taking any unusual steps or engaging in any unusual moves.

The presidency must go on while the President lies ill in Denver. The Cabinet must meet. The National Security Council must deliberate. The State Department must go about its important work with respect to the coming Geneva conference and our foreign affairs generally.

The best way for all this to be done is with as little disturbance as possible. We question, for example, a proposal that is being advanced by Walter Lippmann. Writing on the page opposite, Mr. Lippmann thinks that this is the time to correct an ambiguity in the Constitution with reference to the present situation. The ambiguity arises from Article II, Section I, Clause 6 which says that "in case of inability (of the President) to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President."

The ambiguity, as Mr. Lippmann states it, arises from the words "the same." Do they refer to the office of the President? Or do they refer to the powers and duties of the office? It makes a difference of course.

Twice before has a President been incapacitated in office for a substantial period. The first time was in 1881 when President James A. Garfield lay wounded after an assassin's attack on his life. The second occasion was in 1919-20 when President Woodrow Wilson was an invalid as a consequence of a paralytic stroke. In neither instance did the Vice President assume the office of President. In neither did the Vice President take over the President's "powers and duties."

The Lippmann proposal is that a presidential message calling Congress into special session be prepared and presented to Mr. Eisenhower for his signature in the hospital in Denver. That would put Congress back in session long enough to pass a resolution concerning the present situation.

Unless there is more need for a special session than this suggests, it would be better in our opinion, not to assemble the members of the Senate and the House at this time. The one most consoling aspect of the President's illness was the country's immediate and unified response in a flood of non-partisan wishes for full recovery. Political strivings and partisanship will come onto the scene soon enough. The summoning of Congress would hasten that result.

As we have said, a special responsibility falls on Mr. Brownell, the chief legal adviser in the Administration. It would be reassuring for him to prepare a statement of orderly procedures that would relieve an anxious people concerning the conduct of the Government in the President's absence.

This statement could be issued on behalf of Mr. Eisenhower, perhaps by the Vice President, and thus allay any fears. The President must be spared many of the burdens of government, but at the same time the country is entitled to know that drift and uncertainty will be prevented through positive action in all departments.

Mr. Eisenhower, as a former military man, has established a chain-of-command military staff system in Washington. It served him when he was well. It should serve him even more significantly now that he is ill.

Into the Hurricane's Eye

The first plane in the 10-year history of the United States hurricane-hunter squadrons was lost Monday as it bucked and bored its way toward the center of a 110-mile-an-hour storm over the Caribbean off the coast of Honduras. A nine-man crew and two Canadian newspapermen went down in a twin-engine Neptune bomber.

Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard participate in these extremely dangerous weather reconnaissance flights which play a major part in the Gulf and Atlantic coast hurricane warning network. These professional troubleseekers maintain a constant alert, particularly for what might be called an "aerial doughnut" composed of wild winds raging counterclockwise around a small calm center known as the "eye" of the hurricane.

Such work frequently involves hours of hazardous flying through raging black walls of wind and water that buffet the plane and toss it about willy-nilly. As a plane goes in and out of storms, photographs are taken, weather observations made and findings radioed.

The Navy men who were lost were serving their country as faithfully as if they had died in war and their mission was a peaceful one. The two newspapermen were pursuing their profession. It is almost incredible that never before has a weather reconnaissance plane been lost. The 11 men who were lost were brave men who should not be forgotten.

Serious Slow-Down in U.S. Courts

The law's delays may be traditional, but they have become so protracted in the federal courts that in criminal cases they endanger a prisoner's right to speedy justice, while in civil cases they are costly and exasperating. Indeed Acting Attorney General William P. Rogers told Chief Justice Earl Warren at the United States Judicial Conference that they are becoming "a disgrace to our nation."

There was some improvement in the disposition of criminal cases in the last year, said Henry P. Chandler, director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, with only 8643 pending June 30, an improvement of 14 per cent. But unsettled civil cases on the same date stood at 68,832, about 1000 more than at the end of the previous fiscal year. Chandler also said that the "median time" for the disposal of civil cases had risen from 13.5 months to 14.6 months.

More revealing than this "median" was the information that litigants, some of whom can ill afford delays, are forced to wait for court or jury trials for such periods as four years or more in the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York, 22½ months in Massachusetts, 32 to 34 months in Pennsylvania, 23½ months in Eastern Louisiana, more than 25 months in Eastern Michigan, three years in one division of the Northern District of Ohio, 27 months in the Southern Ohio District, 29½ months in Colorado, and 23 months in Illinois.

Chief Judge John Biggs Jr. of the Third Circuit, a competent man, has been named chairman of a committee to find ways of speeding up the courts. He may recommend more seats on the federal bench. Undoubtedly he will also check on how much time judges actually spend on the bench. Some have accustomed themselves to an extraordinarily short working day. A three-months summer vacation is common, and one federal judge takes off five months. In this era of air-conditioning, it should be possible to lengthen the court year without undue hardships. Time also may be gained by relieving judges of purely administrative work.

Mr. Benson Confesses Error

Secretary Benson has now officially admitted before a congressional committee that he made a mistake in firing Wolf Ladejinsky as a security risk. His department's press release defending the firing was written, says Mr. Benson, "a bit too hard."

Mr. Benson says the records of Mr. Ladejinsky's security status have been corrected because "I do not want further injury done to Mr. Ladejinsky." This may be construed as an indirect admission that injury has been done to him. Mr. Benson says he has revised the Agriculture Department security review procedures, and recommended to President Eisenhower changes in the Administration's over-all security program. This may be construed as an admission that the security system which permitted a Ladejinsky case to happen was defective in the first place.

As an individual the Secretary of Agriculture is an upright, conscientious man. Why is it that as an office holder he has had to be pressed and pursued for months on end before he would grudgingly make these minimum admissions?

Mr. Benson fired Wolf Ladejinsky as agricultural attache at the Tokyo embassy last December. Weeks passed, Mr. Ladejinsky was hired by the F.O.A. and yet Mr. Benson did not express a word of regret or modify his Department's judgment of Mr. Ladejinsky until a persistent newspaperman, Clark R. Mollenhoff of The Des Moines Register, obtained a back-handed admission of error.

Mollenhoff kept inquiring at the White House, week after week, whether the Administration endorsed Mr. Benson's action. He finally got, on June 24, a White House letter which quoted Mr. Benson as indicating that "the press release, (on Ladejinsky) was probably written a bit too hard."

Mr. Benson has now made the phrase official but somehow these words do not seem quite adequate to describe an official statement which, without proof, branded Mr. Ladejinsky as unfit to be trusted by his Government. Secretary Benson can do much more to make amends than he has done. Why does he still resist a full-expression of deep regret for the harm done?

Top Man on REA

REA Administrator Ancher Nelsen, the present Administration's appointee, has not always seemed the most enthusiastic possible advocate of rural electrification. But what he said to the regional meeting here of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association leaves little to be desired. The recommendations of the second Hoover commission with respect to REA were made with too little study of their likely effect, Mr. Nelsen said.

The Hoover commission's proposals to make REA "independent" and to shift its source of credit from the Government to the banks showed deficiencies in other branches of study also. They showed deficient study of why REA was created—the failure of private sources to supply the credit. What more appropriate source of credit for non-profit power associations of private citizens could there be than the tax funds paid by those and other private citizens?

The money the Government has invested in co-operatives financed by REA loans is a good investment. It is not only safe, it is productive, and furthermore it is being promptly repaid. It is doing what Government money ought to do—improve the condition of the people. The ceiling set by Congress on the public debt has given the Administration something close to an obsession with liquidating investments, but the REA loans are one investment which could not be liquidated without far greater loss in public good than the amount that would be realized in dollars.

Studying World Politics

St. Louis: a city that can get all worked up over the Cardinals or the Veiled Prophet ball, but won't support a program of world politics discussion groups.

Is that a proper characterization of St. Louis? We do not like to think so, and as of this moment we do not know so. Yet it is a fact that the World Politics Discussion Group program, sponsored for the past three years by the St. Louis Council on World Affairs and the Adult Education Council, is in danger of withering away for lack of public participation.

The discussion groups, an outgrowth of the "great books" movement, are supported by the American Foundation for Political Education, which pays approximately two-thirds of their cost. They bring together citizens who want to study world affairs in the light of the great writings on such subjects as the causes of war, democracy, communism, power politics and international organization. Groups in every section of the metropolitan area are scheduled to start their fall sessions next week.

More than 100 cities are participating in this program, and we like to believe that St. Louis people are as interested in world affairs as those of any other city. Registrations are being received at the St. Louis Council on World Affairs, 418 Olive street.

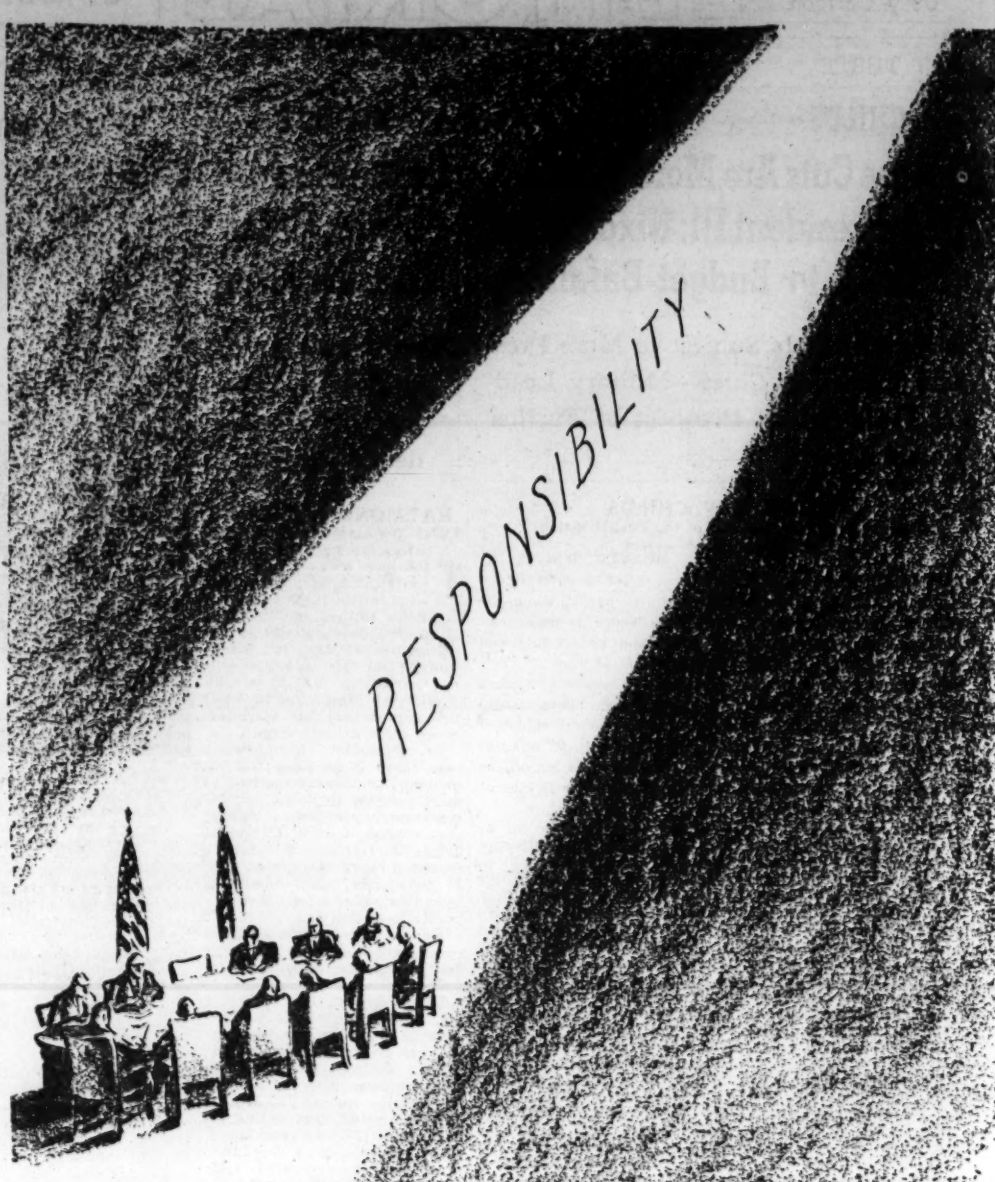

Hot Water for North Pole?

Damming the Bering strait, which separates Alaska and Siberia, and warming the Arctic ocean with Pacific waters pumped across by atomic power, would be no small task. Despite the fact that Bering strait is 55 miles wide at its narrowest point and about 180 feet deep, the Russians are thinking about doing this.

Alexander Markin of the Soviet Academy of Sciences said over Moscow radio that such a feat would transform the frozen north of Asia, North America and Europe into areas of temperate climate. However he did not say anything about the floods that might ensue from more or less complete melting of the polar ice cap.

This is not a new idea and ranks with such engineers' dreams as connecting England and France with a tunnel, putting a floating airbase in mid-Atlantic, turning the Sahara desert into a fertile area, damming the Congo river to create a great lake in Central Africa, and turning the Mediterranean into a lake by damming it at Gibraltar and Suez.

It may be that Russia some day will undertake the Bering project. Since one end of the dam would have to be anchored on Alaskan soil, something new in co-operation would be required between the United States and Russia, to say nothing of the other nations that would be affected by any decided changes of climate in the polar regions.

American Legion convention in Miami will show effects of split between right and left wings; ultranationalist group opposes U.N. and has upper hand in Legion hierarchy; Illinois Department reversed itself after first taking more liberal view.

From Two Dispatches to The Christian Science Monitor

By Richard L. Strout

WASHINGTON.

The right wing and the left wing of the politically potent American Legion have split over some of the most emotionally charged issues of American foreign policy.

The debate will culminate at the Legion's annual encampment at Miami, Oct. 1 to 13.

It has already brought the Legion national commander, Seaborn P. Collins, in head-on conflict with the $15,000,000, tax-exempt Fund for the Republic of which Robert Maynard Hutchins is the leading figure.

The American Legion, founded in Paris in March 1919, comprising veterans of the two world wars, numbers 2,800,000, and has generally been accounted a strong right-wing, nationalistic organization.

Ever since 1953 the Legion has condemned UNESCO—the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, an autonomous branch of U.N. It has charged it with being "atheistic" and "Communist."

Legion Shifts Its Fire
But a special Legion committee headed by Ray Murphy, former national commander from Iowa, after 18 months' study with access to State Department files, found the Legion charges "utterly without foundation." The report has now been privately printed and circulated with funds from unspecified sources.

The Fund for the Republic meanwhile, a now independent offshoot of the larger, tax-exempt Ford Foundation, has carried through a study of the federal security program, a study of Communism in the United States, and among other projects has helped finance a civil rights study made by the Illinois department of the Legion.

Paul G. Hoffman, head of Studebaker-Packard and a close friend of President Eisenhower, is chairman of the board of the Fund for the Republic.

National Commander Collins lifted his fire from UNESCO to the Fund for the Republic. He alleged that the Fund was trying to convince Americans that Communism is not a threat, that the real threat to civil liberties are forces pretending to fight Communism, that security measures are being used to harass innocent persons, and that the ignorant are being misled by demagogues.

Dr. Hutchins Singled Out

Mr. Collins singled out Dr. Hutchins, former head of the University of Chicago, for attack as "particularly unsuited" and warned Legion posts "to have no truck" with the Fund or its activities.

Washington observers recognized in these charges and countercharges echoes of the storm which centered around Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin, and the congressional debate over the problem of security risks and civil rights under the Constitution.

Because of the Legion's great contribution of membership to Congress in both parties, and because of its potent small-town political influence, the controversy is watched here. It is assumed that the now-dominant Collins group will put down "left-wing" revolts at the Miami meeting, yet the spokesmen for the dissidents appear not to be lacking in men of substance.

The fact that the debate should have occurred at all within the Legion is considered particularly interesting.

CHICAGO.

This is the state where only a year ago Irving Breakstone as state Legion commander launched the organization on an "Education for Freedom" project which marked a decidedly new Legion outlook, a veering away from what Mr. Breakstone asserts is the unrealistic viewpoint of the "ultraconservative clique" which, he says, had ruled the organization for years.

In carrying out this program, Mr. Breakstone said he was seeking "something more positive than the organization's former zeal in branding as disloyal those who did not subscribe to the Legion's version of loyalty." In a policy statement, he observed:

"In concentrating on the negative phase of fighting the enemy, we have neglected the positive phase of Americanism set forth in the preamble of the constitution of the Legion."

'Nobody Likes the U.N. But—'

The Breakstone program flourished; moreover, the state Legion received the best "press" in years, many papers finding in Mr. Breakstone's break with the past all that was needed for them to forgive and forget even such incidents as the one when the Illinois Legion branded the Girl Scout handbook as "un-American."

Now, however, at almost the precise moment that the top-level Legion study group was proclaiming that the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization "is no more subversive than the fairy tales of Hans Christian Andersen," the State Legion has passed a resolution which enunciates a complete opposition to UNESCO.

Furthermore, the conventioners approved a resolution calling for the United States to withdraw from the U.N.

In arguing for this U.N. resolution, Charles V. Falkenberg, a Chicago attorney, said that the United States should "regain the sovereignty that we have given away." He added, "Nobody likes the U.N. treaty but the national administration that have been in power."

The revolt against Mr. Breakstone was not a gentle one. Conventioners rapped the retiring commander soundly, refusing to let him lead the state delegation to the national convention in Miami—and thus depriving Mr. Breakstone of a customary courtesy.

Clique Controlled the Convention

Further, the delegates were quite critical of the speakers Mr. Breakstone had solicited. Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Harold Stassen, special assistant to the President for disarmament. Nearly half of the delegates rudely walked out on Gov. Williams while Mr. Breakstone was making the introduction. Mr. Stassen was received more courteously, although without enthusiasm.

Mr. Breakstone, interestingly enough, attaches little importance to the Legion uprising at the convention. He merely says, without a trace of bitterness, that the "ultraconservatives" just didn't like "my egghead liberalism."

He further charges that the "ultraconservative ruling clique" had packed the convention, that these rulers in no way reflected the actual sentiment of the American Legion.

"They are the World War II boys," he says. "The World War II boys are ones in the majority in Illinois, but they did not have a voice at this convention."

The Chicago Sun-Times, in supporting this view, says: "It's not too much to hope that one day the ordinary Legionnaires will make themselves heard and repudiate the leaders who only succeed in making the Legion look silly and irresponsible."

The Spike of Jealousy

DUST OVER THE CITY, by Andre Langvin (6, P. Putnam's Sons, 215 pgs., $3.50.)

When Dr. Alain Dubois brought his wife Madeleine to the little mining town of Macklin, he was embarking on two careers—that of medicine and of marriage. Within a few months, Dr. Dubois found himself well started on his medical career, but he felt that his marriage was not faring so well.

The town was small, of 6000 inhabitants, and it seemed perpetually covered by the dust from the mines, making everything drab and dull. To escape from its drabness and dullness, Madeleine sought refuge in movies and in the romantic love songs of the day.

She began to seem like a stranger to her husband, and even in the most intimate moments of their marriage she seemed to be more of a spectator than a participant.

The doctor realized that he had married his wife because of her spectacular beauty without knowing too much about her as a person, and now that they were married she was more difficult to know, as she slipped away from her husband into a love affair with one of the men of the town. Torn by jealousy her husband turned to drinking and let his medical practice slip through his hands.

Yet he could not put the blame for this affair entirely on his wife's shoulders, as he felt that marriage had given him the responsibility for his wife's soul and somewhere he had failed her. The problem was solved for the doctor, not through his actions, but through the actions of some of the townspeople and through his wife's pride.

"Dust Over the City" is an extremely perceptive story. Told in the first person by Dr. Dubois, it seems to strip the human heart of all its illusions and fancies, leaving it writhing bare on the spike of jealousy, tormented by lost love and driven almost into despair because of its inability to take any definite action. This novel won the French-Canadian literary prize, the Prix du Cercle du Livre de France in 1953, when it was first published in French.

Riches Are in Proportion

HOW TO LIVE WITH YOUR INVESTMENTS, by Linhart Stearns. (Simon and Schuster, Inc., 142 pgs., $2.95.)

According to Wall Street legend, it was Baron Rothschild who first observed that investment counseling could proceed only after the prospective investor had decided which he preferred—to eat well, or to sleep well. Reflecting on his quarter-century experience as a highly successful investment counselor, Linhart Stearns concludes that an investor can go a long way toward dehorning Rothschild's dilemma if he is capable of developing a realistic emotional investment philosophy. And the how to do it aspects of this excellent little volume are directed largely to that end.

In Stearns's view, two tasks face the nonprofessional investor. He must first determine his psychological and economic risk thresholds, and then do everything possible to minimize the risks he does in fact take. The first task is necessary because to produce satisfaction, investment decisions (risks) must, generally speaking, be within an individual's economic and risk threshold.

In Stearns's words, "A man is rich in proportion to the number of things he can let alone," and Stearns says, in effect, the happy investor is one who has learned what these things must be. His comments on some forms of investment anxiety, psychology of common stock ownership, among others, should prove helpful to the introspective non-professional.

Exercising a Sick President's Powers

WASHINGTON. THE PRESIDENT has been stricken at a moment when he is at the height of his popularity and his power. He has come to represent the hope of peace in the world and the unity of the nation at home.

We are left, his doctors tell us, with some days of anxious uncertainty, and beyond that with a task of carrying on through his convalescence for the rest of his term, and beyond that with the problem of his succession. We know that at the height of his popularity and his power, he has come to represent the hope of peace in the world and the unity of the nation at home.

Nixon

We are left, his doctors tell us, with some days of anxious uncertainty, and beyond that with a task of carrying on through his convalescence for the rest of his term, and beyond that with the problem of his succession. We know that at the height of his popularity and his power, he has come to represent the hope of peace in the world and the unity of the nation at home.

This is the lack of a clear rule as to how the Government is to be conducted when the President is ill. Almost certainly this defect will need to be corrected now. There is no reason to doubt that it can be corrected.

Office or Its Duties.

The root of the trouble is in a grammatical ambiguity in the text of the Constitution itself. It says (Article II, Section 1, Clause 6) that "in case of inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President."

The question is: To what do the words "the same" refer? Is it "the powers and duties" of the office of President which devolve on the Vice President? Or is it the office itself?

In other words, can the vice president discharge temporarily the powers and the duties of the President without himself becoming the President? Because of this uncertainty no President who was ill has ever allowed his powers and duties to devolve even temporarily on the Vice President. For it was not certain that he would still be President if and when he recovered.

Until President Recovers.

This ambiguity, which is due to faulty grammar, can be cured. There is very little doubt as to what the authors of the Constitution meant, and what they meant was what common sense and practical convenience now require.

They meant that when the President is incapacitated because he is ill, his powers and his duties, but not the office of President, are to be taken over by the Vice President.

The Vice President does not become the President. But he exercises the powers and duties of the President. For how long does he exercise them? "Until," says the Constitution, "the disability be removed," that is to say until the President is well enough to do his necessary work again.

There can be no serious doubt that this is the way the Constitution ought to work. Yet, as we know, it did not work that way during the prolonged illnesses of Garfield and of Wilson. Anyone who remembers the obscurity, the intrigue, and the confusion during Wilson's incapacity will wish to take no chance on its being repeated today.

The practical question is how "the powers and duties," but not the "office" can in a seemingly way be made to devolve temporarily and constitutionally on the Vice President Nixon. It is obvious that he cannot assume those powers and duties on his own initiative. How then is the temporary delegation to be effected?

Action by Congress.

The simplest procedure, it would seem, would be for the President to call Congress in special session and to send it a message saying that for the time being he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, and to ask that Congress by concurrent resolution agree that the powers and duties shall devolve temporarily on the Vice President.

That message can, of course, be prepared for the President. There is no reason to suppose that he is so ill that he could not sign it. This procedure would clear up once and for all the ambiguity of the Constitution. Without some such formal action Mr. Nixon will be in a most uncomfortable and confusing position.

The Vice President, though he acts as President pro tem, would continue to be Vice President. He would not take the presidential oath of office, and there would be no question at all but that Mr. Eisenhower is the President of the United States.

Must Follow Leader.

Although it is most desirable, indeed necessary, that the line of authority should be made clear, the problem posed by the President's illness remains a very serious one. There is bound to be a vacuum where he works so well as the representative and the leader of the nation.

This function of representation and of leadership is inherent in the office of President and of the man who fills that office. It cannot be delegated. The man who can be expected to act as the Vice President, when he is the acting President, will in the spirit as well as in the letter be bound in his policies and program to act as his conscience tells him.

Eisenhower would have acted. We may suppose that power of ultimate decision in the highest matters of state will for the time being be discharged by a group, in effect a council of state, consisting of the Vice President, the senior cabinet officers, and the party leaders of Congress.

The country will, I believe, feel more secure if the composition and the operations of this group are not left to chance or to the whims of the President. The country will want to feel sure that it knows how, during the President's disability, it is in fact being governed.

MRS. EISENHOWER VOICES THANKS FOR PRAYERS

DENVER, Sept. 28 (AP) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower expressed her deep gratitude to people all over the world who have prayed for the recovery of President Eisenhower.

"She has been comforted by the knowledge of these prayers and good thoughts," he said. "She has asked me to express through you her gratitude and that of the family to all those who have prayed and are praying for recovery of the President."

SYMPHONY TICKET CAMPAIGN BEGINS

Women's Association Has Breakfast, Hears Plea to Revitalize Interest.

The annual campaign to sell season tickets for concerts of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra was opened yesterday by the Women's Association of the St. Louis Symphony Society with a breakfast at Hotel Chase.

Volunteer workers from throughout the area received instructions from Mrs. Edward F. Schweich, vice chairman of the association in charge of the ticket drive. Edwin J. Spiegel, president of the society, and Alfred Fleishman, chairman of the board of directors, addressed the group.

Purpose of the drive is to sell as many season tickets as possible for this season's concerts, first of which will be presented Oct. 22 and 23 in Kiel Auditorium Opera House. The ticket selling campaign will run through Oct. 18.

Spiegel told the workers they had a real opportunity to revitalize community interest in the orchestra. Discussing long-range plans he said: "We cannot be satisfied with last year. We must become stronger and spread out the base of our activities. We should encourage talented young people of St. Louis to further their musical education, and we should look to the time when we can enlarge our orchestra."

"If we go broke," he added, "we'll at least go broke doing something." Prizes for top ticket sellers were announced. Top saleswoman will receive a silver tray; other prizes include shoes, handbags, a ham, bubble bath and a portable radio. Each person who sells eight tickets gets a free ticket.

UNITED FUND IS INDORSED BY MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE

The United Fund was indorsed yesterday by the Ministerial Alliance of Greater St. Louis, representing Protestant ministers of the city and county. They gladly call our congregations to a generous response to the United Fund and pledge ourselves to an abiding concern for the full expression of charity through our churches and our community's United Fund, the resolution stated.

Another resolution called on the churches to recognize the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Salvation Army in St. Louis Oct. 16.

Clergy and churches were asked to support the annual Reformation Day service of the Metropolitan Church Federation to be held Oct. 30 in Kiel Auditorium.

About 150 ministers attended yesterday's luncheon held at St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed Church, St. Louis and Warne avenues. They heard a lecture by the Rev. Dr. Allen G. Wehrli of Eden Theological Seminary, the first of three he will give on a lectureship honoring the Rev. Dr. Samuel D. Press, retired president of the seminary.

MRS. LUCY M. HENSELEY'S FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Lucy Nowlin Hensley, mother of St. Louis County Probate Judge David R. Hensley, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Montgomery City, Mo. Burial will be there.

Mrs. Hensley died yesterday of a stroke at Maplewood Nursing Home, 2200 Breddell avenue, Maplewood, where she lived. She was 77 years old. She had been principal of a school at Montgomery City from 1922 to 1935. She is survived by her son.

Edgar E. Rand, president of International Shoe Co., said labor, management, civic and welfare groups, the press and public "pulling together in five short months have formed the largest volunteer organization for health, welfare and character-building activities in the history of this community."

"There are a few campaigns, polio, heart and cancer," Rand said, "which could not be eliminated this year because

SAYS FIRMS SHOULD ANNOUNCE OWN GIFTS

Monsanto Official Asserts This Would Get United Fund Drive 'Off Ground.'

Most effective way to get the United Fund's first campaign "off the ground and away to a good start" is for a corporation to announce its own contribution, said Felix N. Williams, a vice president of Monsanto Chemical Co. today. He spoke at a labor-management luncheon at the Statler Hotel.

Speaking as a representative of management, Williams said: "The company gift is a concrete expression of what the company and its board of directors really think of the United Fund. It is no exaggeration to say that the corporation giving, which usually is determined in advance of employee solicitation, will determine in a large measure the final outcome of the campaign, not because of the money alone but because of the effect it will have on the entire campaign organization and the rank and file givers."

William A. Webb, executive secretary of the Central Trades and Labor Union, said: "It seems to us in organized labor that the United Fund has come up with the right answers. The United Fund makes it possible for the man in the shop, for instance, to know that his one gift will take care of all the services that have come together in this one big drive."

He added a big question has been how to make "a satisfying and generous pledge without hardship and sacrifice." The answer to that, he said, "is the payroll deduction plan, the only low man in an organized fashion."

Edgar E. Rand, president of International Shoe Co., said labor, management, civic and welfare groups, the press and public "pulling together in five short months have formed the largest volunteer organization for health, welfare and character-building activities in the history of this community."

"There are a few campaigns, polio, heart and cancer," Rand said, "which could not be eliminated this year because the national policy of those organizations will not permit them to join a United Fund. The door is still open to them, and we hope that some time in the future they will come in."

John Walsh, international representative, CIO Communications Workers of America, said: "We in the CIO do not view this plan as a bargain basement program but as a sensible method of meeting all of our community responsibilities, thereby assuring the maximum service from each dollar contributed."

WARNING TO DOCTORS ON INDIAN SNAKEROOT

Drug Used for High Blood Pressure May Be Depressive, Panel Says.

Physicians using rauwolfia, or Indian snakeroot, in treatment of high blood pressure must be on the lookout for depressive or psychotic symptoms caused by the drug in some patients, a panel of doctors said here today.

The panel, headed by Dr. Henry A. Schroeder, associate professor of medicine at Washington University School of Medicine, was part of the opening day's program of the twentieth annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Medical Society at Hotel Jefferson.

Dr. Schroeder and Dr. H. Mitchell Perry Jr., instructor of medicine at Washington University, reported that five persons suffering from high blood pressure, out of a total of 150 observed here in the last two years, had to undergo temporary hospitalization for mental treatment after taking rauwolfia.

5 Pct. of Patients. The drug's depressive effects show up only in about 5 per cent of patients, the physicians said, but may persist in obstinate cases a month or so after medication ceases. St. Louis experience with rauwolfia, used for its sedative effect, is to be told in a forthcoming issue of the American Medical Journal.

Major emphasis was placed by the panel on its view that great progress had been made in the treatment of hypertension, but that control of high blood pressure, or hypertension, by careful use of rauwolfia and other drugs that have recently entered the doctor's medical armory.

"The outlook for the hypertension patient is bright," Dr. Schroeder concluded. Other panelists were Dr. Joseph C. Edwards, instructor in clinical medicine at Washington University; Dr. Richard M. Schick of the Mayo Foundation, and Dr. Arthur C. Corcoran of the Cleveland (O.) Clinic.

Out-Patient Treatment. Dr. Edwards discussed techniques for treating high blood pressure on an out-patient basis, without hospitalization. He pointed out that some patients are so nervous on their first visit to the doctor's office that blood pressure readings taken at that time do not correctly reflect the person's condition.

Attention was called by Dr. Corcoran to the fact that the tremendous strides made in handling severe forms of high blood pressure had developed largely from use of drugs that suppress, rather than cure, the condition.

Dr. Corcoran said some patients, even though they may respond favorably to drug therapy, finally die or become disabled because of hardening of the arteries. Groundwork for the latter complication, he said, is laid by the pre-existing high blood pressure and the damaging process does not always stop when blood pressure is reduced.

"Until we find some means of treating and relieving such arterial disease," he said, "our treatment of hypertension (high blood pressure) must be regarded as of limited value."

Cigarettes and Cancer. In an earlier talk, Dr. William L. Watson, associate professor of surgery at New York University, said cigarette smoking was the most important factor

FARM TRACTORS TO PULL FLOATS IN V.P. PARADE

Light, farm-type tractors will be used to pull the floats in the Vellied Prophet parade next Wednesday night, replacing the heavier trailer tractors, which have been in use since the parade was motorized in 1946, a spokesman for His Mysterious Majesty said today.

The farm tractors are able to move more slowly and at a more even pace than the bulky trailer tractors, it was explained. Also drivers of the tractors will not be in cabs, which tended to divert attention from the parade.

Use of the farm tractors, supplied by the Midland Ford Tractor Co. at Robertson, will improve the view of the spectator, the spokesman said.

EUGENE P. HUNTER, PHOTOGRAPHER, DIES

Retired Post-Dispatch Employee Long Had Been Ill.

Eugene P. Hunter, retired Post-Dispatch photographer, died today at Barnes Hospital following a long illness. He was 57 years old and suffered from emphysema, a lung ailment.

Mr. Hunter, who retired two years ago because of illness, joined the Post-Dispatch staff in January, 1928. As a member of the Army Air Corps in World War I, he became interested in aerial photography and started an aerial photo service here following the war. When he turned to news photography.

In his career on the Post-Dispatch, Mr. Hunter was the first local news photographer to make pictures in the courts with the approval of the judges.

Among his notable news pictures were a series of five exposures taken in 19 seconds of James A. Doolittle, speed flyer and World War II Air Force hero, parachuting from a disabled plane at Parks Airport in the 1930s. Hunter made the series from the ground while Doolittle opened the canopy and dropped out of the inverted plane from an altitude of about 400 feet.

During his retirement, part of which was spent in Tucson, Ariz., Mr. Hunter turned to stereo color photography as a hobby. He made many photos in Tucson and in other Arizona areas.

Surviving are his wife, an employee of the personnel department of the Post-Dispatch, a brother, John B. Hunter, Wirephoto operator for the Associated Press. The Hunter home is at 735 Allegheny drive, Lemay.

HALL ENTREATS REPUBLICANS TO STAY OPTIMISTIC

Addresses G.O.P. Women — However, It's Woman Democrat Who Is Optimistic.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Republican leaders remained outwardly optimistic today about their party's 1956 prospects, despite President Eisenhower's illness.

But one outspoken veteran woman Democrat indicated she felt the unexpected turn of events, however regrettable, might improve her party's chances of electing a President next year.

Optimism was the keynote as Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall told G.O.P. women volunteers yesterday that Mr. Eisenhower would "lead our party in the way he wants it to go until . . . it becomes the majority party."

"Eplome of Optimism," Hall said that in his mind Mr. Eisenhower always epitomized optimism; that recently the President advised him "Be optimistic. Keep smiling."

"That is the spirit in which he would want us to carry forward—maybe adding a little more effort," Hall stated.

Pressed by reporters later as to whether his remarks indicated he felt Mr. Eisenhower would be a candidate for reelection in 1956, Hall said it would be inappropriate to speculate while the President is ill.

Asked for comment on Vice President Nixon's current role during Mr. Eisenhower's convalescence, Hall replied:

"It has been wonderful that the President has given greater responsibility to Vice President Nixon than has been given to any Vice President in the past."

"Certainly whether at home or in the foreign field, Mr. Nixon has performed magnificently."

Woman Democrat.
The woman Democrat, 85-year-old Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, touched on the President's illness during a talk yesterday at the Woman's National Democratic Club.

"I hate the way this sunshine has come to the Democratic party," she said, adding: "We must not be too sure and certain of ourselves."

Mrs. Harriman, a cousin by marriage of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and a former minister to Norway, slapped at Vice President Nixon, a favorite Democratic target during last year's congressional election campaign.

She told the Democratic women to be thankful Mr. Eisenhower's attack didn't come "just after he had been elected again, for then we would have had Nixon."

Mrs. Harriman did not explain how she believed the Eisenhower-Nixon situation would

BIDS ON 5 CITY PROJECTS BELOW ESTIMATED COST

They Are for Garbage Grinding Plant and Three Street Improvements.

Bids on five more bond issue improvements were opened yesterday by the Board of Public Service, and on each project the low bid was less than the estimated cost.

Eleven firms bid on construction of a $120,000 addition to the city's garbage grinding plant at Fifteenth and Gratiot streets. Albers Construction Co. apparently was low with a bid of $113,123.

There were five offers to supply and install the new grinding equipment. The anticipated cost was $110,000, but V. & M. Contracting Co. submitted a low bid of $71,100.

Missouri Petroleum Products Co. entered a low bid of $17,980 for undersiding the road-bed of Riverview boulevard between Scranton avenue and the Chain of Rocks Bridge. Anticipated cost was $25,000.

Granite Bituminous Co. submitted a low bid of $72,542 for resurfacing Riverview from Broadway to the bridge. The estimate was $85,000.

Bridges Paving Co., with a bid of $22,509, was low in competition for the job of resurfacing Arsenal street from Fifty-ninth street to Jamieson avenue. The estimate was $27,500.

R.A.F. DROPS AIR MARSHAL EMBRY FROM NATO POST

LONDON, Sept. 28 (UP)—The Royal Air Force today fired Air Chief Marshal Sir Basil Embry, NATO's commander of air forces in Central Europe.

The Air Ministry announced that Embry was being "placed on the retired list" and succeeded in the NATO position by Air Marshal Sir George Mills. Embry made no comment today, but three weeks ago he said publicly "I am being compulsorily retired—which means sacked—from the R.A.F." He didn't go into details.

The 53-year-old jet pilot was reported critical of the R.A.F.'s state of readiness. He left his wartime desk job to fly fighter missions, was shot down and imprisoned in World War II, but escaped from his prisoner compound.

No Harness.
CHICAGO (UP)—For the first time in 70 years, Montgomery Ward's special farm catalog lists no harnesses for work horses.

be any different after the 1956 election than it is now.

As for the Democratic presidential nominee, "We have so many fine men," she said. "It is hard to choose from among them. The poor Republicans! They have only one."

ISOLATIONISM FOR ARGENTINA SHOWN BY AMADEO CHOICE

States. Persons familiar with the pamphlet say it emphasized the strength of the United States as a fact that Argentina must realize. At the same time, Amadeo is said to have insisted that Argentina must not let itself be exploited by the United States or co-operate to the extent of giving up any of its own sovereignty.

Opposed Oil Contract.

Amadeo objected specifically, it is understood, to Peron's contract with the Standard Oil Company of California, which was pending when the dictator was overthrown.

The Standard Oil contract, significantly, also was assailed by Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi in his inaugural speech last Friday. He promised to break it off, describing it as "a deal which, according to so many respectable opinions including some abroad, is not to our benefit." He added: "I shall do everything necessary to obtain the technical material required to drill for oil on our own account. Maybe this will impose some small delay, but it is preferable to creating dangerous conditions which might even go beyond the political sphere."

The contract was awaiting ratification by the Argentine Congress when Peron was overthrown and the Congress was dissolved. It was to lapse automatically unless approved by Sept. 30.

Peron had backed the oil deal against strong opposition even within his own party, seeking to halt the present $12,000,000-a-month drain on foreign exchange resulting from oil importation. State Department officials backed the contract strongly though unofficially, seeing it as good for the Argentine economy and a good example to other South American countries.

40-Year Contract.

Under the 40-year contract Standard Oil would have had exploration and development rights in a southern Argentine tract starting at 19,000 square miles—just larger than Vermont and New Hampshire combined—and diminishing gradually. The company would have split the net profits fifty-fifty with the Government in lieu of taxes.

Slogans scrawled on walls during the revolution showed the importance of the oil issue. Someone wrote "Argentine oil will never belong to the Yankees" in Spanish under the brass doorplate of the United States Embassy. Other signs read "all the petroleum for the Argentines" and "YPF si California no." YPF, the government oil corporation, produces 85 per cent of the country's total output. Private firms have been barred from expansion for the last 20 years. Total production comes to only 40 per cent of the nation's oil consumption.

Short of Capital.

While Standard Oil was reported prepared to invest up to a half billion dollars here, the Government oil agency has been crippled by a shortage of capital. Both the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank) and the United States Government's Export-Import Bank of Washington have a policy against making loans for oil development. Both consider private sources of capital adequate for world oil development.

Argentina is not a member of the World Bank, but if it should join and seek an oil loan or else try to get one now from the Export-Import Bank, a refusal could become a new ground for anti-American feeling.

Some observers see a possibility that the United States will replace Ambassador Albert F. Nufer in order to promote good relations with the new government. Many among both the Radicals as well as the extreme nationalists prominent in the regime hope for a change. Some regard Nufer as one of the fallen dictator's props left over after the revolution.

Nufer did much to establish friendly relations with Peron in 1953, when Willard J. Beulac was named to succeed Nufer, the Peronist-controlled press raised a clamor of objection.

President Eisenhower reversed himself, left Nufer at Buenos Aires and sent Beulac to Chile. Critics connected the reversal with a friendly visit to Peron by Mr. Eisenhower's brother, Milton, and charged that the United States had permitted Peron to select its ambassador.

Safe Memo.

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—A motorist who asked the motor vehicles department for the number of his 1954 driver's license explained that it was still valuable, even though outdated. "That number was the combination to my safe," he said.

REDS IN MALAYA READY TO DISCUSS AMNESTY OFFER

MALACCA, Malaya, Sept. 28 (AP)—The central committee of the Malayan Communist party indicated today it is willing to discuss an amnesty offered to the Red rebel armies in the jungle by the Malayan federal government and British military authorities.

An unsigned letter sent to the president of the Malayan Chinese Association was the first Red response to the amnesty offer.

It said a complete cease-fire is essential to avoid further bloodshed, and expressed belief this could be achieved at an early date "if the British military authorities are sincere."

Sharp Hint.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—People who perched on a retaining wall and lawn outside a Memphis home while waiting for buses got a pointed reminder from the householder. No one sits there now. Cactus has been planted all over the area.

PRESIDENT'S JOB HARD TO SHIFT, HISTORY SHOWS

planning to petition for a writ of mandamus to force Arthur to assume presidential powers so that an auditor for the railroad's accounts could be appointed.

Constitutional authorities are divided over what can be done in the present situation while Congress is not in session. Some, like Dr. Edwin S. Corwin, professor emeritus of constitutional law at Princeton University, have said that President Eisenhower could ask Nixon to take action.

Other authorities, such as Dr. Ruth C. Silva, associate professor of political science at Pennsylvania State University and a student on presidential succession, has said that Congress by a concurrent resolution could determine who should wield the ultimate executive authority during the President's incapacity but that a constitutional amendment would be better.

One of the complexities, she said, would be in defining "inability" and in limiting conditions so that a President could resume his powers and duties. This subject is almost certain to be considered by the next session of Congress as a matter of permanent legislation regardless of Mr. Eisenhower's condition at the time.

INTIMATES AWARE OF EISENHOWER'S HEALTH PROBLEM

While the President's health, considering his age, has been reasonably good, his ruddy complexion is deceptive and he is not able to remain in the White House or at his desk for average periods of time. That is the reason for his golf, his trips to Augusta, and his occasional health problems which have been hushed up by those around him.

One incident, just before Gen. Eisenhower was to leave Paris to begin his open and public bid for the Republican nomination, illustrates the importance of having specialists on hand to watch the President's health.

This particular incident almost upset the nomination. The General was taken sick about 10 days before Gen. Matthew Ridgway was scheduled to relieve him as commander of SHAPE in Paris. To get Gen. Eisenhower back on his feet, his physician administered antibiotics, but the General seemed to get worse. He developed pink eye and ran such a high fever that he talked of moving troops and calling general staff meetings.

Meanwhile a group of high Republican politicians was in Paris waiting to see him. They were told he was meeting in top-secret NATO sessions dealing with the security of Europe.

Appearance Inescapable.

Days passed, however, and the time came for him to greet Gen. Ridgway, and say goodbye to the French. A public appearance became inescapable. Newspapers asked that he hold a press conference. The French Government asked if it could stage a farewell ceremony.

Finally, an all-day session of Gen. Eisenhower's closest advisers met to decide what should be done. It was attended by Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Gen. Anthony Drexel Biddle, Col. Pete Carroll and Arthur Vandenberg Jr., son of the late Senator from Michigan. At the meeting young Vandenberg flatly demanded that Gen. Eisenhower show up at a press conference. Otherwise, threatened Vandenberg, he would cable Senator Henry Cabot Lodge to have the General's name withdrawn from nomination.

In the end, a French specialist was called in. He diagnosed Gen. Eisenhower's condition as the result of an overdose of antibiotics. Within 48 hours the General was much better, though terribly weak—so weak that his aids did not know until just before Gen. Ridgway arrived whether they could dress Gen. Eisenhower for the occasion.

In the end, Gen. Eisenhower got to the airport to see Gen. Ridgway, though wearing dark glasses. His car was driven into the privacy of a hangar immediately afterward to let him rest.

These are some of the things that have long been more or less concealed from the public, just as the true state of Roosevelt's health was concealed during the campaign of 1944.

Private Industry Urges U.S. To Loosen Reins on Atom Data

Nation to Lose Lead Unless Government Gets Out of the Way, Forum Speakers Assert.

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (UP)—Private industry demanded a freer hand today in "selling the atom."

Its spokesmen asserted the Government still is keeping too many secrets—in both atomic and hydrogen power fields.

One speaker at the week's atom-for-profit forum asserted this country may lose its world lead in peacetime development of nuclear energy unless the Government gets out of industry's way.

For a year, ever since enactment of the atomic energy law of 1954, the Government has been turning more and more once secret information over to business.

It has done more in that one year than in the preceding 12 of the atomic era to free nuclear energy for private exploitation.

But Wilbur E. Kelley, vice president of the Catalytic Construction Co. of Philadelphia, told members of the Atomic Industrial Forum, Inc., that the Government still is holding the reins too tightly.

Noting "the tremendous strides taken by other nations in the nuclear field," Kelley said: "Whatever margin the United States may still have in some areas is rapidly being narrowed."

"The atomic industry of the future will thrive and be developed to its full potential," Kelley said, "only when it is fully released to normal, competitive, industrial practice."

Gen. Nichols Critical.
A former general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission criticized AEC secrecy. Maj. Gen. K. D. Nichols, now an engineering consultant to private industry, said:

"There should be a continued effort to . . . permit more and more declassification of information that is primarily of value to industrial application of atomic energy."

It was Nichols who said industry should be told more about the possibility of harnessing H-bomb (fusion) reactions. So far, the Government has done little more than admit it is studying the tough problem of controlling atomic fusion as well as fission for power.

"I believe," the former AEC official said, "that much of the information pertaining to the possibility of deriving electric energy from the fusion process could be declassified."

Francis K. McCune, general manager of General Electric's atomic products division, said United States corporations could do big business "selling the atom" to European buyers right now if Government restrictions were removed.

He referred specifically to supplying atomic fuel for exported power reactors. As of now the AEC has made no general arrangements under which atomic power plants sold abroad could be provided with fuel from this country.

Urges Declassification.
McCune added that more information must be "positively unclassified" if United States industry is to take full advantage of its foreign sales opportunities.

"I cannot visualize," he said, "a situation in which the owner of a reactor is barred from any data pertinent to its operation, safety, development, improvement, maintenance, or repair."

McCune painted a rosy picture of the "European market" for power reactors made in the U.S.—once fuel and information restrictions are removed.

Because of high conventional power costs, he said, Europe is ripe now for atomic power plants which would be uneconomical here.

Despite their criticism of government restrictions, McCune and other speakers were enthusiastic about the part atomic energy will play in supplying the 1,040,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity—a 250 per cent increase over the present rate—which this country is expected to require annually 10 years hence.

Robert Lehman, former chairman of the AEC's military liaison committee, said atomic energy is kicking off "a far greater industrial revolution than has ever occurred before in history."

NINE EUROPEAN REFUGEES GREETED ON ARRIVAL HERE

Nine refugees from Yugoslavia and Hungary spent their first night in their new homes here yesterday, after being greeted by friends and relatives at Union Station. Expressions of joy were voiced in Croatian, German and English by the formerly displaced persons.

Mat Lencaric, 4649 Heidelberg avenue, Gardenville, embraced his niece, Miss Danica Antic, a 39-year-old Yugoslav, for the first time. Richard Kreiner, Yugoslav photographer, with his wife, Petronella, and sister, Ernestina, went to the home of Anton Adler, 7141 Virginia avenue, their sponsor. Miss Luise Knaus, a Yugoslav, sponsored by Frank Schmidt, 1513 Kienlen avenue, Wellston, was another newcomer.

The Gessler family, from Hungary, were greeted proudly by Valentin Dittmann, 126 West Loretta avenue, Luxemburg, brother of Mrs. Anna Gessler. She traveled with her husband, Frans, and two daughters, Brigitte, 4, and Monika, 1.

11 Steps Toward a New Approach to Child Rearing

Most child psychologists have thrown away their "let the kids do as they please" theories of the past 20 years. Now, they say, parents should reassert their authority and be PARENTS again.

Howard Whitman, nationally-known writer on social problems, reports the news about this development in a series of articles, PARENTHOOD WITHOUT HOKUM, which will answer many of your child-rearing questions.

KNOWLAND SAYS PRESIDENT MAY TALK SOON ON '56

Californian Thinks Illness Will Hasten Announcement on Second Term.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Senator William F. Knowland (Rep.), California, suggested today the illness of President Eisenhower may cause the President to announce his views about a second term before the year's end.

In a meeting with reporters, Knowland said that even before illness he had felt that "in fairness to the country and the party," Mr. Eisenhower would make known his position about a second term by "late in January."

A reporter said he thought the President had hinted at an announcement in February or March.

Knowland quickly replied that would be "too late" because the filing date for some of the presidential primaries would expire before then.

Asked if the Eisenhower illness would cause a change, Knowland said the decision "might be advanced."

Regarded as Aspirant.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, has been widely regarded as a possible aspirant for the party's presidential nomination.

To questions as to possible candidates, in event Mr. Eisenhower removes himself from consideration, Knowland replied that it was "premature to speculate."

Knowland said that if Mr. Eisenhower decides to run again "he will have the united and harmonious support of California Republicans."

Knowland said also that he is confident the Republicans will win the election—if the national convention makes a choice other than Mr. Eisenhower.

Some months ago Knowland caused some surprise among Republicans by saying the party should not nominate "a reluctant candidate."

Asked about this today, he repeated several times that "any speculation is premature at the present time."

He was asked about a press dispatch from California that state Republican leaders would support Gov. Goodwin J. Knight as leader of the state's delegation to the 1956 convention. If Mr. Eisenhower does not run, the story indicated, Knight might be a favorite son candidate.

Knowland read this and then said that California's stand as to a Republican presidential nominee would be decided by all registered voters "and not by any few individuals."

Cites Party Unity.

He said that the California Republicans always had united behind the party's presidential nominee, and then added that if Mr. Eisenhower runs again, he would have solid support.

In some recent California party disputes, Knowland and Knight have been aligned against Vice President Nixon, also a G.O.P. presidential possibility.

Knowland said he agreed with the late Will Hays, one-time Republican national chairman, that "it is the job of the national committee to elect the nominees of the national convention, to select them."

Asked if he was protesting against efforts of National Chairman Hall in behalf of Mr. Eisenhower, Knowland smiled and said he was not.

Knowland said that California Democrats may be split on their party's presidential nominee this time as they were four years ago.

He said that Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem.), Tennessee, beat the Democratic state organization then and might do the same thing again this time.

PENNSY REORGANIZATION INTO 9 REGIONS APPROVED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad's board of directors today approved a management reorganization plan to take effect Nov. 1 throughout the system of the nation's largest railroad.

Basically the management changes will replace the P.R.R.'s present three regions and 18 divisions with nine autonomous regions—headquarters at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Buffalo, Baltimore and New York.

President James M. Symes said "the new plan has been prepared through studies which have been under way for more than a year and in which all of our major officers have participated."

COSTA RICA, UNITED FRUIT STILL TRY TO END STRIKE

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Sept. 28 (UP)—Government and company efforts to settle a week-long strike of 1600 banana workers against the United Fruit Co. continued today.

Labor Minister Otto Fialas and local United Fruit Co. manager Walter M. Hamer left San Jose yesterday for the strike-bound plantations in the Laurel area of southern Costa Rica to confer with strike leaders.

A United Fruit spokesman said that Isais Marchena, Communist leader of the banana workers union, was urging the strikers to stand firm in their demands. The union seeks recognition as a collective bargaining agent, a 15 percent wage increase and shorter work hours.

CALIFORNIA G.O.P. FIGHT SHAPING ON NIXON, KNIGHT

Scrap Certain if Eisenhower Steps Out—Knowland, Warren Also Factors.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 28 (AP)—California Republican leaders indicated informally today they will support Gov. Goodwin J. Knight in his declared intention to lead the state's delegation to the party's 1956 national convention.

Their position, as shown by a telephone survey, could offer a serious obstacle to White House hopes of California's Richard M. Nixon in the event President Eisenhower decides not to run again.

The possibility of Mr. Eisenhower's stepping out spun the state's Republicans dizzily on a political merry-go-round—with signs flashing by: Nixon? Knight? Knowland? Warren?

No matter where it stops, party sources acknowledged they are in for an intra-party fight if they can no longer count on Mr. Eisenhower's name on the ticket to keep peace among warring factions.

The prize is the second largest delegation to the San Francisco convention, ranked only by New York's.

Knight Cool to Nixon.

Gov. Knight, strongly pro-Eisenhower but pointedly cool toward Vice President Nixon, wasted no time in declaring his position after word of Mr. Eisenhower's heart attack: He hopes the President will recover his health and try for a second term. If he does, California will swing to him on the first ballot. If he does not, Knight intends to head the state delegation, probably as a favorite son candidate. California law rules out uninvited delegations.

A poll of other top Republicans indicated the state G.O.P. organization, which stuck by Knight in his showdown with pro-Nixon elements last year, appears willing to go along with the Governor.

Assemblyman Thomas W. Caldecott of Berkeley, state Republican chairman, said California unquestionably would have a favorite son candidate if Mr. Eisenhower drops out of the race.

Caldecott, along with Republican National Committeeman A. Donald Button of Hollywood and Committeewoman Marjorie Benedict of Berkeley, declined to choose sides for publication. But they are among supporters of former Gov. Earl Warren who switched allegiance to Knight after Warren went to the Supreme Court.

On a don't-quote-me basis, some Republican leaders said they would not expect Nixon followers to let Knight snap up the important state delegation without a fight. There was no comment from Nixon partisans.

They are known to feel it is too early for them to make an open move.

Nod From Eisenhower?

Neutral sources pointed out the entire situation might change if Nixon, who as Vice President holds little power over the state G.O.P., came to the convention as President or if he had the nod from Mr. Eisenhower. As it stands, though, Knight's political advisers are confident the Governor could defeat any Nixon attempt to pledge the delegation to him.

Knight has a powerful ally in Senator William F. Knowland, himself another Californian potent for President and strongly entrenched in the state party organization, as well as the successful Warren campaign setup.

Warren's friends have never forgiven Nixon for lining up second-choice support for Mr. Eisenhower in the 1952 California delegation pledged to the then Governor.

Knight, even before Mr. Eisenhower's illness, rejected overtures to include pro-Nixon members in a "coalition" delegation. His aim instead is a representative slate to be chosen by a group of "unquestioned" Republican leaders of statewide standing. Such a delegation undoubtedly would number some Nixon votes but, clearly, not as many as the Vice President's friends would like to see.

TYPHOON CHANGES COURSE, OKINAWA PUT ON ALERT

TOKYO (Thursdays) Sept. 29 (AP)—The most vicious typhoon of the season changed course last night and headed west for a possible glancing blow at the big United States base of Okinawa.

The United States Air Force said today typhoon Louise, which hit Iowa Jima Sunday, probably would miss southern Japan as it swirls through the Ryukyu Islands to the south.

Kinawa, in the southern part of the Ryukyus, was on a typhoon alert. Storm precautions were taken by Air Force and Army units Okinawa, where there are 9000 dependents of military personnel.

TRUMAN LIBRARY TO GET INTERCHANGE AT ENTRANCE

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Sept. 28 (AP)—The Missouri State Highway Commission plans to spend $575,000 for a highway interchange at the entrance to the Harry S. Truman library here.

The commission began condemnation proceedings yesterday in the Jackson County Circuit Court to acquire two pieces of property needed for the project. The state already has acquired 12 pieces of property by direct negotiation.

ISRAEL AND EGYPT LIKELY TO QUIT ZONE TOMORROW

JERUSALEM, Sept. 28 (AP)—Israel and Egypt are expected to withdraw their troops from the El Auja (Nizana) demilitarized zone by 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Both countries agreed conditionally to comply with a request by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, head of the United Nations truce supervisors' organization, that their troops quit the zone, 80 miles south of Gaza.

Burns originally asked that the troops get out by tonight but later extended the deadline 24 hours.

An Israeli Foreign Office spokesman said his government would comply, with the reservation the troops would remain at the zone border as long as Egypt kept forces on its side of the line. In Cairo, an Egyptian government spokesman said Egypt also had agreed to Burns' request "with certain reservations" which were not disclosed.

Israel sent about 70 troops into the zone Sept. 21, contending Egypt already had forces there and had removed Israeli markers on the border between the two countries. Egypt denied both charges but later said it had "been compelled as a protective measure" to enter the zone after the Israeli penetration.

BRITISH WARSHIPS TO TRADE VISITS WITH RED FLEET

MOSCOW, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Soviet government and the British embassy announced last night warships of the two countries will exchange visits Oct. 12 through Oct. 17.

A British squadron of six ships headed by the aircraft carrier Triumph will call at Leningrad, and six Russian warships led by the heavy cruiser Alexander Suvorov will visit the British naval base at Portsmouth.

The British squadron will move into Leningrad with full dress panoply.

Roaming the streets and squares of the fogbound old imperial capital will be 200 officers, 150 midshipmen, 1800 sailors and the gaily uniformed Royal Marine band.

Watching over them—in case there is any trouble as the target get acquainted with Russian vodka, Russian girls and Russian hospitality—British navy shore patrols in special British jeeps will patrol the city's streets in co-operation with the Leningrad militia. This is believed to be the first time foreign police have been invited to help keep order in Leningrad.

Buffalo Killed Belonged to Farmer Near Tipton

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 28 (UP)—Mystery of the ownership of the buffalo shot and killed near Ottumwa, Mo., was cleared up today.

The animal was part of a herd being raised by L. M. Thomas, a farmer who lives near Tipton, Mo.

A State Conservation Commission spokesman here said the commission received word of the owner's identity and sent an agent to investigate. A commission spokesman said the agent informed Thomas that he must immediately purchase a wildlife breeder's permit.

BRITAIN PUTS 12 FIGHTING SHIPS ON THE DISPOSAL LIST

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP)—The British Admiralty has placed the veteran aircraft carrier Indomitable, the light cruiser Argonaut and 10 destroyers and frigates on the disposal list. Eventually they may be broken up for scrap.

The Admiralty also added the 19,600-ton submarine depot ship Montclare to the list. It used to be a Canadian Pacific liner. Being on the list doesn't immediately doom the warships. They can be removed if refitting becomes an economic proposition.

U.S. OFFICIAL AND TITO TALK ON YUGOSLAV-SOVIET TIES

BELGRADE, Sept. 28 (AP)—United States Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy conferred yesterday with President Josip Tito Broz. A Yugoslav official taking part in the talks said "everything is good, things are all right."

Murphy's visit aims at clarifying Yugoslavia's position since the improvement in relations between Belgrade and the Soviet Union.

NEW AUSTRALIAN FORMULA ON HOW TO QUIT CIGARETTES

THE Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio, Copyright, 1955. SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 28—It looks as if Cigarettes Anonymous will create a new business for Alcoholics Anonymous here.

According to Daily Telegraph columnist Robert Kennedy, a new Cigarettes Anonymous group has one basic rule:

When you just have to smoke, you call up another member and he comes over to your house and gets drunk with you.

WIFE CRASHES INTO AUTO BUT MAN SELLS NEW CAR

DETROIT, Sept. 28 (AP)—"Was my husband ever pleased when I piled up the family car," Mrs. Dolores Haburne told a traffic court judge when charged with interfering with traffic.

"How is that?" asked the judge.

"First he was pleased because I wasn't hurt," said Mrs. Haburne. "Second, he was pleased because he's a car salesman and sold the man I hit a new car on the spot."

EISENHOWER'S ILLNESS HOLDING UP STATE TICKET

'Big Name' Hopefuls Delay Entering Races to See Whether President Will Run.

By HERBERT A. TRASK, State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

Plans of top Missouri Republican leaders to induce prominent persons to run for major state and congressional offices of the G.O.P. state ticket next year have been blocked, temporarily, at least, by the illness of President Eisenhower, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

Many of the potential Republican candidates who have been urged to run for Governor or for United States Senator are now expected to hold up their decisions until it is learned whether the President's recovery will permit him to seek a second term in the White House, or at least take an active part in the 1956 campaigns.

State G.O.P. leaders said they think it will attract "big-name" candidates in Missouri if Mr. Eisenhower heads the Republican ticket again.

Perry Compton of Montgomery City, state Republican chairman, said he thought many persons who are considering becoming candidates on the G.O.P. ticket are going to delay their decisions for a month or so.

Optimistic About Condition.

"I don't believe anyone will decide what to do until things 'jell' in Denver," Compton said. He added, however, that he was optimistic about the reports of the President's condition, and did not think the "picture" was as dark as it could have been.

Barak T. Mattingly, who is closely associated with the political advisers to the Eisenhower Administration, said the problem of inducing outstanding men to seek state office in Missouri might be complicated if President Eisenhower does not seek re-election, but he contended the problem could be overcome.

"It may be harder, but not impossible," he declared. "Too many candidates would like to run on the coattails of a popular President and just let him carry the load."

"Actually, it takes more than just a popular and strong candidate at the top of the ticket. It takes a mighty strong state party organization and a good campaign. We expect to have both in 1956."

A. D. (Bud) Welsh, G.O.P. national committeeman for Missouri, said the President's illness would affect the decisions of some possible candidates at this time. But he added that he thought it would make little difference on a long range basis. If a person wants to run, he will, regardless of whether Mr. Eisenhower seeks a second term, Welsh said.

Wilbur F. Daniels of Fayette, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, said he thought the President's illness might bring out additional candidates for Democratic nominations. Many will think they will have a better chance of winning if the President does not run again, he said.

Coburn Urged to Run.

Recently, a group of St. Louis Republicans headed by Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann, president of the Chamber of Commerce, urged Richmond C. Coburn, St. Louis attorney, to make the race for Governor.

United States Representative Thomas B. Curtis of Webster Groves also has been urged to run for Governor, and has been giving this serious consideration.

Other St. Louis Republicans believe that Former Representative Claude I. Bakewell would make a strong candidate, either for Governor or for United States Senator.

Also in the picture for either of these offices is Forrest C. Donnell, who previously served both as Governor and as Senator.

In outstate Missouri, there has been talk in Republican circles of the possibility of former State Senator R. Jasper Smith of Springfield, or State Senator Leo J. Rozier of Perryville running for United States Senator. There also has been some talk that United States Attorney Edward J. Scheufler of Kansas City is interested in this race.

Possible outstate candidates for the G.O.P. nomination for Governor include State Senator James P. Kelly of Trenton, and Circuit Judge Randolph H. Weber of Poplar Bluff.

SPECTATOR AT HORSE SHOW LASSOED; INJURIES FATAL

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 28 (AP)—A man who was lassoed by another spectator in an unscheduled rodeo act at a horse show died yesterday in the Jersey City medical center.

Victor Ochelli, 32 years old, of Hoboken, died from internal and brain injuries, hospital authorities said.

Policemen said he and Joseph Pantozzi, 21, had come down from the stands during a horse show Sunday. Pantozzi roped his friend and then Ochelli pawed the ground in an imitation of a bull. Suddenly blood gushed from his mouth and he fell unconscious to the ground.

The position of the rope at the time was not disclosed by police.

Pantozzi was quoted by police as saying, "I didn't mean to hurt the fellow. We were just having a lot of fun." He was charged with manslaughter.

LEADERS HAIL INTEGRATION OF POWER SYSTEMS

Rural Co-op Rates Cut and Capacity Boosted 10 Pct., Regional Delegates Say.

Integration of public power facilities under the Southwestern Power Administration has meant lower rates and a 10 per cent increase in the capacity of the system, National Rural Electric Co-operative Association leaders said here yesterday.

The officials, attending a two-day regional meeting at Hotel Jefferson, said the integration under SPA cut rates temporarily by as much as half. Higher rates will go into effect in the future, but there will be a substantial net saving for rural and urban customers, they said.

The integration became effective in July, as soon as Congress authorized SPA to use up to $6,000,000 this fiscal year in payments on contracts made with co-operatives several years before. For two years, the payments had been held up by Congressional and Interior Department action.

Rates to Go Up.
SPA Administrator Douglas G. Wright told the regional delegates that now, under integration, "there isn't anybody who can keep you from getting power."

He said studies are under way toward revision of SPA rates, which will rise to absorb increased construction, maintenance and other costs.

Wright said he thought the rate would rise from the present 5.6 mills per kilowatt hour to from 7.5 to 8 and from 9 to 10 mills, depending on the load factor used by the individual wholesale customer.

Under the integrated system—for which facilities were physically ready long before the Congressional action in July—the generating plants of SPA, co-operatives and municipalities form a power "pool," linked by transmission lines.

Each of these public wholesalers feeds its power into the system and withdraws for retail use what it needs, according to agreements.

No Flexibility Previously.
Prior to July, the systems were forced to operate independently because SPA did not have the authorized financial flexibility to act fully as power marketer, buying what the co-operatives produced and selling back what they needed.

Officers of the REA groups said the efficient use of power made possible by integration added 50,000 kilowatts to the system, which has nearly 500,000 kilowatts capacity and serves 1,650,000 persons in the area roughly bounded by St. Louis, Kansas City, New Orleans and San Antonio, Tex.

REA leaders expressed satisfaction with their position now, remarking that they would be able to bargain on a more equal basis with private electric utilities. They have charged that the utilities were helped by Republican power policies in driving hard bargains with public power groups.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE GIVEN BOY IN FAKE S O S BROADCAST

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—A tearful father pleaded in court today to be permitted to serve any jail term imposed on his son for sending out a fake S O S call. But neither father nor son will have to do it.

United States District Judge Mortimer W. Byers gave a suspended sentence to George Patrick Teen Jr., 16 years old, and put him on two years' probation for his part in broadcasting a false alarm that set off a Coast Guard rescue search.

Another youth, Thomas Maldona, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced to an indeterminate term of up to six years at the federal correctional institution at Ashland, Ky.

In court, Teen's father, George Patrick Teen Sr., of Asbury Park, N.J., appealed to the judge not to imprison the boy, saying: "He's just a baby. Let me go to jail instead of him, if necessary."

Teen and Maldona broke into the cabin of a moored fishing vessel July 7 and sent out a series of S O S calls that a ship, the Blue Star, was afire and sinking and that some of its 21 passengers had been picked up by a foreign submarine. The Coast Guard made a major search, which cost the Government about $50,000.

MARION DAVIES BROWN ASKS FOR $37,819 TAX REFUND

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (AP)—Former movie star Marion Davies Brown has sued for the return of $37,819.27 in California sales taxes which she says is being illegally held by the state. She says in her complaint that the tax was paid under protest after she had been assessed by the state board of equalization on personal property.

Her lawyer says she disposed of more than $1,000,000 worth of personal property between July 1945 and September 1952, most of it oil paintings, and he contends that inasmuch as she is not regularly in the business of buying and selling, the mercantile-type sales tax does not apply to her.

She is the wife of Capt. Horace Brown, formerly of the merchant marine.

U.S. Tourist Drives to Moscow, First to Do So Since the War

Delayed 12 Hours at Finnish Border, Rest of Trip Without Incident.

MOSCOW, Sept. 28 (UP)—Brethold F. Schulz, a Chicago dentist, casually drove his automobile into Moscow Monday, unannounced.

He was the first tourist of any nationality to enter the Soviet Union by car and drive to Moscow since World War II, and possibly since the 1917 revolution.

He was surprised at the consternation he caused.

The 42-year-old bachelor dentist was delayed 12 hours at the border by Finns unwilling for him to leave Finland and by Russian border guards who had no high-ranking authorities present to pass him.

That difficulty was remedied when the Finns telephoned for instructions and a Russian sergeant fired two shots into the air and a lieutenant galloped up on a horse and hour later and let him through.

Most of the consternation he caused was at the American embassy where he drove up and announced he had just spent three days driving from the Finnish border via Leningrad where he stopped off for some sightseeing.

Schulz spent two nights en route sleeping in his car by the roadside and Monday night in his car in Moscow on a public square before getting himself established comfortably at Moscow's Hotel National at the bargain third class tourist rate of $10 a day, including meals.

Schulz said he had traveled through most of the world by automobile and had no trouble entering the Soviet Union except for the delay at the border. He said he had a one-month visa but his travel plans were still unsettled.

Schulz said Soviet border officials did not open a single bag after he told them he was bringing only personal belongings including four cameras, one of them a movie camera.

"They just looked at my international triptyque (customs pass) which guarantees that I won't sell the car in any foreign country I visit and waved me on," he said. He got the triptyque in London when he bought his British Land Rover, a small station wagon.

He said he spent the first night between Viborg and Leningrad and was awakened by a Russian in uniform who motioned for him to move on. He parked then by a railroad station where two policemen stayed by the car throughout the night. During his second night in the car south of Leningrad he was not disturbed.

"Maybe they have hotels or motels or tourist cabins along the road but I didn't see any," he said. "Anyway, I had enough food with me so that was no problem."

"It's one full day's drive from Leningrad to Moscow and it's a good highway all the way except about 100 miles which is under construction," he said. "But it looked as though it would all be well paved by next year."

NAVY CHIEF ORDERING TOP AIDS TO SLOW UP

Adm. Burke Personally 'Passing the Word' Because of Heart Attacks.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (UP)—Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, has become so concerned about heart attacks among his high ranking officers that he personally is "passing the word" for them to take it easy.

The problem was pointed up this week when the Navy announced the death of R. Adm. John R. Perry, 56 years old, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, as the result of a coronary thrombosis, the same ailment which struck President Eisenhower.

The Navy also announced that R. Adm. George C. Weaver, 50, vice chief of navy materiel, had suffered a heart attack and had been taken to the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md.

R. Adm. B. W. Hogan, chief of medicine and surgery, said "stresses and strains" on higher ranking officers, because of their age and responsibilities, tend to "trigger off" hypertension, coronary artery disease and duodenal ulcers.

Hogan told a reporter he made a study of the incidence of such ailments among officers and recommended that they take regular periods off for recreation and relaxation.

"I recommended that they get away for more frequent leave periods," Hogan said. "Frequent periods during the year are better than waiting to take all of the 30 days' leave at once."

By the time they accumulate the annual 30 days' leave, he said, they are "pretty tired out" and then before the 30 days' vacation is over they get restless.

Hogan said he also recommended that officers take off a half day each week for golf or fishing "for just sleep." He said this would help break up the "stresses and strains" which "constantly pound" some officers.

The Marine Corps already has carried out the recommendations with a formal directive. The Air Force, plagued by a recent flurry of heart attacks among its generals, also has ordered regular rest and recreation for officers to help prevent such attacks.

ALVA L. CROW APPOINTED KIRKWOOD SCHOOL HEAD

Alva L. Crow will assume the post of superintendent of schools for the Kirkwood School District Nov. 1, F. Burton Sawyer, president of the school board, announced today. Crow is presently superintendent of schools at Jefferson City and president of the Missouri Association of School Administrators.

A 10-man screening committee, including all six board members, unanimously recommended the appointment of Crow, Sawyer said. The group had applications from 60 candidates. The Kirkwood School District has about 6600 pupils, serving Kirkwood, most of Glendale, Oakland and Des Peres, and parts of unincorporated areas in St. Louis county.

CIGARETTE USE RISING DESPITE HEALTH DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Department of Agriculture reported today that Americans are smoking more cigarettes now than at any time in the "main impact" of the cigarettes-health controversy apparently has passed.

Reporting on "the tobacco situation," the department said Americans 15 years and older will smoke an average of nearly 10 pounds of tobacco in cigarettes during 1955. That would crease over last year's figure but fall 4.8 per cent shy of the 1953 figure—a record high.

Without elaborating, the report said: "The main impact of the publicity concerning cigarettes and health on cigarette consumption appears to have occurred during 1954."

Medical authorities have made numerous studies, some of them with conflicting conclusions, on a possible relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

The department said it expected cigarette smoking to continue on an upward trend next year. Over-all tobacco consumption has increased represent a 1.2 per cent in slightly this year but is 4½ per cent below that of 1952 and 1953.

G. M. MUELLER TO RETIRE

George M. Mueller, chief clerk in the City Marshal's office in the Municipal Courts Building for the past 14 years, will retire from the position Saturday. His co-workers gave him a gold marshal's badge as a going away present.

Mueller, who lives at 7453 Whitehaven avenue, St. Louis county, retired as office manager of an insurance company in 1935. After being idle for seven years he obtained the position in the marshal's office.

NORWAY FREIGHTER STRAFED IN RED PORT

Two Killed on Ship in Chinese Waters in Attack by Thunderjets.

HONG KONG, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Norwegian freighter Hou arrived in Hong Kong today after an air attack off Swatow in which two Chinese were killed and seven persons including the Norwegian captain were wounded.

A ship's officer said two Thunderjets of "unknown" nationality attacked the 3394-ton freighter yesterday afternoon as it was entering Swatow harbor, on the Communist Chinese mainland due west of Formosa's southern tip.

The ship, under charter to the Jeb Shun Co. of Hong Kong, was flying the Red Chinese flag at the time of the attack.

Crewmen said the planes circled the ship, riddling its starboard side from bow to stern and from the waterline to the top of its funnel with machine-gun bullets.

(Nationalist Chinese patrol planes strafed a "Communist" freighter north of Swatow Tuesday, according to a Nationalist air force announcement in Taipei, Formosa, the United Press said. The communique said the freighter was "heavily damaged.")

The freighter captain, A. Fjeldheim of Oslo, was hospitalized with a flesh wound in his leg. The other injured were Chinese passengers. Ninety-nine other passengers, 80 Chinese crewmen and nine European crewmen escaped injury.

The Chinese Nationalists detained the Hou in Keelung, Formosa, in 1950.

The Jeb Shun Co. earlier this year lost the freighter Edendale when Nationalist planes sank it in Swatow harbor.

QUEEN'S AUNT OPENS CANADIAN TOUR ON FRIDAY

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP)—The princess royal, aunt of Queen Elizabeth II and only sister of the Duke of Windsor, is arriving in Quebec Friday for a month's tour of Canada.

Seldom seen in London, graying 58-year-old Princess Mary prefers to remain in the background of royal and other official hub-bub. Quietly, she has devoted a lifetime to charity, hospital, social service and Red Cross work, the Girl Scout movement—and to family life.

Her first visit to Canada is one of her rare official tours. She will travel across the country—Montreal, Niagara Falls, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Her father, George V, following custom, granted her the style "Princess Royal," customarily granted the eldest daughter of a sovereign.

Her mother, the late Queen Mary, taught her the domestic arts. Her marriage in 1922 to Viscount Lascelles, son of one of Yorkshire's great landowners, was the first between a commoner and a sovereign's daughter in many years. He died in 1947. They had two sons, the present Earl of Harewood and Gerald Davis Lascelles.

TWO HOMES BROKEN INTO, $223 AND JEWELRY STOLEN

Homes of John A. Woodbridge at 25 Washington terrace and Earl E. Erickson, 29 Washington terrace, were entered by burglars last night while residents were asleep, police reported. A total of $223 and a quantity of jewelry were taken.

Woodbridge, vice president and general counsel of Union Electric Co., said admission to his home was gained by placing a four-foot ladder near a dining room window. He said $7 taken from Mrs. Woodbridge's purse and $151 from his billfold and clothing.

Burglars got into the residence of Erickson, president of L. B. Price Mercantile Co., by punching holes in a screen porch and opening a door. Entering the bedroom, they took jewelry valued at $3000 and a billfold containing $65, it was reported.

3 MORE OFFSHORE RADAR STATIONS TO BE BUILT SOON

BOSTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Three more Texas towers, Air Force offshore radar stations that eventually will form part of an Atlantic defense ring for North America, are soon to be constructed.

The Navy announced today bids are now being accepted here for contractors. They will be opened Nov. 1.

The contracts will be awarded by Nov. 20 and completion of the three towers is expected in 1956.

The first of the radar stations, given the "Texas" label because of the resemblance to off-shore oil-drilling rigs used in the Gulf of Mexico, now is being set up on Georges Bank, 110 miles east of Cape Cod.

MISSOURI CANCER MORTALITY RISES AT REDUCED RATE

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 28 (UP)—Cancer claimed 6845 victims in Missouri in 1954. For the sixth straight year, more men than women died of the disease.

Clyde A. Bridger, state director of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, said there were 87 more deaths from cancer last year than in 1953—the smallest increase within the last four years.

The health official's report showed 3546 men and 3299 women died of the disease last year. Major killer of men was lung cancer, which claimed 612 victims among men and 133 women. Leading cause of death for women was cancer of the breast, the report showed, which took 591 lives.

The report showed that 117 persons under 20 years of age died of cancer. Also, 2869 of the victims last year were between the ages of 40 and 65.

A map listing cancer deaths for each county in Missouri showed 2449 deaths in St. Louis and St. Louis county and 961 in Jackson county. Buchanan county had 179 cancer deaths, Jasper county 149, Greene county 183 and Clay county 68.

Counties with the lowest number of victims, nine each, were Ralls, Hickory and Reynolds counties.

I Want a Heart to Heart Talk with Everyone Wearing False Teeth!

I had fourteen upper and lower teeth extracted at eight o'clock in the morning and full upper and lower plates slipped in my mouth at three o'clock in the afternoon. It was agony, but being a salesman, I couldn't go around without teeth and I couldn't afford to stay out of circulation while my gums healed up.

Anyway, my dentist told me it was better to put the plates right in if I could stand the pain. I thought I'd never live thru those first few weeks but somehow I managed to survive. He also told me that everybody's gums shrink after teeth are extracted and my shrinkage would be worse than usual because I had a bad case of pyorrhea. How right he was. I'll never forget trying to close a big contract and lost it because my teeth fell right out on the buyer's desk. Was I embarrassed? I'll tell the world.

Did I ever get back to my dentist the next day. Of course, he had warned me about the shrinkage so I really couldn't blame him because my plates loosened up. There was nothing to do but let him take another impression and make two new plates. I thought I was all set for awhile, but no such luck. It was only a couple of months before my plates loosened up again and my gums got awfully sore.

I couldn't afford another set of teeth right away because business hadn't been so good. So I tried powders and sticks but they were messy and a pain in the neck. Every time I ate, I had to duck into a washroom and clean my plates. I thought I would go "nuts"—when a miracle happened! A friend told me about Snugg's brand Denture Cushions. I didn't believe him at first, until he took out his teeth and showed me how this new soft plastic had tightened up his plates. Believe me! I tore right down to the drug store and bought a package—took them home—and, in a few minutes after following the simple directions, my plates were completely re-lined—tight as a drum.

I was like a new person. I could eat anything—corn on the cob or chew the toughest steak. I could talk my head off and never worry about losing my teeth. Another thing I found out—Snugg brand Denture Cushions were so easy to clean. All I had to do was brush them with cold water. How long did they last? Well, in my case they lasted about two months. And then it was a simple matter to peel out the plastic and put in another set of cushions. Because Snugg brand Denture Cushions are soft plastics, they never get hard or stick so tight that they ruin your plates.

And so my friends, why don't you profit by my experience. Don't blame your dentist if your gums shrink and your plates loosen up—get Snugg brand Denture Cushions and enjoy tight-fitting false teeth. Forget you ever had sore gums due to loose fitting dentures. See your druggist and you will thank the day you laid down $1.50 for Snugg brand Denture Cushions. If you are not satisfied, the manufacturer will refund your money. What could be fairer?

Yours for tighter teeth,
Joseph Snugg

It's important for you to know how BUFFERIN[®] acts twice as fast as aspirin to relieve your pain

1. Pain-relieving ingredients must get into the blood stream

For years, medical science has known that pain-relieving agents in tablet form must get into the blood stream in order to give relief.

That's one of the reasons why, in many cases of very severe pain, doctors inject pain-relieving ingredients directly into the body so that they get into the blood stream faster.

So, naturally, the faster a pain-relieving agent that you swallow can get out of the stomach and into the blood stream, the faster it can go to work. Bufferin assures this faster action!

3. Medically Proved

Bufferin's speedy absorption was studied for four years before a tablet was sold. Seven more years of research added such extra proof of speed as this:

In a well-known clinic one group took aspirin, another took Bufferin. The Bufferin group had more pain-relieving ingredient in the blood stream in ten minutes than the aspirin takers had in twenty minutes. Bufferin acts fast to relieve your pain. And, because Bufferin contains antacid ingredients, it won't upset your stomach, as aspirin often does.

CATCHING COLD?
TAKE BUFFERIN!
Acts twice as fast as aspirin to relieve cold miseries.

Most people take Two Bufferin Tablets as a normal dose.

If you suffer from pain of Arthritis or Rheumatism, ask your physician about Bufferin

HOMICIDE VERDICT IN AUTO DEATH

Coroner's Jury Recommends Driver Be Held for Grand Jury.

A coroner's verdict of homicide was returned today at Clayton in the death of Clifford W. Johnston, 15 years old, who was injured fatally Monday when an automobile in which he was a passenger failed to round a curve on a St. Louis county road.

The jury recommended that Frank J. Martinez, 17 years old, the driver, be held for the county grand jury. Martinez, who lives at 7417 Michigan avenue, was released on $1000 bond.

The only witness was a Missouri Highway Patrolman, who testified the machine skidded 195 feet and turned over. The crash occurred on Pine road, one mile east of Telegraph road.

Johnston, son of Mrs. Cecelia Richards, 146 Betty Jean lane, Lemay, died early yesterday at St. Joseph Hospital, Kirkwood. Two other passengers in the machine were injured.

2 BONN PARTIES FAVOR CHANGE IN PARIS TREATIES
BONN, Sept. 28 (UP)—Two strong West German political parties today urged modification of the Paris treaties which call for rearming West Germany as a NATO member.

Thomas Dehler, head of the Free Democrats, said the treaties would have to be revised if the Western Allies and Russia agreed on a unified system including a security Germany.

Dehler added at a press conference, however, that nothing could be done without consulting the Western powers.

The Free Democrat leader, whose party is the second largest in Chancellor Adenauer's coalition Cabinet, insisted that the Bonn republic would remain loyal to the treaties and would not break its word to the Western Allies.

But he stressed that the treaties could not be applicable to a united Germany.

The opposition Socialists asked yesterday for a Bundestag (lower house) debate to discuss possible revision of the treaties.

Aronson, 6242 Southwood avenue, junior grand warden; James M. DeWitt, Kirkville, grand treasurer; and Harold L. Reader, 528 Cornelia avenue, Webster Groves, grand secretary.

Approximately 1200 representatives from the 1200 Missouri grand lodges are attending the all-day meeting.

DENIES RESPONSIBILITY FOR APARTMENT FIRE

Joseph Jackson, who was reported to have caused a fire in an apartment building at 4024 Garfield avenue, Sunday, denied today that he was responsible for it. Jackson said another occupant of the building caused the fire.

Another tenant and P. D. Hufford, real estate agent for the building, corroborated Jackson's statement that he was not responsible for the plane.

The fire broke out after papers were burned in a furnace. Four apartments in the building were damaged. Deputy Fire Chief Robert Olsen estimated the two-alarm fire caused $1700 damage.

SMALL BOY'S FISH STOPS ITALIAN EXPRESS TRAIN

VERONA, Italy, Sept. 28 (AP)—A fish stopped a passenger train here yesterday.

A small boy was fishing with a long cane pole. He felt a nibble and pulled. The fish landed in the electric power line along which electric trains' trolleys run. The train arrived just then, the trolley hit the fish, there was a short circuit and the train stopped.

NO SURE-FIRE WAY TO TEACH READING, N.E.A. DECLARES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (UP)—The National Education Association said yesterday teachers cannot teach reading "wholesale" because every child has his own timetable for growing reading.

In a report on "reading for today's children," the N.E.A. said no sure-fire method of teaching reading ever has been devised.

A. S. Artley, professor of education at the University of Missouri, said in a section of the report that teaching improvements in the last 15 years have been great, but there are many "musts" that lie ahead for both teachers and parents anxious to help children learn to read.

If the teachers have their way, however, the first-grader in the future will learn to read faster, better and with far more enjoyment. The report said they must first overcome the problems of outsize classes, half-time sessions and poor tools.

Signature Provided. SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Two youngsters approached actor Van Johnson beside a hotel swimming pool and asked for autographs. No one had a pencil. Then a woman sitting nearby reached into her beach bag and came up with one. "Thanks, lady," said one of the youngsters — to Rosalind Russell.

SHUNS $100 DINNER, GETS JERSEY BOUNCE

Cop Who Won't Buy Ticket Put on 12-Hour Night Job.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Sept. 28 (AP)—Deputy Police Chief William V. McLaughlin, transferred from an 8-hour day job to a 12-hour cruising night shift, is taking the change philosophically.

McLaughlin, 60 years old, who has been feuding with public Safety Director Lawrence Whipple and refused to buy a ticket to a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner; said yesterday:

"I've done everything around here except sweep the floors and I'm prepared to do that." At police headquarters, he joked with reporters and said he would "work 12 hours, sleep 8 hours—my God, I'd be able to watch the opening game of today's world series, and have enough time to eat and get back to work."

In an unpublished order Saturday night, reportedly initiated by Whipple and signed by acting Police Chief Michael Cusack, McLaughlin was ordered to work from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m., in full-dress uniform, and must regularly sign the blotter of the city's six precincts.

Whipple was not available for comment on the matter and Cusack was out of the city attending a convention.

McLaughlin was a backer of former Mayor Frank Hague. His new hours go into effect Oct. 1, the day of the $100-a-plate dinner for which he refused to buy a ticket.

The senior deputy chief, McLaughlin has been on the force 40 years and was recently bypassed when Police Chief James McNamara went on sick leave. Cusack, named to fill the post, was then only an inspector.

The veteran official said he had no intention of retiring. He must retire by city law at 65 if he is not police chief by that time.

HURRICANE CROSSES YUCATAN PENINSULA

Janet Moves Into Gulf Area
—British Honduras Struck.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 28 (AP)—Hurricane Janet slashed across Mexico's Yucatan peninsula and moved back over open water today still carrying winds of 100 miles an hour.

The storm, which lost some of its punch over the land, is expected to grow bigger again and move toward the coast between Vera Cruz and Tuxpan. Hurricane force winds may reach the coast by midnight.

The great hurricane moved in from the sea on the Yucatan coast last night and swiftly crossed the 225-mile peninsula, emerging into the Gulf of Campeche, a branch of the Gulf of Mexico, before noon.

There was no way of telling immediately what happened in the small towns of northern British Honduras and the southern part of Mexico's Quintana Roo province, which took the full force of Janet's 115-mile winds.

A ham operator in Corozal, British Honduras, allegedly to the south of the hurricane center, radioed that at least six persons were killed there and most of the town of 2000 destroyed. Normal communications were knocked out.

Reports from Xcalak, Mexican village on the southern tip of Yucatan peninsula, said the hurricane flattened the tiny seaport last night and left only one house standing. The telegraph operator reported uncounted dead and injured among the 1000 residents.

Janet struck tiny Swan island in the western Caribbean yesterday and destroyed most of the buildings. The 35 United States employees of the Weather Bureau and Civil Aeronautics authority were reported safe.

The hurricane already had claimed about 200 lives in the Caribbean. Perhaps nine United States Navy men and two Canadians were among them. They were aboard a hurricane hunter plane that flew into the storm Monday morning and has been missing ever since.

RUSSIAN JET PLANE MAKES FORCED LANDING IN TURKEY

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 28 (UP)—A Russian jet plane made a forced landing yesterday near the coastal town of Rize, in a province bordering Russia, it was announced today. Turkish authorities seized the plane and interned its crew.

An official announcement said the jet presumably "was on a mission of reconnaissance and observation."

Turkey filed an official protest early this month against repeated Soviet violations of this country's air.

WANT THINGS? WATCH THE WANT ADS

An important point about stock car racing that may not have occurred to you:

The safer car wins . . . and Chevrolet is the big winner

Auto races aren't won by brute horsepower. Roadability, acceleration, precision steering and stamina — the very qualities that make a car safer for you — are the keys to victory on the track! And that's why Chevrolet is top car, by far, on the rugged NASCAR (National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing) Short Track circuit.

Faster acceleration means safer passing

Chevrolet's cannonball acceleration has punched past many a bigger car to victory. But the same blazing surge is a vital safety factor on the highway — one that can whisk you more safely around other cars and out of critical situations.

PASS WITH CARE

Easier, super accurate steering

Nimble is the word for Chevrolet. But you don't have to see them in action on a tight quarter-mile track to judge how they make other cars seem clumsy. You can feel that yourself in the press of traffic, and sense the feather-light precision of Ball-Race steering in every curve. Special ball bearings in the steering system roll with the turn of the wheel to reduce friction and to give you easier, surer control. There's extra safety, too, in Glide-Ride front suspension that sops up the harshest bumps—that lets your car "keep its feet under it" for maximum traction on the roughest roads.

ROUGH ROAD

More stability on curves

Chevrolet's famous stability means money in the bank to the race driver—it lets him broadside through turns faster and smoother. But it means peace of mind to you on the road—more comfort in every curve and less body-roll with broad-based Out-rigger rear springs, extra security if you have to swerve sharply to meet an emergency, a solid "one-piece" feel that is a delight to any driver.

The ability to slow down and stop quickly and smoothly

Those big 11-inch brakes have averted many a disaster in the close-packed battle of racing. But they weren't designed for that; they were made to give you "heads-up" stops and extra stopping power in traffic, on mountain grades, on high-speed expressways.

Come in and try out this new winner yourself . . . and see how easy we're making it to buy a Chevrolet right now!

PRICE REBOUND OF 43 PERCENT IN STOCK LIST

Represents 2-Day Recovery From Monday's Crash on President's Illness.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—The stock market's second recovery session today carried prices up substantially. As measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market now has retraced about 43 per cent of the severe break that hit Monday on news of the President's illness.

Prices were up 1 to 1 around 5 points in key divisions at the close of trading. In some instances they were under their best, but minus signs still were not numerous or large.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $2 at $175. Yesterday it was ahead $2.90, and on Monday it lost $1.40. The day's recovery in market values was approximately 2 1/2 billion dollars on top of yesterday's 3 1/2 billion, making total of 5 1/2 billion. Monday's loss was around 13 billion dollars.

(Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was 6.68 points higher at 476.21 at the close. The 20 rails gained 1.17 at 155.51 and the 15 utilities rose .43 of a point to 63.82.)

Trading was fast at the start and came to an aggregate 3,780,000 shares of 30 industrial stocks with 5,500,000 shares traded yesterday and 7,720,000 shares on Monday's fall.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed up 2 full points at 175.0. The industrial stock index rose 3.6 points, rails 1.2 points and utilities .5 of a point.

The market narrowed to 16 issues from yesterday at 1237 issues. There were 837 gainers, 215 losers and 185 unchanged. There were 13 new 1955 highs and seven new lows.

Trading opened with a rush that caused the ticker to lag behind in reporting floor transactions. The congestion lasted until after the second hour started. When the world series got under way, however, there was a noticeable falling off in the trading pace.

After the initial buying rush, prices stabilized around their best. Then they began to fall back a bit under profit-taking. That ran its course quickly, and another rally in motors and steels braced prices and put them up strongly.

General Motors was outstanding in its group, and also ahead were Chrysler, Studebaker-Packard, Montgomery Ward, Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, Caterpillar Tractor, Boeing, Anaconda Co., Du Pont, Aluminum Ltd., Santa Fe Railroad, Standard Oil (N.J.), and Distillers Corp.

Wheeling Steel was up 3 and 4 points on a 10 per cent stock dividend. Bell & Howe was ahead 4 points on a 10 per cent stock dividend.

Eastern Air Lines, which announced an expansion and new equipment program involving $350,000,000, was up 1 1/2.

The market had a lot of good news to go on. The commerce department said business was "brisk" and an even faster pace was expected.

The magazine "Iron Age" said steel producers are enjoying a "terrific pace of orders with the situation set to continue into next year."

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—The cotton textile market was firm Wednesday. Sales were held in check because of heavy mills following the large business in print cloths and broad cloths last week. The popular 30 square cloth moved up 1/4 to 19 1/2 a yard for average makes on spot. Top quality sold as high as 20 cents a yard, but only in a small way.

Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Co. reports net income of $6,057,921 for August, as compared with $4,877,059 in like month last year. Gross revenue totaled $50,157,080, as compared with $43,514,087 a year ago. (INS.)

National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates that fire losses in the United States in August totaled $71,103,000, a drop of 9 per cent from the same month last year. (INS.)

Missouri Pacific Lines reported August net income after all charges was $1,808,402, compared with $1,403,907 for August, 1954. For eight months net was $12,222,119, against $7,283,510 for eight months of 1954. August gross revenue was $26,759,380, against $25,859,600 for eight months of 1954. (INS.)

Floyd B. Odum, president of Atlas Corp., announced today that according to present plans the proposed merger of Atlas and RKO Pictures Corp. will also include four other companies in which Atlas holds stock. They are Wasatch Corp., Airfleets Inc., San Diego Corp., and Albuquerque Associated Oil Co. Atlas Corp. owns 95 per cent of the common stock of Wasatch, 18 per cent of San Diego Corp., three per cent of Airfleets, and 43 per cent of Albuquerque Associated Oil. All four companies have investments principally in oil properties and in the stock of uranium companies and in uranium leases.

LONDON TRADE SELECTIVE. LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP)—The London stock market brightened a little today with news of the steeper trend on Wall Street, but trading continued small and selective.

U.S. Economy Today

NATION'S STORES VS. WALL STREET

By Sam Dawson

WITHOUT minimizing the role of the stock market many business men hold that what happens in the next few weeks in the nation's stores will be more important to the economy than the daily ups and downs in stock prices.

Merchants have been getting a larger share of the public's money this year than last. They expect this year to buy will continue into the Christmas season. They look for the biggest year trade ever.

Some, however, warn that the public sometimes reacts to the psychology built up in the stock market. This could cause some people to reverse this year's habits and to start saving more and to start buying less and borrowing less.

Sam Dawson. HOW IMPORTANT THIS BUYING psychology can be seen in the report of the Commerce Department that at the present stage of the economy an advance of only 2 per cent in consumer buyings adds five billion dollars to total demand for goods and services in the United States. This year the public as a whole has been saving only 6 cents of each dollar left over after taxes, and spending 94 cents of it. In the first half of 1954 the public was saving away 8 cents of each dollar and spending 92 cents of it.

That 2 cents looks little until you apply it to the total personal income after taxes. Then add in the fact that the total of personal income has risen sharply this year, due to higher hourly wage scales and to longer work weeks.

THE TOTAL WHICH CONSUMERS have been spending for new merchandise and services this year is thus boosted to an annual rate of 248 billion dollars. The buying spurge is credited with having bolstered industrial production. This in turn has meant higher employment and incomes. The public's buying mood makes business men boost their inventories and causes industrialists to plan for new plants and to buy new equipment. Buying dropped off very little during the summer. It revived with cool weather and retail sales in September have been substantially ahead of last year.

AUTO DEALERS REPORT THE BEST sales for any September as they rush to clear out 1955 models to make room for the new ones now starting to roll off production lines. Auto makers say their plans for high production in the weeks ahead and for huge plant expansion in the months and years ahead haven't been changed by President Eisenhower's illness. Like most economists they stress the fundamental soundness of the nation's business health. And they see no reason why the average man should change his buying habits at this time. Steel mills, hard pushed to fill new orders, are scheduling an operating rate this week of 98 per cent of rated capacity. This time last year they were operating at 70 per cent of capacity, and it was smaller then.

ALTHOUGH AMERICANS ARE SAVING fewer pennies out of each dollar this year than last, the total of these pennies mounts up in the banks, and the total of savings continues to grow. As one example, the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks says its 527 members report deposits rose by $122,000,000 in August and now stand at a new record of two and a half billion dollars.

SHARP DROP IN CORN ON CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP)—Grains generally declined on the Board of Trade today with most of the selling pressure concentrated on corn.

The yellow grain dropped a couple of cents at one time. Clearing weather in the midwest for harvesting the crop, easiness in the cash market and Government sale of grain surpluses to exporters were behind the downturn.

Oats and soybeans sank with corn. Wheat displayed resistance and for most of the day held fractionally above the previous close.

YANKEES DEFEAT DODGERS IN OPENER, 6-5

COLLINS CRACKS TWO HOMERS; NEWCOMBE ROUTED IN SIXTH

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.
NEW YORK, Sept. 28—Joe Collins, 32-year-old Yankee first baseman who believes in quality instead of quantity, walloped two homers good for three runs this afternoon as the New York Yankees, making better use of their opportunities, outslugged the Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1955 world series opener at Yankee Stadium, 6 to 5.

In addition to Collins, a traditionally light-hitting two-pot first baseman who has been batted effectively in the clutch for the New York Americans ever since joining them in 1948, St. Louisan Elston Howard, first Negro ever to play for the Yankees in a Series game, hit for the distance.

As a result, leaving only two men on base while collecting nine hits good for 20 bases, the favored American League pennant winners jumped to an important home field advantage over a powerful Brooklyn ball club seeking to give Flatbush its first World Championship in eight tries this century.

The Dodgers collected 10 hits, of which two were homers by Duke Snider and Carl Furillo and one a triple by Jackie Robinson, but Brooklyn left nine men on base and at the finish the National League club was undone by two walks given up by control artist Don Newcombe, the losing pitcher.

The opportunistic Yankees, seized upon a pass with one out in the second and an opening walk in the third, in each instance turning the charity into runs that proved decisive. The Dodgers collected two unearned tallies on the game's only error, an understandable miscue by third baseman Gil McDougald.

While Newcombe went down to his third World Series defeat after giving up all the Yankee runs in the five and two-thirds innings he worked, Lefty Ed (Whitey) Ford scored his second victory in a blue-ribbon classic as he pitched eight nings during which Brooklyn managed all except one of its hits.

Sophomore Righthander Bob Grim put down the Dodgers in the ninth just as replacements Don Besseant and Clem Labine had checked the Yankees after they forged ahead to stay in the fourth on Collins's first homer. The New York first baseman, who batted only .234 in the regular season, socked five of his 13 American League homers off the Club New York last night to beat to go here—defending champion Cleveland—and now owns four World Series circuit smashes.

A crowd of 63,869, watching a game played in perfect weather but on a field muddled from heavy overnight rain, saw the Yankees win without their leading hitter, Mickey Mantle, who was forced to stay on the sidelines because of a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg. However, it was Howard, playing left field as Irv Noren moved to center against right-handed pitching, who ably represented the Oklahoma kid with his homer.

In addition to Collins, Hank Bauer, Eastsider and dead-end kid Billy Martin had two hits apiece for the Yankees, one of Martin's a triple, after which the Yankee toughie was out trying to steal home.

Three Safeties for Furillo. For the Dodgers, Carl Furillo, ailing with an attack of sinus and a cold that had kept him out of uniform during pre-series practice, led the attack with three blows, including his homer, before striking out to end the game. Robinson furnished another highlight for the losing National Leaguers by stealing home with their fifth and final run.

At the start, both teams lined up at the plate with the umpires, Bill Summers, American League, at the plate; Lee Ballanfant, National, at first base; Jim Honochick, American, second, and Frank Dascoll, National, at third. Augie Donatelli of the National League was on the right field foul line and John Flaherty, American, in left.

able to play in the series at all. "There's a big knot in my right leg and it just won't come out," Mantle said. "I can't run."

Clem Labine, the solid man of the Dodger hurling corps, still shakes his head at the thought of Billy Martin's winning hit in the '53 world series. "He hit the ball on the ground, which was my intention," said Labine, "and it was just plain luck that no one could field it... five feet on either side and it would have been a double play."

Bomber No. 1 in Yankee Explosion

St. Louisan ELSTON HOWARD, Yankee rookie who got into the world series opener because the ailing Mickey Mantle was benched, crosses the plate on his two-run homer, hit in the second inning on his first time at bat. Greeting him are Team-mates JOE COLLINS (15), a remarkable homer-hitter himself, and BILLY MARTIN (1). Collins scored on Howard's blow. Dodger catcher is ROY CAMPANELLA. The umpire is BILL SUMMERS.

Washington's Bob Ladd Out With Injury

Bob Ladd, first-string blocking back on Washington University's football team, today became the Bears' major cause for concern in consideration of Saturday's game at Francis Field against Washash College.

Ladd injured his right shoulder late in the game against Missouri School of Mines Saturday. It didn't impress him at the time, but yesterday Ladd was forced to miss practice because of the pain in his shoulder.

Bruce Melin, Bears' trainer, said today "only time can tell" whether Ladd will be able to start against Washash. If time tells in the negative, Mike Bollinger is to be the signal-caller in the Bears' single-wing.

Two years ago Ladd suffered a dislocation of the right shoulder and was out for the season. The Bears derive some comfort now from the fact that the former injury and the present one are not related.

Ford to the Contrary, Goetz Discounts Lefties.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. LARRY GOETZ, veteran National League umpire and one of the more outspoken of the boys in blue, happened along as a group of baseball writers was talking about left-handed pitchers and right-handed batting power.

And even after the World Series opener, won by New York Lefthander Whitey Ford, it continued to be a popular subject because the Dodgers face another southpaw, Tommy Byrne, in the second game.

"How about it, Larry?" somebody asked. "You've seen a lot of these Dodgers this year. Can lefthanders be expected to stop those hitters?"

"No, they can't," was Goetz's quick answer before developments put a different light on things.

In the conversation that followed Goetz did qualify his answer a bit. He said that actually it didn't make much difference whether a good pitcher was right-handed or left-handed or which way a team batted, if the pitcher happened to be having a good day. But he was definite in his general opinion, although he admitted that perhaps the fact that he's been a National League all his umpiring life might have had something to do with the answer.

Then Larry became more interesting.

They Ought to Give Pitchers Some Help.

YOU didn't ask me this, but I think they ought to do something to help pitchers. Everything's been going the other way. The batters are swinging from their heels for the fences, there have been many restrictions on pitching motions, all designed to help the batter. But they haven't done anything for the pitcher. Even the good pitchers, most of them, have lost their confidence.

What would Goetz do to help the pitchers?

"Well, if they can't get around to anything else, let them use the spitball," was the answer. "I made a suggestion that the plate be widened, an inch or two on each side. They laughed at me. But that would help the pitcher a little in what has become an uneven battle. The batter wouldn't know the difference, but the pitcher would get the meat of the bat on a pitch two inches inside or two inches outside."

How much had the strike zone been cut down by the new rulebook definition of the strike zone a few years back? "That's one of the things I mean," Goetz replied. "The zone used to be from the shoulder to the knee. That's what it said and that's the way the umpires called 'em. But now the strike zone is defined as the area above the plate between the top of the knee cap and the armpits. Just measure on yourself. Go from the top of the kneecap to the bottom of the kneecap and add that to the distance between the shoulder top and the armpit. That's about six inches."

"It has become entirely too tough for the pitchers, trying to hit that small target. My idea is that widening the plate and going back to the old top of the shoulders and bottom of the kneecap would do a lot to balance the struggle between batters and pitchers, and also to speed up games. What makes for long games? Bases on balls, that's what."

Meyer, Lane To Talk After Today's Game

By J. Roy Stockton
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—Dick Meyer, general manager of the Cardinals, today explained the thinking of the club about the possibility of hiring Frank Lane to direct the rebuilding of the Redbirds.

"We're definitely interested in Lane," Meyer said, "but there are several important factors to consider. I will talk to Lane some time after today's game."

"I might say there are three main things to be considered. First, the cost of taking him into our organization. Second, what is his philosophy as he might approach our problems? And third, closely tied in with No. 2, would his thinking mesh with ours and with what we believe we have done, in the matter of progress?"

"We believe we have accomplished a great deal, despite the rather dismal showing of the parent club this season. I mean our minor league farms have done very well this year in their leagues. We believe we have a nucleus of a ball club that will improve with certainty in the near future."

Meyer said no quick decision would be made about Lane's candidacy as general manager of the club.

Plans Other Discussions.

"The meeting today will be just one of many," Meyer said. "I expect to see him several times during the series, before I return to St. Louis after Sunday's game, if there is one. Then, after I have explored the situation thoroughly it will be necessary for me to sit down with Mr. Busch and give him all the information I have gathered. Then it will be up to Mr. Busch to evaluate the factors in the picture and decide whether we want Lane to take over the club."

Lane, enthusiastic about the possibilities of the job in St. Louis. He realizes that the club has some fine young players and a good farm system, a situation that did not exist in the case of the White Sox, a forlorn, run-down club, when he took over the rebuilding job.

"I believe I have a good idea of the Cardinal club and its problems," Lane said. "To go into details now would be premature but I saw the club in exhibition games with the White Sox, during spring training, then on the trip north before the league seasons opened, and finally I saw them in most of their games in Chicago during the regular season."

Cards Wary of Shake-Ups.

Meyer didn't go into details, but the inference is that the club would hesitate to hire Lane if it believed he might break up the team by selling young players, just for immediate improvement, or interfere in a major way with the farm system set-up and personnel.

It is likely, however, that the club, especially Busch, Meyer, would like to see a seasoned baseball man in charge of the operation. No action has been taken about the manager for 1956 and the inference is that Meyer wanted to leave that decision to a new general manager, if any.

Lane is said to be interested in two other clubs. These have not been identified, but Pittsburgh and Detroit have been mentioned as guesses, although Pittsburgh seems the more likely to a good guess inasmuch as the Tigers seem to be in good hands, with Muddy Ruel as general manager and Buck Harris as field director.

Goose gunners will have a brand-new place to shoot when the waterfowl season opens on Oct. 28. The Swan Lake Wildlife Management Area will be open for the first time. It is a co-operative project between the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and the Missouri Conservation Commission. The shooting of ducks in the area will not be permitted.

There are some 10,977 acres in the Swan Lake National Wildlife Refuge. About 2,500 acres of this refuge will be open for goose shooting, and it has been designated as the Swan Lake Wildlife Management Area. The area headquarters is 10.7 miles south of U. S. Highway 36 off Farm-to-Market Highway N which leaves Highway 36 five miles west of Brookfield; and 18 miles north of U. S. Highway 24, off State Highway 11 which leaves Highway 24 one mile west of Brunswick. Brookfield and Brunswick are in Linn and Charlton counties, respectively. The entrance road is plainly marked.

The post office address is: Swan Lake Wildlife Management Area, Missouri Conservation Commission, Sumner, Mo. The area manager can be reached by telephone via the Sumner exchange.

Procedure on Reservations. Reservations may be made by writing to the area manager. No advance reservations will be accepted until Oct. 1. More than 100 blinds and pits, spaced some 200 yards apart, will be available to accommodate goose hunters during the 70-day season. Each blind and pit will furnish ample elbow-room for four hunters. The interior boundary of the hunting strip, which adjoins the prohibited refuge area, is fenced with a single strand of wire and plainly posted. No shooting on the refuge will be permitted and no birds may be retrieved either dead or crippled, beyond the boundary of the shooting area.

Reservations will be made by pit or blind only. A fee of $5 per pit or blind will be charged and no pit, blind, or shooting privilege can be sub-let. Not more than four persons, including non-hunters, may occupy one pit or blind at one time. Decoys will be available on the area at a daily rental charge of $1 per dozen. Dogs, retrievers or otherwise, may not be used or permitted on the area. Goose calls, flashlights and warm waterproof footwear are recommended equipment for the hunter hunters but they are not available on the area. No nirod may use or have in his possession any shells containing shot larger than No. 2.

Blinds Allotted by Draw. Only one person should request a blind reservation from the area manager for his party. A reservation card will be mailed to the applicant indicating the date and hour the reservation is valid. On the day of their reservation hunters will present reservation cards at area headquarters at the hour indicated. The person holding the reservation will present hunting permits and migratory bird stamps and return the daily blind permit to the area manager.

No individual hunter may hunt on the area more than three times nor kill more than four Canada geese on the management area during any one season, whichever occurs first, provided: Persons excluded by the above regulation may hunt on the area if there are available any unserved pits or blinds and no other person is present who is not excluded by the above rule and who desires to hunt.

Many nirods will consider these rules and regulations an almost insurmountable obstacle and not conducive to a pleasant day afield. But when there is a co-operative agreement between state and federal agencies, many safeguards are necessary if wildlife is to have ample protection.

Swan Lake is on the Mississippi flyway and thousands of geese stop over there on their migratory flights. Goose shooting should be so rewarding to the waterfowler on this newly opened shooting area that the maze of "cans and can't's" will be promptly forgotten when the first flight sets its gears in the vicinity of the hunters' decoys.

Hadley Tech was beaten by Sumner High, 22 to 35, in a dual cross-country meet yesterday at Forest Park.

Collins Smashes Two Homers Off Newcombe in Opener

Southpaw Ford Is Winner

served in prayer for the speedy recovery of President Eisenhower. A marching band played the National Anthem in which Lucy Munroe led the crowd in song. Mayor Robert Wagner of New York, a southpaw, threw out the first ball and the 1955 series was on.

Ford's first pitch of the game, a curved strike around Gilliam's knees. The next pitch was a ball and then the Brooklyn left fielder, favored with a high hanging curve, tapped it harmlessly back to the pitcher. Reese, fouling off pitches as the count ran to "2 and 2" brought the first Series cheer as he finally lined a single over Rizzuto's head. Snider, after lifting two fouls, looked bad sweeping one-handed at curved third strike. And Campanella quickly popped to Martin.

Double Play By Dodgers. In the Yankee first, Newcombe, trying to take advantage of Bauer's well-publicized dislike for sidearmed right-handed pitching, swept from down his waist, a ball and next a called strike before Hank bunted beautifully, nudging the ball past Newk and too slow for Zimmer even though the Dodger second baseman came in quickly. It was a base hit. The home club fans cheered the auspicious start, but the promise was not fulfilled. McDougald, faking a bunt, after fouling off a hit-and-run pitch with Bauer in motion, looked at a handsome curve for strike three. Noren, swinging at the first pitch, bounced softly to Zimmer, who came in, nudged out Bauer as the runner zipped past and underhanded a quick throw to Hodges to complete a double play.

Opening the Brooklyn second, Furillo, slicing what appeared to be a curve breaking on him, lifted a high fly to right field near the foul-line where the low Stadium wall curves around a cinder track. Bauer, playing right-center in anticipation of pull-hitting, hurried over and lunged against the ball, but didn't make it in time. The ball was in the stands—home run! As the press box squawk-box was carrying the information that Furillo had homered at Yankee Stadium in his final time at bat in the 1955 series, Hodges went out to Martin on a routine grounder.

But then, swinging robustly at a curve up around his left leg, Robinson walloped the ball tremendously to left-center, between and behind the outfielders. Jack had a difficult time of it running in the heavy going, but he made it sliding into third base for a triple. And when the infield came in for a play at the plate, little Zimmer's pop fly just behind second base fell safely for a pop fly base hit, Robinson scoring.

Newcombe, taking one king-sized swing at a southpaw hook, brought Ford down off the mound to field his grounder and throw him out. Only when Gilliam drew a walk did the Yankee bullpen begin to go to work. It was a two-run Dodger inning when Reese's grounder was one-handed neatly by McDougald on a stop to his right, the third baseman's throw to Martin forcing Gilliam.

The crowd tittered in the Yankee second when the powerful Berra, first up, bunted a foul toward third base before going to "2 and 2," at which Newcombe changed up on his curve, throwing Yogi off stride and retiring him on a soft grounder to Zimmer. Collins, working the count to the limit, walked on a low pitch that got away from Campanella but not far enough for the batter to advance beyond first base.

Hits Like Stars, Too. Howard, the home-town kid, stepped in for his first time at bat in Series competition, feet spread and facing the pitcher in a manner of Rogers Hornsby, his hands held high and arms away from the body in the style of Joe DiMaggio. Elston hit like those two stars, also, for after taking a curved strike, he lined a home run into the left field seats near the foul line, scoring behind Collins, and the game was tied, 2 to 2.

Martin, trying to check his swing, brought Furillo hurriedly in for a catch of his short, looping fly and Rizzuto's topped roller required quick action and nifty off-balance throw by Robinson to retire him, ending the inning. And Howard got a large hand as he trotted to his position in left field.

The home run barrage continued. Snider, looking at a strike to open the Brooklyn third, really unbuttoned his vest as Ford conveniently draped a curve up around the Duke's shoulders. The drive the Brooklyn slugger smashed into the upper deck of the right field stands was his sixth Series homer, breaking his own record for home runs by a National Leaguer. The Dodgers again were ahead.

Ford worked carefully with Furillo this time—too carefully—and walked him. However, Whitey settled down. Hodges fouled up a let-up, then fled to Noren in short left-center and Robinson took a called third strike.

Lacks Razor-Sharp Control. The Yankees again tied in the last of the third and Newcombe, failing to display the best sharp control that had been his strength in National League play, was fortunate he didn't fall behind.

Ford, fourth up, worked Newk for a walk and the Dodger hurler missed with his first two deliveries to Bauer,

Squelched and Squashed

Losing his hat, Yankee BILLY MARTIN was an easy out as he attempted to steal home in the sixth inning of the World Series opener. Dodger Catcher ROY CAMPANELLA sprawled over Martin in making the tag and the players jostled one another as they got to their feet, recalling the ill feeling between the two since a bruising play at the plate two years ago. ED ROBINSON (36), who had come in to pinch hit, watches.

stalking disgustedly around the mound. Hank then drilled a single to left, Ford stopping at second. With Brooklyn expecting a bunt, only fast fielding by Reese, making a between-hop pickup of McDougald's slow grounder, prevented an infield hit. Runners advanced to second and third, however, and, with the infield back, Noren's grounder to Zimmer scored Ford. Berra, coming up with Bauer on third, again was thrown off stride by a soft pitch and tapped to Newcombe.

Bases on balls twice had damaged Newcombe and now in the Brooklyn fourth it was the annoying walk that put Ford on the spot. Whitey passed Zimmer after heading off the runner at second on Newcombe's sent, throwing to Rizzuto for a force-out, the New York lefty also put Gilliam on base. He got away without scoring though, only because Martin made a brilliant one-handed stab of Reese's hot, skidding grounder to the second baseman's left, which he could raise anywhere else. Through the natural course of events I became interested in the game.

Harold Sargent, secretary of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, praised Jones as the "greatest golfer and sportsman of all time." Russell Gill, president of the Atlanta Golf Association, presented a portable television set to Jones for his wife, Mary. The set carried this inscription: "To Mary Malone Jones, silent partner of the grand slam, 1930." Jones defeated Eugene Hornsby, 7 and 6, in the final of the National amateur Sept. 27, 1930, to complete his famed grand slam and become the only man ever to hold the United States Open and amateur titles at the same time. He retired two months later.

The 58-year-old "emperor of golf" said he didn't start out to be a golfer. "I didn't start out to be anything," he explained, "but my father took me over to the East Lake Country Club because he didn't think he could raise me anywhere else. Through the natural course of events I became interested in the game."

Jones' father, "Big Bob," now 74, smiled at his son's words.

an easy out, though, and, indicative of the ill feeling between him and Campanella since a fly to Bauer deep in right away from the foul-line. Snider skipped a hot grounder the nimble Collins gracefully one-handed to his right, beating the batter to the bag, and after the Yankees became confused momentarily on Campanella's pop fly to short right, Bauer took charge at the last instant and made the catch.

Bessent breezed through the Yankee seventh. Coleman grounded slowly to Robinson. Ford fled to Snider and Bauer bounded to Reese.

Everybody should feel so bad as Furillo, the sniffling Dodger right fielder, continuing a perfect day at bat, stroked Ford's second pitch in the eighth for a single over second base and became the first Brooklyn baserunner since the fifth.

There was an air of expectancy among Flatbush diehards. It went up momentarily as Hodges, after hunting foul in a bid for a base hit, lifted a long drive to left, but Howard ranged back and caught it, lowering the enthusiasm. Seconds later, the crowd was roaring.

The crowd was unusually quiet as the Brooklyn sixth began, then stirred as Ford went the limit on Zimmer before retiring him on a short fly that brought Noren rushing in behind second and threw out the hulking pitcher on a close play. Gilliam, biting at a high fast ball, fouled to Berra.

Newcombe, leaning heavily on breaking speeds, got Noren on a grounder to Hodges, opening the last of the sixth, but Newk threw Berra one change-up too many and Yogi lifted it over Zimmer's head for a single to right. Newcombe missed with a pitch to Collins, then Joe swung and powered a drive to right-center. Snider drifted back, back toward the bleacher wall, leaped high and was short. It was a homer, fully 400 feet from the plate, a two-run blow, Collins' second of the game and the Yankees led by 6-3.

Exit Mr. Newcombe. Howard, next up, grounded to Reese, but Martin lined a drive to deep left field and when Gilliam appeared to cut straight across before giving the necessary ground, the ball sailed over his head for a triple. The blow finished Newcombe, after he'd given six runs on eight hits good for 19 bases.

Right hander Don Bessent, a rookie with an 8-1 regular season record, took over for the Dodgers and when he did, Stengel sent up big Eddie Robinson to bat for little Rizzuto. After one pitch, however, Martin broke for the plate in an attempted steal of home. He was

'Didn't Start Out to Be Golfer,' Jones Says at 25th Anniversary

ATLANTA, Sept. 28 (AP)—About 600 friends paid tribute to Bob Jones, the golfer and the man, at a stag dinner last night commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the day he won the National amateur to complete a grand slam unique in the annals of the sport.

Jones received an ovation when he entered the banquet hall at the Atlanta Athletic Club in his usual modest fashion and later spoke quietly of his achievements.

A letter of congratulations was read from President Eisenhower, written several weeks ago. Harold Sargent, secretary of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, praised Jones as the "greatest golfer and sportsman of all time."

Russell Gill, president of the Atlanta Golf Association, presented a portable television set to Jones for his wife, Mary. The set carried this inscription: "To Mary Malone Jones, silent partner of the grand slam, 1930." Jones defeated Eugene Hornsby, 7 and 6, in the final of the National amateur Sept. 27, 1930, to complete his famed grand slam and become the only man ever to hold the United States Open and amateur titles at the same time. He retired two months later.

The 58-year-old "emperor of golf" said he didn't start out to be a golfer. "I didn't start out to be anything," he explained, "but my father took me over to the East Lake Country Club because he didn't think he could raise me anywhere else. Through the natural course of events I became interested in the game."

Jones' father, "Big Bob," now 74, smiled at his son's words.

Jackie Steals Home. Zimmer, flailing away, lifted a long run-scoring sacrifice fly to Noren. Robinson taking third as well as Furillo scoring on the play. Frank Keller went up to pinch-hit for Bessent and after one pitch was wide, Robinson got a jump on Ford, winding up, and broke for the plate. He slid in on a close play and was credited by Umpire Summers with a steal of home, leaving the Dodgers only one run behind, though both Berra, hopping mad, and Stengel, charging from the home dugout, insisted Yogi had tagged out the runner.

There was further excitement as Keller lifted a high fly to short right-center, a Texas League safety that put the tying run on base. Here, Stengel came out to talk to Ford, but permitted Whitey to stay on the scene. The Yankee hurler then got Gilliam on a pop fly to McDougald. The two runs had been unearned.

The attendance of 63,869 and net receipts of $472,232.15 were announced as lights went on in the big ball park in the last of the eighth because of a gathering haze.

Archie Moore To Give Turpin Shot at Title

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Archie Moore, whose bid for the heavyweight title was thwarted last week by Champion Rocky Marciano, agreed today to defend his world lightweight title against Randy Turpin in London next Jan. 10.

Promoter Jack Solomons, who made the announcement, said he arranged the bout in trans-Atlantic telephone negotiations with Charlie Johnson, Moore's manager.

The fight will be held in Earls Court, an 18,000-seat arena, where Turpin surprised fistic circles by winning the middleweight title from Sugar Ray Robinson in the summer of 1951. He lost the title to Robinson in a rematch at New York's Polo Grounds 64 days later.

Presently Turpin holds both the British and Empire lightweight titles, but they count for little on a world scale since boxing is at an extremely low ebb.

Southpaw Hurls, Wins Both Ends of Twin Bill

THOMPSON, Mo., Sept. 28—Baseball fans here were still talking about Dab Hill's "Iron Man" pitching effort when the left-hander won both ends of a doubleheader last Sunday.

St. Mary's Likely to Test Stout Southwest Defense

By Harold Tuthill

Jim Kenny, peppery little Southwest High coach, makes no bones about the fine defensive strength of his team and the ability to hold the opposition may come in hand when the Longhorns tangle with St. Mary's tomorrow night at the Public Schools Stadium.

Kenny is especially keen about his co-captains, End Gene Powell and Halfback Jim Carney, who have been big factors in Southwest's 7-7 tie with St. Louis U. High and the 19-0 victory over Webster Groves.

"Powell is one of the best high school football players I have seen in some time," Kenny said. "Carney is a likeable leader who never quits plugging."

This is Powell's third year on the squad. On offense he is an and and defensively he plays a halfback spot. At the other wing post is Derrill Heiland, a six-footer, who was a linebacker a year ago. The No. 1 replacement is Al Ulrich, converted quarterback of the 1954 team.

Kenny has three tackles playing regularly. They are Ed (6-2) Hindert, Leslie (6-0) Andherub and Dick (6-0) Bartholme, who weigh 180, 198 and 180, respectively. Offensive guards are Gerry Duncan and Mike Drissell, while the defensive guards are Jack Bartholme, Jim Mills and John Gianoulakis.

Max Curtis, one of Kenny's lettermen, is the No. 1 center, while his starting backfield consists of the versatile Joe Mowry, letter winner in three sports, at quarterback; Carney, Bill (5-7) Hof and Fred Harrison at fullback. Don Muse and Frank (Nick) Carter are first string substitutes. Muse and Gianoulakis are the top students on the squad, both carrying A averages.

J. T. McArthur, former assistant to Kenny, has recovered from a fall while trimming a tree in his back yard early this year and has returned to his teaching job at Southwest. Frank Merchant, former Longhorn B team coach, now is Kenny's assistant.

Mizzou 'B' Players Promoted to Varsity

Move Made To Relieve Manpower Shortage

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 28—The Missouri Tiger manpower shortage is so great this week that Coach Don Faurot will re-schedule the game Friday between the Missouri "B" team and Arkansas State of Jonesboro.

He announced the postponement last night after elevating three members of the "B" team to the varsity to fill in for injured veterans. But Faurot said that the game will be played at a later date.

Can't Sell the Players.
Despite the injury situation, Coach Faurot is finding it difficult to sell his squad on the idea that the Utes, conquerors last week of Idaho after losing a one-pointer to Oregon, are as tough as he says.

"As hard to beat as Maryland or Michigan," Faurot said, but the football squad can read and they know that Maryland and Michigan, Tiger beaters this season, now rate as the No. 1 and No. 2 teams of the nation and that Utah's name isn't on the list.

Faurot makes more sense, however, when he talks about the Ute quarterback, Dave Douglass, collegedom's seventh best passer last season with a record of 58 per cent completion for 826 yards. Missouri has been weak on pass defense, and that situation probably won't improve if injured halfbacks are pressed into service. Even the veterans haven't been able to contain a capable passer, this season or last.

Hankins Is Switched.
To cope with his backfield situation, Faurot is using a yardstick, Hankins at left halfback, right halfback and Joe Wynn at right halfback instead of fullback.

Hankins is the former Ritenour star and an ex-baseballer, who decided late to go out for football team and made the varsity squad in two days. He proved an inspiration to another Ritenour recruit who joined the squad yesterday.

Lee Wynn, who lettered in baseball here last year, joined the squad to try out for fullback or right halfback. Wynn is a left-handed chucker and weighs 201 pounds.

Besten World Record.
LONDON, Sept. 28 (UP)—Moscow Radio said that the Soviet Union's A. Ivanov has beaten Emil Zatopek's record for 25,000 meters by running the distance in one hour, 17 minutes and 24 seconds. Zatopek's previous record is listed as 1:19:11.

SMOOTH SAILING FOR SEAMASTER

The Navy's new multi-jet attack seaplane, the XP6M-1 Martin Seamaster, plows through the water on takeoff from Chesapeake Bay, near Baltimore, where it is undergoing rigorous flight tests. Striking design of the aircraft incorporates huge T-shaped tail, swept-back wings with stabilizing wingtip floats and streamlined jet engine intake nacelles atop wings. The Seamaster, powered by four turbojet engines with takeoff afterburners, is capable of speeds up to 600 m.p.h., and is designed for minelaying and photo reconnaissance. It is the world's first multi-jet seaplane.

STRUCTURAL TEST FOR GLOBAL JET

Test director John Perry supervising structural test on wing of a Boeing B-52 Stratofortress global jet bomber in Boeing test hangar at Seattle, Wash. The huge wing was strained past breaking point as approximately 1,000,000 pounds of load were applied in this phase of the company's structural proving program. New Phil Silvers Show Is Top Comedy

By John Crosby

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.

EVERY time you start to count out situation comedy as a dead duck, something comes along. What has come along this time is the new Phil Silvers show "You'll Never Get Rich," an inspired bit of lunacy.

PHIL SILVERS

next it is alight with evil cunning.

THE THOUGHT OF FLEEING a whole platoon of shiny new innocent recruits flashes across his countenance and is gone without the need for dialogue. As a matter of fact, Hiken has wisely kept Silvers' speeches to the minimum. Not that there aren't wisecracks; there are. But the funniest stretches of a very funny comedy series are when Silvers is stamping his foot in mock enthusiasm or simply staring beatifically into the eyes of the chaplain. His timing is a miracle.

"Bilko," says the chaplain, "you're a gambler, a sharpshooter and a promoter. You're everything I'm here to prevent the soldiers from becoming."

ACTUALLY, HE ISN'T THAT BAD. Bilko is the sort of guy who swindles for the principle of the thing rather than the money. His mind is alive with little stratagems to unloose the unwary of his dough for the sheer pleasure of it. And, when it gets too easy—as it did in the opening installment—he gives the money back.

In this case, a rookie simply handed him the platoon savings, quoting "The Soldiers Guide" as saying "you can entrust your valuables to your sergeant." "You didn't read the footnote which mentions my name," says Bilko.

HE RIFFLES THE WAD OF BILLS past his ear. "3318," he announces.

"3320," corrects the rookie. Silvers does the same bit over again. "Oh, yes, one bill stuck." It's an old bit but it's still a pleasure to watch.

In the end, though, with his conscience bothering him, he restores the dough to the rookies. I have rather a suspicion that Master Sergeant Bilko, despite his massive reputation as a con man, will be a lovable old swindler who never gets to enjoy the fruits of his labor. Barracks life has provided some awfully funny comedy before—from "Dere Mabel" to "See Here Private Hargrove"—and "You'll Never Get Rich" has a rich source of material to draw from.

ACTUALLY, SILVERS PROMISES us that his show is not going to confine itself to the Army. Many of the situations he will be involved in have no connection with the Army at all. In short, it will be a comedy of character which is the best sort of comedy of all. It's also the hardest to write, the temptation being ever present to get the star mixed up in absurd plots. But Hiken and Silvers, as I said earlier, are a couple of real professionals, and I expect they will resist temptation.

I have only one complaint about this bright new show. The canned laughter department has gone out of its head on this one. At the opening of the show, before Silvers even gets on stage, every mild wisecrack is greeted with a roar of implausible laughter as phony as a three-dollar bill. It is not only distracting; it's an insult to our intelligence. All the CBS comedy shows use a very heavy foot in the canned laughter department which is getting to be one of the leading complaints we get from the readers these days.

Guilt Complex

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

MANY people live miserably under a burden of guilt so heavy that neither religion nor philosophy can lighten it. Yet much of this is unnecessary, product of an exaggerated sense of responsibility for others. All such people need help—and a great deal of help is at hand. Among those needing aid is Mrs. de L., who writes:

"Last year I divorced my husband. I won't bother you with all the reasons—it's a long story and probably just like a thousand others you have heard. He took it hard—didn't want to lose me and didn't want to lose his son. Last month he committed suicide, leaving a note saying that he couldn't live without us."

"I guess you can imagine what this has done to me, Dr. Popenoe. I feel like committing suicide myself. I feel as if I'm practically guilty of murdering him. I can hardly sleep or eat. Does life have to be like this?"

THERE IS LITTLE that can be said in a newspaper column to meet such a problem as yours Mrs. de L. I have written you the name of a counselor who can give you personal help. There are three lines along which you should work:

1. Go over the whole history carefully and determine how far you are really responsible.
2. Do everything necessary or possible to insure that you will not make any similar mistakes in the future.
3. Then devote a considerable part of the rest of your life to preventing others from making similar mistakes. A large part of all divorces could be prevented with a very moderate amount of education for marriage; and it's time for home, school, church and community organizations to go to work on this job.

DIVORCED PERSONS have a suicide rate three times as high as that of married persons of the same ages. Widowed persons have a suicide rate twice as high as the married. The higher rate among divorced persons suggests that many of them were more unstable to start with; and of course there is a much greater feeling of rejection, if a mate is lost in the divorce court. You need all the help you can get from religion and science right now, Mrs. de L., but when you get back on your feet, I hope you will become a real crusader for better homes.

THE tang of autumn in the air and a busy social season ahead always serve to bring an interest in late-day fashions. Interest of shoppers in this type of apparel is especially noteworthy now, as many cocktail parties, buffet suppers, and other day-evening affairs are being scheduled. What to wear should prove no problem, however, because collections of festive themes are unusually plentiful and varied. In the choice of fabric, the gleam of satin has a definite appeal. Not only are there many dresses but also dress and jacket ensembles made of this handsome material in black and the jewel tones. Satin also is used extensively in combination with woolen and with taffeta. There is a vogue, too, for wool and taffeta and velvet and taffeta alliances. Sheath dresses continue to be featured but the skirt with considerable hemline fullness, usually concentrated at the back, is popular. There is an interest, too, in the tunic skirt. Some of these tunics are detachable, thus contributing to the service of the dress. Sketched are models available in the St. Louis stores.

1—The long-torso dress has become so generally liked that it appears repeatedly for fall, especially in the late-day modes. This attractive dress, a copy of a more expensive model, combines a wool jersey bodice with black velvet midriff section, and flaring black taffeta skirt. The skirt has an attached net petticoat. Dress may be obtained in sizes from 10 to 14.

2—This elegant dress and jacket ensemble is made of dull-surfaced silk satin and may be chosen in black, champagne or gray. The slim dress has a wide neckline shaped to suggest a keyhole effect. Mandarin jacket has kimono sleeves that end just below the elbows and are finished with cuffs, and a low-placed belt at the back. Sizes range from 10 to 16.

3—Here is an example of the satin dress with back fullness. The skirt has a pleated fan-shaped panel to provide this fullness. The low, round neckline has a wide, bias fold of the material forming a flattering drape. Waistline is finished with cording, and does not require a belt. A shade of garnet red is especially striking.

4—The vogue of black and brown is illustrated by this dress with long-waisted bodice made of black crepe and skirt of brown taffeta. Neckline is round and high. Skirt fullness is arranged in unpressed pleats at the low waistline.

5—This dress features a detachable tunic. Fabric is satin in gray, beige or black. Tunic which fastens with hooks placed in hidden loops at the waistline is lined with Pellon. When the tunic is removed, the dress is a slender sheath with kick pleat at the back of the skirt. Bodice has shoulder drapery. Sizes are from 10 to 16.

6—Pecan-toned satin was used for this princess style dress which has champagne colored bias folds at the shoulders. The neckline is draped in crisscross fashion. Gored skirt is lined with net. Sizes range from 10 to 14.

The Coming Communist Disillusionment

By Fulton J. Sheen

WHO would have thought that so quickly after World War II the millions of "convinced" and fanatic Nazis and Fascists would give up the ideologies for which they worked so hard? The reason this happened is because these philosophies are anti-natural; they run counter to all the decent aspirations of the human heart.

Not must it be thought that it will be otherwise with Communism. Once the crisis comes, even the Communists, when given an opportunity to breathe again the free air of heaven, will welcome it. Does not one already find in the violent ravings of a Molotov a desire to convince himself rather than the Western nations that democracy is a menace, and Communism is a blessing?

Human nature always asserts itself like a twig that has been held down by the hand violently for a time. Once released, it springs back again in its upward aspiration for the skies.

THE DISILLUSIONMENT that will come to Communists is already evidenced in a letter of the former Communist director of a Vietnam military hospital and instructor in the Communist school for Political Formation. When he fled Vietnam, he wrote out his heart in this letter:

"I was born in Namdinh in 1933 of a family of small property owners. . . . With my family I followed the Vietnamese partisans. I was an example in the literal carrying out of Communist party orders. . . . In a short time I arrived at the very notable positions of inter-district secretary and director of a military hospital. I married the daughter of a land-owner of the Province of Thanhhoa. After several nights she went through indescribable and innumerable vexations. Five days after this, she had a miscarriage. I hastened to aid her. I was then brought before the Party Council and accused of treason to the party for wanting to protect my wife.

"Two months later, my wife died as a result of this miscarriage. I returned to Namdinh, where I learned that two of my uncles had fallen victims to Communist political vengeance. I then felt a growing repugnance for the persecutors of my family, and I left for the South."

Lions do not become tamed because caged. Human nature does not become Communist because caged in a tyrannical state. Release the lion and he will be a beast of prey. Break down the Iron Curtain, and Communists will begin to be human.

"MY FATHER-IN-LAW was upset and he poisoned himself. My wife had to bear the rancor of the people in place of her father. I remember when my wife, walking with untidy gait because she was in advanced state of pregnancy, her hands tied behind her back, was dragged before a people's tribunal to respond to accusations for crimes committed, who knows by whom or when? In Cleveland's Day Secret Operation

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (INS).
THE world presses its nose to a plate glass window looking into President Eisenhower's sick room. But once things were different. The public "couldn't be trusted" to know.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND

along the right wall of his upper jaw. Dr. O'Reilly was disturbed by what he saw. He called in Drs. W. W. Keen, E. G. Janeway, J. D. Bryant and a dental surgeon, Ferdinand Hasbrouck. All agreed that an operation was necessary.

CLEVELAND, IN HIS SECOND stay in the White House, had a brewing financial panic on his hands. A special session of Congress had been called to deal with the sinking economy.

In that comparatively primitive era of cancer research and treatment, Cleveland could be given no assurance he would survive. A further complication was the man himself. The President, then 56 years old, was many pounds overweight and gave the appearance of having no neck at all.

He was determined to go through with the operation but frankly feared the reaction it would have on shaky public morale. The public couldn't be trusted not to panic.

For a week he searched for a way out and then decided he had found it. He quickly made arrangements with his friend Commodore E. C. Benedict for the use of the "Oneida." All that then was needed was to entrain quietly for New York, comparatively easy in that day. Dr. O'Reilly accompanied him on the secret carriage ride from the New York depot to the ship.

THE PRESIDENT went immediately to Commodore Benedict's cabin where Drs. Keen, Janeway, Bryant and Hasbrouck were waiting. He ruggedly told them he was ready but they had agreed that it would be better to wait until the morning. The party adjourned to deck, took chairs, and watched the lamplights of New York drift by. The President smoked cigars and talked until midnight, then turned in and slept soundly.

The next morning, July 1, he stepped into Benedict's cabin and sat down in a strong chair that had been placed in the middle of the partly cleared room. In that position he was given a morphine injection and the operation began. Dr. Hasbrouck pulled two teeth from the right upper jaw. Dr. Bryant cut into the jaw, located and extracted the malignancy. It was all over in 35 minutes. The yacht cruised slowly into Long Island Sound, its strange passenger list unknown.

CLEVELAND CAME TO like a bull. "Who the hell are you?" he bellowed through his battered mouth when he focused his eyes on the doctors who had just saved his life.

He was up and about July 3 and walking without assistance on July 5, when the "Oneida" slipped quietly into Buzzards Bay, Mass. A private train was waiting to take him back to Washington.

E. J. Edwards, who wrote under the by-line of "Holland" for the Philadelphia Press, broke the story in great detail on Aug. 29 of the same year.

It was indignantly denied by spokesmen for Cleveland and the public considered it a hoax. Cleveland plainly was never in better health, it was said, now that he had lost some weight. Cleveland performed the remainder of his presidential duties with zest and lived for 15 years after the operation. His secret illness was not known generally and accepted until Dr. Keen wrote the story for a national magazine in 1931.

Reading Defined

By Angelo Patri

"THEY don't teach reading in school any more. My nephew is 7 and he can't read four cent's worth. In my day—"

Friend, you could be wrong. They do teach reading in schools and children read well, most of them. There are several kinds of reading all of which are tied up in "teaching reading." The schools teach all of them but all pupils do not learn all of them.

The beginners learn to read words. They learn them by their places on the page and by the picture that goes with them. Then they learn the words as they stand alone; then the story the words make when they are lined along the page. Last of all they learn to take the meaning out of those words that are lined up to tell them something. They then have learned to read to learn. That is real reading and that is what most people mean when they say children, and high school students cannot read. They can read words but they fail to gather their meaning in the context.

MANY HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS find this difficulty. Their students look at a page of matter, read it, and cannot say what it tells them. So they cannot read. Do you know that there are people you know and consider highly intelligent who do not read?

Try this and see. Next time you are among a group of friends ask "Did you read such an article in the newspaper this morning?" Then ask what it said. If you don't get a surprise I will.

We teach reading but many there are who do not learn. That was always so and always will be. To read calls for a background of experience with which to read. For the one who knows nothing about farming, for example, reading an article about feeding pastures is about impossible for him. He will get the words all right but the meanings—the implications which are not printed but are the heart's blood of the story—will escape him. It is that sort of reader that cannot read to the satisfaction of the high school teachers, college professors and the general public.

MANY A TEACHER must be content if her pupil reads the words with interest and gets the plain meaning from them. Many a reader is satisfied with that, too, for he is not going to consult a dictionary, an encyclopedia or a reference book to check meanings as the "reader" does.

Next time you feel like denouncing the schools for not teaching reading think about which kind you mean? You could be wrong.

St. Louis Fashion Artist Hits Big-Time in Paris

By Clarissa Start

Discouraged by Reception of His Work Here and in New York, Gene Loyd Went Abroad and Found Fame

FASHION magazine readers in Paris and London for the past year or two have become increasingly familiar with a semi-circular swirl of a signature, an identification which marks dramatic and colorful illustrations of continental haute couture. The signature, "loyd," is that of 27-year-old Gene Loyd, former St. Louis commercial artist, who has become one of the most successful Americans in Paris.

Local advertising agency and department store workers remember Gene as a bright boy who had a lot of talent and the willingness to work hard. But with all these qualities, he was so discouraged with his progress that he took off for Paris in the spring of 1954 to live and work and, in effect, to find himself. Instead, he was discovered, and a year later, his name was headlined on the slick - Vogue - type magazine, Femme, over that of the editor, Sacha Guitry. In addition he was being flown to Germany and Italy to conduct fashion shows, to London to illustrate the British Harper's Bazaar.

"The best thing about it" says blond haired, boyish looking Gene, who is visiting his family here, "I didn't have to try for all this. In America it seemed I was always angling to get ahead. In France, my work spoke for me."

Although America is his native land and still his "favorite country," and he hopes to work in New York at least six months out of each year, Gene says that working in France has its advantages.

"If editors like an artist's work they go all out for him," he says. "Business is always conducted over the luncheon table. They believe that office routine upsets artists emotionally, so an artist is never expected to keep office hours. I worked from my apartment, more often I sent work back from the south of France. Most of the time I spent playing or looking for new restaurants, the national pastime."

On the other hand, helping edit a magazine can be a headache in a country where business is less business like.

"As an example, when I went on vacation, the magazine didn't publish," Gene says. "If you have a year's subscription to a magazine, you're lucky to get 10 issues."

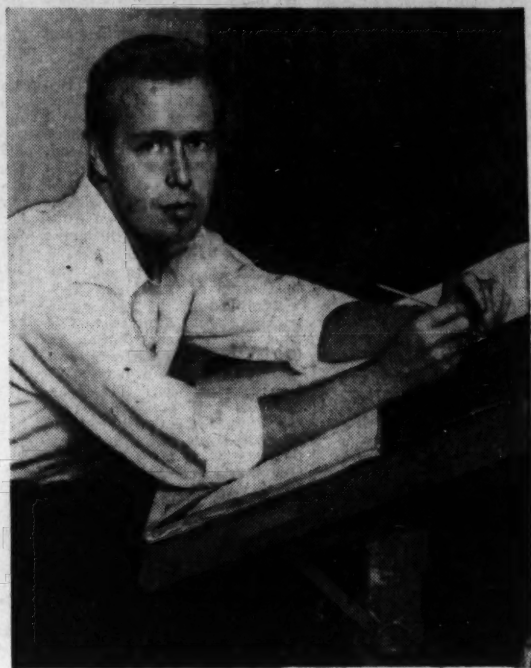

"Time means nothing. If you want work done, you say, 'Will I have this in three weeks?' 'Yes,' they'll promise you. You say, 'DEFinitely three weeks' and probably you scream because everyone screams for emphasis. They say, 'Yes.' You say, still screaming, 'It must be three weeks.' Two days before the deadline, you call just to check. The work is almost finished. The day before, almost finished. Comes the day of deadline, you go in. They haven't started."

"Proof reading a magazine is unheard of. The printer looks at you if you request it and says, 'Huh, you think I make mistakes?' When he does make a mistake, he shrugs his shoulders. Too bad."

ALL this was a marked contrast to Gene's earlier experiences. A member of an artistic family—one of his older brothers does industrial designing, his mother did fashion designing as a sideline—he can't remember when he wasn't interested in drawing and sculpture.

He received most of his training at Cleveland High School, spent four months at Washington University and then went to work at Stix, Baer & Fuller drawing men's fashions. He found this work too repetitious, decided he'd prefer women's styles, so went to Garland's and later to Marjorie Wilten's advertising agency. He left to try his luck in New York.

"I walked the streets of New

York for six months," he says. "Everyone said they loved my work. Nobody would buy it. I became a photographer's model for a while, modeling men's clothes, appearing in fashion shows, because I could walk down a runway without looking too silly. Finally John C. Wood offered me a job in the advertising department at Brooks Brothers."

"I made a fair salary there but I seemed to be spending most of it trying to keep up with everyone else. I was most unhappy. Two friends of mine, Dorlan Leigh and her sister, Suzy Parker, both of whom are top fashion models, kept telling me my work was European in style and I should go to Paris. On Christmas I came home and my mother told me that, as a Christmas present, she'd finance me to a trip to Paris."

"I went back to New York, quit my job, and went up in the country for a few months and began making sketches. In America you draw and someone says, 'I don't like the eye-lashes.' Someone else says, 'I don't like the legs.' I was a successful artist only because I knew how to fight the objections of 10 different people. But I'd never tried working to suit myself."

Armed with samples, Gene left for Paris in April 1954. His departure made the news because it was during the dockhands' strike and an entourage of lovely models showed up to carry his luggage for him as he walked down the gangplank, unencumbered.

"I intended going to Paris, not to work but to live and have fun for a while," he says. "In America there's this fixation that you've got to get there by the time you're 28 or 29 or you won't make it. In Paris I just relaxed."

"However, Suzy Parker is one of the best known models in Paris and she introduced me to Guillaume, president of World Coiffures. As soon as he saw my work, he said, 'I'll give you enough money to take a trip to the south of France for a month if you'll do some work for me.' I did a number of drawings of coiffures for him—incidentally Suzy is the only model I've ever used—and he put them up in his salon. I didn't realize it at the time but this was the equivalent to the hall of fame. All the fashion editors have their hair done at Guillaume's and all of them saw my drawings."

COINCIDENTAL with his arrival was Chanel's controversial opening and her new look which was first criticized, then copied. Femme magazine, then a new publication, asked Chanel for a page of her designs. She gave her consent on condition the new American artist would draw them. Gene did five pages of work for Femme and Jean Cocteau, then its editor, asked for 10 more.

In the January issue of Femme there were 21 pages of Gene's work plus a page featuring his picture and hailing him as "Un-American a Paris! Mieux un jeune American et un dessinateur au talent étonnant." (That means he's good.) That same month, the British Harper's Bazaar carried eight pages of Gene's work. Soon Gene was drawing for Dior, Givenchy, Balmain, even the hard-to-please Balenciaga.

"Gene Loyd has deep fashion sense and understanding," wrote one Paris correspondent, "and he seems to recreate each model as he draws it taking on the couturier's own personality."

The Juin-Juillet (June-July) issue of Femme used a provocative color portrait by "loyd" and performed the unprecedented French publishing feat of selling its entire printing in five days.

This summer Gene commuted also to Germany and to Italy to conduct fashion shows. Just before he left Paris he signed a contract to produce the fashion illustrations for a new magazine, Du Paris. He hopes to spend six months of each year in Paris, six in the United States, and also hopes to branch out into designing, having been encouraged at the success of a collection he designed for Maxim's.

At present, he's enjoying a three week's stay with his mother, Mrs. Marian Loyd, 7028 Jamieson avenue, and marveling at the changes in St. Louis.

"I've always contended that St. Louis is one of the most chic cities in the world," he says. "I went to New York, as most of us do, with a half ashamed attitude that this is a small town but I found out how wrong I was. Even so, in two years, the changes are unbelievable, especially in men's clothes."

"St. Louis is far ahead of the other cities now in men's fashions, the fad for Bermuda shorts for instance. If they'd been this interesting when I worked for Stix, I might never have left here to try anything else."

THIS WEEK . . . September 25 through October 2 . . . has been set aside as "National Business Women's Week" in proclamations signed by President Eisenhower and Mayor Tucker. St. Louis, by the way, is the birthplace of the organization honored by this "Week." The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was founded here 36 years ago.

Today, throughout the country, there are more than 3,300 Business and Professional Women's Clubs, with a total of 175,000 women representing 700 businesses and professions.

This will be a very busy week for the "gals" locally. They'll be getting together, often for meetings, luncheons, and banquets to celebrate the occasion. Their slogan this year is "Aim High," and it symbolizes the opportunities for growth and advancement for all American business women.

At Mercantile, we are happy to add our congratulations to this group, and pay tribute to the progress and achievements of American business and professional women. In a large measure it is due to the Federation's work that women today are securing equal opportunities with men in business.

MOST declarers are in such a dither to see the dummy that they give only cursory attention to the opening lead. This is a pity, because the fact is that the opening lead often provides all the information declarer needs for a proper plan of play. Logical inferences about the lead can dictate all sorts of winning maneuvers, including the use of a hold-up play under certain conditions, and the refusal to use this play under other conditions. In the deal below, for example, South missed the point of the lead when he held up at Trick 1. Both sides vulnerable.

North made the normal lead from his holding, the seven of spades, and South—who felt that his own jump to two no-trump had been somewhat bold—waited with obvious disquiet for the dummy to be spread. Then, hastily concluding that if he put up the spade ace, the opponents would later run off the suit, he ducked the lead in dummy—and by so doing wrecked an excellent contract. East took the first trick with the spade queen and then knocked out dummy's ace, and West did indeed run off three more spade tricks when he got in with the club ace.

South "explained" that he had hoped to find East with the ace of clubs, hence his (South's) hold-up play to exhaust East's spades, but this was not much of an explanation. The spade ace hold-up was a very bad play.

The correct technique in this situation is to put up the ace at Trick 1. It is a foregone conclusion that West would not have led a low card from a suit headed by K-Q-J, hence East must have at least one of those honors. By putting up the spade ace and immediately knocking out the club ace, declarer takes all the menace out of the spade suit. If that suit was divided 5-2 originally (otherwise there is no danger), East now has a blank honor, and West is helpless whether or not he has the ace of clubs.

A Few Tips for a Beautiful Legline

HER legs are the despair of many a girl in her early teens. How can she ever turn into the beauty she longs to be—if her legs are shapeless, either too thin or too childishly plump?

The right exercise shapes up a beautiful leg, and correct footwear accomplishes wonders, too. For thin legs, exercise must be leisurely, but for those which need reducing and redistribution of curves, the more rapid the pace, the better.

A graceful legline develops from a stick-like one best when firm, flat-heeled shoes are worn. Better than exercise indoors is a good walk two miles a day, which benefits the skin, too, and is fun at the same time. Or, an hour's ride on a bicycle. But remember two things—that taking time to see the sights and enjoying them hastens rather than slows down the results hoped for—and that occasional workouts do very little good. It's the daily stint that counts.

Medium heels are advisable at least part of the time for shapelessly plump legs, as long as they are broad-based and on shoes that are suitably styled for teen-agers. The slightly different pull they put on the leg muscles has a reforming effect. Posture must be checked also, and a stance with weight thrown back on the heels and tightly locked knees—so commonly accompanying flabby legs—must be corrected. A general weight loss for the overweight is bound to help, and may be positively essential. Walking is again the correct measure, brisk walking and the right kind. As muscles form, the calves take shape and "extra fat cushions dissolve."

A new, lightning calculator that tells you how to compute your own individual ideal weight. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of the Post-Dispatch, enclosing 10¢ (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ask for "How Much Should You Weigh?"

Jane Everett Hadley, T. H. Truitt Are Engaged

By Margaret Allen Ruhl

SENATOR and MRS. ALBEN W. BARKLEY of Washington and Paducah, Ky., announce the engagement of Mrs. Barkley's younger daughter, Miss Jane Everett Hadley, to the Senator's grandson, Pfc. Thomas Hulen Truitt, U.S.A. Mr. Truitt is the third of four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Max O'Rell Truitt of Washington. His mother was Miss Marian Frances Barkley.

Both Miss Hadley and her fiancé are former St. Louisans. The bride-to-be, whose father, Carleton S. Hadley, died in 1945, lived here until her mother's marriage to Senator Barkley, then Vice President, on Nov. 18, 1949. Miss Anne Hadley, her sister, was married three years ago in Paducah to Weldon Behrend.

A former student at University City High School, the prospective bride was graduated from Holton Arms School, Washington, and attended the University of Wisconsin. Later she attended Strayer Business College, Washington. A few summers ago she accompanied her sister and a group of 32 other young women on a trip to Europe.

My Day

Regarding Truman's Memoirs

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. HERE I am back in New York and this is a busy day, but yesterday I had time to do many things which a housewife likes to attend to herself. Taking out winter blankets and putting away summer ones, sending some things to the library and getting one or two things back which I had there on loan. Since being home I have heard a great deal about the damage done by the flood, and I have tried to find as many things as I possibly could in answer to a plea made by our rector in church on Sunday to help the flood-sufferers in New England.

I had time, too, to read the beginning of President Truman's memoirs. I fully agree with President Truman that it is a valuable contribution to history when Presidents can write about their own term in the White House. It is true that they cannot be expected to be particularly objective; they are going to tell how they felt, and what made them decide to do certain things, but historians will be glad to know what a man who is trying to be honest actually felt and thought about many complex situations.

THE ONE THING no President can escape is the burden of making the ultimate decision. Up to that time he can call on more information than any other man in the world, he can get advice from many sources, but the final evaluation and decision is his, and his alone. It is a lonely pinnacle, and what men think about when they are making important decisions involving a nation and its future should be interesting and valuable for people to know.

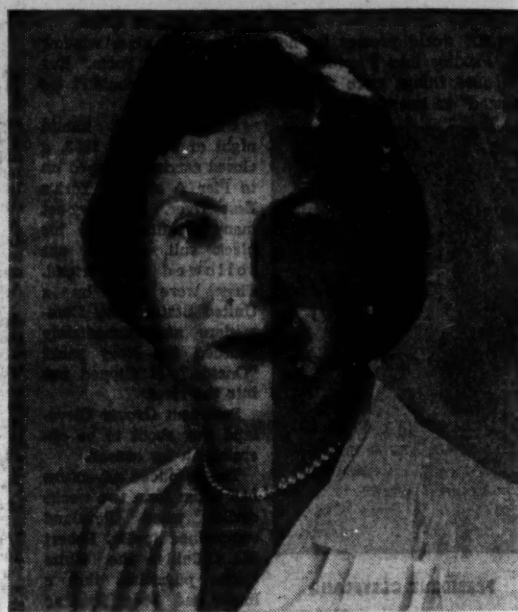

I always remember the tension in the White House on D-Day. That decision had to be made by the President, and thousands of men's lives hung in the balance. Until he knew whether it was successful or not all the tension and worry that he felt descended on the White House and no one could fail to feel it.

I do not like reading a book in installments and so I am hoping to get the first volume of President Truman's mem-

Martha Carr's

Dear Martha:

MY next door neighbor has been a troublemaker ever since she moved into the neighborhood. She is always bickering with someone, criticizing, complaining and making false accusations. I have tried to remain aloof but now I am the victim and don't know how to handle the situation. Two friends and I were at this woman's house recently on a neighborhood project, trying to enlist her help. It so happened that her purse was on the table where I had placed mine and by mistake when I left I took her purse instead of my own. As soon as I realized it, an hour or so later, I returned it. I didn't even look in the coin purse or the billfold she had in it but now I understand she has told these other two women that I actually took some of her money. What can I do to stop her from talking like that? NEIGHBOR.

If she's the kind of character you describe, I honestly don't know, and it's especially unfortunate that you innocently let yourself be placed in this spot. You don't say whether the friends believed her, although I have an idea that because of her reputation her charges have fallen on deaf ears. All you can do is tell the truth if they discuss this with you, and explain exactly what happened. Sometimes, to go to the source of a falsehood and try to defend yourself magnifies the matter out of all proportion, and I imagine that if you go to her and complain, she may talk all the more.

Dear Martha:

I WORK IN AN OFFICE with several other girls. Recently, the boss started paying a lot of attention to one girl and has even taken her out to dinner several times. His wife is a very nice woman and she comes into the office or calls in occasionally when he is out having coffee with this girl and we don't know what to tell her. Do you think we should say anything? We hate to hurt her. STENO.

No, indeed. It will be bad enough when the wife finds out—as she undoubtedly will—but to think that the office force had discussed it among themselves and had decided to tell the truth would be even more humiliating. Try not to get involved in any way with this situation. Do your work as you should and don't worry about the boss. That's a matter for him and his wife to work out.

IN ANSWER TO Betsy: All the men in the wedding party, as well as the fathers of the bride and groom, dress alike, either in formal clothes or business suits. Frequently, the bridegroom provides ties for his attendants so that they will be uniform.

Avoid That Rut

By Josephine Lowman

IT often seems that the busier a person is the more things he or she does. Many famous doctors, lawyers, actors and writers, have varied outlets for their energy and verve. Outside of their careers they may paint quite well or may play some musical instrument with real talent and certainly with enjoyment. These extra activities and interests enrich the soul.

The woman in the home is not noted for developing the varied facets of her nature. She is more apt to get into a rut than the man or the career woman. I believe that this is true because her job is so all-consuming in time and in interest that she falls to think of herself as an individual and is apt to live mostly through the lives of her family.

THIS IS an unselfish and heart-warming way to live; however it is a mistake to lose sight of oneself as an individual, or to fail to develop interests and hobbies which are entirely separate from housekeeping and family.

Those without any special talent or skill may ask—what new interests or hobbies shall I pursue? Why not start your "new life" by reading. Reading itself can be a fine hobby, which many indulge in, and your reading will undoubtedly put you on the track of something you wish to actively take part in. A book on antiques, for instance, may start you on this fascinating hobby.

Giving yourself over to an interesting activity will help you develop as an individual. Consequently, you will have more to offer your family in enthusiasm, understanding, variety and verve.

THE RICHER YOUR NATURE the more you enrich the lives of those with whom you come in contact. Sameness in interest and daily routine leads to boredom, to lack of enthusiasm, to dullness, even to poor health.

Nothing is so physically vitalizing as keen interest, love, optimism, gaiety and hope. They oil our "insides" with some magic potion, they speed up circulation and can even pull us out of pessimistic physical posture. No one can possibly measure what a far reaching effect such emotions have on health, and they certainly paint daily life in vivid colors!

So if you are a homemaker, one who is shut off from many outside contacts, be sure that you avoid the rut which will catch you unless you add new interests to your life.

Beauty After 40

By Edyth Thornton McLeod

"I AM a tall, dark and not very handsome woman but I do buy nice clothes. As I am 5 feet 11 inches I often get the wrong accessories. Should I wear colors, should I carry a small handbag or a large one, and what type jewelry would be suitable for me?—B.G."

Handsome rich colors are right for you. A small handbag would point up your handsome proportions and would be unflattering to your type. The large dramatic bags are for you. The fashion is in favor of the large bag and you should take advantage of it. The same idea should be carried out in regard to your jewelry. Large clips, handsome necklaces, and earrings of unusual designs will be most becoming to you.

"I AM a musician, age 45. I have gray hair and fair complexion, I am slender. Please tell me what to wear at the formal home wedding of my daughter. I will play the piano.—Mrs. M.G."

I would like silver gray lace. Pay careful attention to the back line of your dress. Be sure that the skirt is long and graceful. When seated at the piano you must be sure that your rear view is perfection. I would like silver-topped combs in your hair.

Your Food Problems

Rice as Main Course or Dessert

By Edith M. Barber

RICE CAN BE USED WITH A DESSERT OR THE MAIN COURSE. IT GOES ESPECIALLY WELL IN A TASTY SHRIMP SALAD.

ALL of us are familiar with the definition of food. In general terms we might say anything that nourishes the body can be justly called food. Sometimes the term "meat" is used as synonymous with food.

It may surprise us to learn that in oriental countries "rice" and food are synonymous. This is natural because rice is the basis of the food supply in the sections of the world where it is grown almost to the exclusion of other grains, and where such foods as meat are relatively scarce and expensive.

In the southern portions of this country rice is an important crop and it appears on the table daily and sometimes often. Some of my southern friends do not consider a meal complete without it. In most families in the north rice is a staple, used once or twice a week as an accessory to meat or in a casserole dish. There was a large increase in production in this country during and after the last war. Now, however, there is less demand for this important cereal food by oriental countries that are again in production.

The United States Department of Agriculture is concentrating efforts to increase the use of rice this season and in an effort to aid the growers is asking all of us to serve rice more often than usual. The majority of it is sold as polished white rice. This comes in three forms as "regular" rice, "converted" rice that retains the vitamins and minerals though the hull has been removed, and "pre-cooked" rice. The latter is actually only partially cooked, and has much the same appearance as regular rice.

All types of rice are suitable for most purposes. This includes the use of it as dessert, as well as with the main course.

Shrimp and Rice Casserole. One and one-half pounds uncooked shrimp, fresh or frozen; four cups cooked rice; three eggs, lightly beaten; one-fourth cup finely chopped onion; one-third cup melted butter; one-half to one teaspoon curry powder; salt and pepper.

Shell, devein and wash shrimp and cut into chunks. Combine with remaining ingredients and turn into greased casserole. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) 30 minutes. Makes four servings.

Rice and Pineapple Cream. One-half cup heavy cream; one cup diced canned pineapple, well drained; one-half cup sugar; one and one-half cups cold, cooked rice; one-half teaspoon vanilla.

Whip the cream until stiff. Combine with the pineapple, sugar, rice and vanilla. Chill thoroughly before serving. Yield: six servings.

For variety: Other fruits drained from their juices may be used.

Girls Want Their Dates To Spruce Up

By Ruth Millett

FOR years men have been outspoken about all of their pet peeves in regard to women's dress.

They've scoffed at our "amusing" hats (that's what the saleswoman calls them when she sells them to us). They've laughed about the way we look in slacks, jeans and pedal pushers.

They've moaned about the sight of a woman in pin curls. In short, they've told us off.

Now it seems the girls are turning the tables on the men by declaring that they are getting sick and tired of dressing up for dates and having a date show up looking as though he could use a shave, and wearing a loud sports shirt and sloppy moccasins.

Lend an ear, men, to the latest complaint from one of the sweet young things who reads this column.

"Very often I read articles in various magazines about how to dress, what colors to wear, what kind of perfume, etc., to wear in order to hold your man. How about the reverse of that? Just how does a man think he can hold the respect, much less the love, of a girl if he doesn't take enough interest in his appearance to dress so he can be proud to be seen with him?"

"I believe with existing conditions, when most girls can make a fairly good living on their own, that men should become aware of that fact and take more interest in their own appearance instead of expecting the girl to fairly knock herself out trying to look her best for every date while he arrives looking just any old way."

"If a man doesn't care how he looks when he takes a girl out on a date, what can be expected of him after marriage?"

Well, the men long ago found an answer to how to keep the girls knocking themselves out to look pretty. They just didn't bother with the girls who didn't.

If the girls of today are fed up with going out with men who show up for a date sloppily

Elegance in Brass, Pewter

By Elizabeth Hillyer

WITH a new elegance all their own, brass and pewter blossoms out to solve serving problems. They have a special rightness for the home that's crisply contemporary, for entertaining that's smart but informal.

As proud as she may be to own heirloom service, many a hostess today finds it too dictatorial. It indicates the choice of china and linen she may like far less than oven-to-table dinnerware, the charming baskets and textured place mats that set colorful and idea-full tables now.

At least she does not want to do without them for most meals she serves, and many of her parties. There's increasing need for major serving pieces that suit her smartly informal table, and brass and pewter in simple and elegant design fills that need.

Here brass is used for the coffee service which adds palisander wood handles. Bowls are brass or pewter, shakers and the spoon and fork are pewter, dressed, then why not just give them the brush-off?

In time the idea will sink in that girls like to be proud of their dates, too.

Orange Eggnog

Any of your small fry need building up? Then serve the youngster an orange eggnog for a mid-morning or mid-afternoon snack. To make it, beat together an egg, a cup each of orange juice and milk, a tablespoon or two of honey and a dash of salt. This makes enough for mother to have a taste, too.

She Wants Action

Let's Not Just Talk About Older Workers

By Mary Margaret McBride

ONE of the victims of Diane, the hurricane whose dying breath worked havoc on the eastern seaboard recently, is the middle-aged traffic manager of a Connecticut factory which was literally washed away by the floods.

Dan finds himself with an invalid wife to support and no job. He wrote me a rather desperate letter.

"This thing about the age limit on employment that I've been reading about has unexpectedly hit me," he said. "I'm 55, have worked for only two companies in my life and expected to keep on with the factory until I reached pension age. Now I'm out and have to find a job. What do you think my chances are? I've done a little looking, so I can answer that question. They are nil."

And I, who can imagine the frightening silence he has faced after he gives his age and the personnel manager takes a quick look at his gray hair, am stumped for an answer.

WE ALL KEEP SAYING that something will have to be done but except for a few groups that make an effort to find work for the older man and woman, nothing seems to happen. And so the situation grows more and more acute.

For whatever it's worth, it occurs to me that many—if not most—of the men who will be running for public office this year are above the industrially employable age. Congressmen and Senators already serving are nearly all in the same category.

"I looked... and looked until I found a deodorant that was pleasant to use, yet extra effective—Fresh Stick Deodorant."

"It's greaseless—and it goes on dry. So no more wet and sticky residue on dresses! No more worry about odor and moisture. I'm completely safe." Use Fresh Stick daily. It's the neatest, quickest, cleanest anti-perspirant to apply... keeps you as fresh as a daisy all day long.

gory. Certainly our Supreme Court justices are.

With so many responsible hands in the same boat it ought to be easy to get federal support for a movement to outlaw discrimination against birthdays as it is already outlawed in the case of race, color and religion. The first step would be the organizing of workers, employed and unemployed, to fight such discrimination. Citizens organize to fight polio and cancer, not waiting until disease hits for all are potential victims just as all may live to be old and out of work.

OLDER WORKERS, we are assured constantly, are more dependable, able, loyal. They work harder, seldom clock watch. They have everything in their favor, it seems, except the proper birth date.

The two chief obstacles to getting something done are both pretty vague. The first is called "company policy." Usually this takes the line that it is bad business to go to the trouble of training a man for a job if, at the outside, he can hold it only for 15 or 20 years. Yet as a matter of fact, for the run of clerical help, skilled factory hands and the like, little or no training is needed.

The second bottleneck makes more sense. Hiring an older person means the company retirement plan will be used much sooner than it would be by, say a youngster of 21, and putting a lot of older persons on the payrolls would increase premiums for the company's group insurance policies. This is where over-age Congressmen could help and if they were pressured enough, they would.

Certainly somebody will have to grapple with the problem soon. We are wantonly wasting some of the best manpower we possess by shunting it into retirement.

2 Bufferin combines aspirin with two antacid ingredients. These speed the pain reliever out of the stomach and into the blood stream twice as fast as aspirin. So...

3 Bufferin acts twice as fast as aspirin to relieve pain. And it won't upset your stomach as aspirin often does.

If you suffer from pain of arthritis or rheumatism, ask your physician about Bufferin green pepper (cut in thin strips), salt.

Method: Have liver in about three slices; cut in about 1/2-inch wide strips, removing tubes and membrane as you do so. Melt butter in 10-inch skillet over moderately low heat; add onions and celery; cook about five minutes. Sprinkle with sugar and soy sauce, mix well and cover; cook over low heat about five minutes. Push vegetables to one side of pan; add liver and cook over moderately low heat just until it loses its red color, stirring often. Cut through a piece of liver; it should be pink but not red inside. Add green pepper and salt if desired; mix well and cover. Turn off heat and allow to stand five minutes to warm peppers. Makes two generous servings.

Golden West Rice

Ingredients: One and three-fourths cups water, one and one-third cups (one five-ounce package) precooked rice, one-half teaspoon salt, one small onion (grated medium-fine), two cups medium-fine grated carrots (lightly packed), one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons butter or margarine, white pepper, two tablespoons minced parsley.
Method: Put water in a saucepan; bring to a boil. Add rice, one-half teaspoon salt and grated onion; stir to moisten all the rice. Bring to a full boil over high heat; turn off heat. Put carrots in a layer over the rice; sprinkle carrots with one-half teaspoon salt and dot with butter; cover tightly and do not mix. Allow to stand without lifting cover for 20 minutes; if rice has not absorbed all the water, let stand a few minutes longer. With a large spoon or fork, carefully mix carrots and rice, adding more salt if desired and pepper to taste. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes six servings.

Note: In measuring the carrots, put the fluffy grated pile lightly into the cup; do not pack down at all.
For two or three: Use three-fourths cup water, two-thirds cup precooked rice, two teaspoons grated onion, one cup grated carrot, one tablespoon butter or margarine, salt, pepper and minced parsley to taste.

Puffy Broiled Tomatoes

Ingredients: Four medium-sized tomatoes (one and one-quarter to one and one-half pounds), salt, pepper, six tablespoons commercially prepared mayonnaise, two tablespoons grated sharp cheddar cheese, one teaspoon finely grated onion (pulp and juice).

Method: Cut thin slices from both ends of tomatoes; cut in half horizontally. Arrange on shallow baking or broiling pan. Sprinkle cut top surfaces of tomatoes with salt and pepper. Mix mayonnaise, cheese and onion; put a spoonful of mixture in center of each tomato half. Broil four or five inches from high heat, until tomatoes are hot through and topping is golden-brown. This will only take about five minutes; watch carefully and lower heat or move broiling pan if necessary. Makes four servings.

Fur Collars

Many of the fall and winter suits add fur collars. The shawl collar which has not been seen extensively for many seasons is being revived. Cape collars are noteworthy, too, as are the regulation overcoat collars and revers covered with fur. Silver fox is a handsome choice for some collars. Sheared racoon, mink and beaver are liked, too.

SHE DANCED at his Wedding

By Vida Hurst

CHAPTER 18
 In spite of secret tensions, the three of them worked together without friction. Each had his own responsibilities and his own office. Donna's desk was in the waiting room which she had redecorated. The pale green walls blended into a deeper green carpet. The light filtered through venetian blinds.
 All three rooms were furnished with the same type of functional modern furniture arranged to give an impression of space.
 Donna was proud of the result. Proud, too, that she had stayed within the sum allotted to her. Arthur had wanted his office to be different from the other two but she had managed to convince him that the picture would be more effective if treated as a unit, especially when the doors were open.
 "It will look like a suite instead of three little rooms," she had assured him.
 Arthur was reluctant but when it was finished he gave Donna full credit as Peter did, too. If it hadn't been for her secret, heartache Donna could have been happy. Both men were pleasant to work with.
 They treated her like a member of the firm, which she was, although her investment had been smaller than theirs and the salary she drew was considerably less than that of the other two.
 End was too busy hunting a place to live to hang around the office as Donna had feared she

THE MILKY WAY

As Gopals and his tribesmen watched the "cow" studded heavens, another visible proof of the "holiness" of the cow appeared. Across the sky there flowed the great river of soft whiteness which to this day we call the "Milky Way." This early respect for the cow and her heavenly connection is, actually reflected in at least one nursery rhyme of today. "The cow jumped over the moon."
